

Fashion Show

Sewing classes taught by Miss Phoebe McQuilkin, gave a fashion show at an assembly held in the auditorium on March 11. Background music, colorful dresses, the personality of the girls, and a skit which unified the whole, made it an excellent show.

The setting was a cruiser called the S. S. Brazil. In the first scene the eighth grade girls were in a stateroom having their breakfast. These girls modeled housecoats, and the maids serving them, modeled skirts and aprons.

In the second scene the ninth and tenth grade girls were on the deck, chatting in groups, many of them carrying sports equipment. They modeled skirts and blouses and dresses that could be worn for summer recreation.

New Councilors

At the March 4 meeting of the Winona Hall house council, new councilors were welcomed: Daisy Yazzie, leader for unit 7, Katie Yazzie, leader for unit 8, and their assistant, Etta Tsosie. Also present were Peggy Henthorne and Jane Badoni, assistants for Charlotte Runningcrane and Sarah Lewis, who were in the hospital.

Pastimes Are Many

The girls at Winona Hall are well taken care of in the way of amusements. From 6:00 to 7:00 ent grade girls modeling dresses they had made for each other. They posed as celebrities on board the S. S. Brazil, a doctor, a singer, a dancer, etc.

Girls took turns at the microphone, describing each garment as it was modeled. All the things were pretty and the girls wore them well.

Mr. Bartlett showed some of us girls how to play horseshoes. We had all watched our brothers or fathers play the game but had never really taken interest in it.

—Ramona Tulee

Several Chemawa students have had the opportunity of working on Saturdays. This is very good experience for us; it gives us training and also a chance for earning spending money.

People who have employed students report that they have done very good work. If Chemawa students show that they are capable and willing to do a good day's work, people will hire us.

—Jay Harwood

Last Sunday night Miss Tedlock showed a film to all Winona Hall girls. It was Share With Others. The girls thought it was very good.

they may dance to records, play card games or ping pong, fix puzzles, play the piano, read, write letters, or work at crafts.

McBride Hall Elects

The McBride Hall house council elects new officers at every first meeting of the month. This gives the girls practice in holding different offices.

The March officers are Isabelle Phillips, president; Avalon Kennedy, vice-president; Barbara Wapato, secretary; and Joan Harwood, sergeant-at-arms.

The truck detail is seldom heard of, so I thought it would be a good subject to write about.

This procedure is followed every day excepting Sundays: we start out by hauling the boys' and the hospital's laundry; then we haul trash from the dormitories, employees' quarters, and vocational buildings.

Boys who work on the truck detail are Randolph Wilson, James Switzler, Cyril LaClair, and Howard George. The driver is Mr. Harold Burright. —Cyril LaClair

There have been many boys and girls in the hospital for colds, merely because they haven't worn their coats or something on their heads. Now, you wouldn't want to be one of these, would you? Of course not; no one wants to stay in the hospital and miss all the fun his friends are having while he is lying in bed! Let's all see what we can do about that problem. Let's wear our wraps all the time, and remind others to wear theirs.

The senior girls are almost through with making their banquet dresses. When they finish they can remodel any clothes that they have.

We not only enjoy field trips; we think we also learn important things that will help us in the future.
