

SANDERS FAMILY HAS NEW HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Sanders, their small granddaughter, Sheila, and her mother, Mrs. Ethelmae Sanders, have moved to their new house recently completed on Blossom Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Sanders are longtime residents of Chemawa. Both of them have lived on the campus almost continuously since they came as students, Mr. Sanders in 1894 and Mrs. Sanders in 1910, and remained as employees. Mrs. Sanders is employed in the school bakery. Mrs. Ethelmae Sanders has been at Chemawa nine years. She is a teacher in the Navajo program.

Chemawa students and employees wish the Sanders much happiness in their new home, and are pleased that it is only just around the corner from the campus.

LIBRARY GETS BOOK GIFTS

The Chemawa library acknowledges two recent gifts of books. A number of books given by Mrs. Joseph Spalding, an employee at Chemawa, will soon be placed on the shelves for all to enjoy. An attractively bound volume, Indian Legends of the Pacific Northwest, has been presented by the author, Ella B. Clark.

Mrs. Clark, who is associate professor of English at the state college in Washington, secured the more than 100 tales through personal interviews with Indian storytellers, selections made from the collections of ethnologists, and library research of the writings of early pioneers.
