

PATSY OCHIHO TO BE BIRTHDAY PARTY QUEEN

The final count revealed that Patsy Ochiho, whose home is in Fort Bidwell, California, was chosen by Chemawa students to reign over the school's seventy-fourth birthday celebration.

Patsy was nominated by her classmates, the seniors, as was Geraldine Hamlin, who was elected to be a princess in the queen's court. Other princesses chosen are Louise Benally, fifth year Navajo program; Mary Ella Teller, fourth year Navajo program; Delores Bennett, junior class; Lavinia Johnson, sophomore class; and Marilyn Luke, freshman class. George Umtuch, a junior from Warm Springs, Oregon, was elected to the honor of escorting Queen Patsy.

Campaigning this year was spirited. Students put up posters in the dining hall, dormitories, store, and school buildings for their favorite candidates, and an assembly at which nominees were introduced to the student body, was held.

Farrell Gallineau, a senior, emceed the assembly. For the seniors, Sarah Lewis made the campaign speech for Patsy Ochiho, and Arlene Vaile for Geraldine Hamlin. Jane Badoni introduced candidates from the Navajo program and spoke in their behalf: Mary Ella Teller and Ella Albert, fourth year; and Louise Benally, Nellie John, and Louise Benally, fifth year. Other introductions and speeches were made by Dorothy Harris for Yvonne Choate and Eleanor Rabbie for Delores Bennett, eleventh grade; Marie Barr for Lavinia Johnson and Irma Pepion for Myrtle Racine, tenth grade; Ester Scott for Wilma James and Louella Lane for Marilyn Luke, ninth grade; and Joe Coburn for George Umtuch.
