

WINONA HALL HOUSE COUNCIL ORGANIZED

August 28, the Winona Hall House Council held its first meeting, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Pentecost, teacher guidance. Officers elected were president, Phyllis Young; vice-president, Julia Begay; secretary, Margaret Kittick; treasurer, Vera Begay. Council members are the following unit leaders and past unit leaders: LaBerta Swartz, Stella Becenti, Florence Mitchell, Martha Moore, Rena Nez, Lucille Killbear, JoAnn Nelson, Nellie Barbone, Mary Bennett, Diana Shorty, Ella Yazzie, and Eloise King. The Council meets every two weeks in the Winona Hall Dinette. Mrs. Phillips is co-sponsor with Mrs. Pentecost.

At the August 28 meeting, building procedures were reviewed. Among these were leaders duties, fire drill procedures, office duties, and leading unit meetings.

At the September 11 meeting, the girls discussed: line-ups, student conduct and responsibilities. The girls are trying to find means of earning money. Two committees were selected. One is a decoration committee. It will be the duty of this committee to see that there are flowers about the building to make it more attractive as well as other things. The second committee was the library committee which will see that the books are returned to the shelves and arranged properly. It was suggested that the Council sponsor a "Get-together" in the Court some evening giving a program followed by refreshments.

At each meeting representatives of the Student Councils give their reports so that leaders may report back to their units. They form the leadership of the building and help the girls to be happy and keep our Winona Hall a homelike and pretty place to live. They have many plans including the "Get-together" and also a party for the small Mitchell Hall boys in the future.

GUIDANCE ASSEMBLIES

Each Thursday evening the boys have their weekly guidance assembly in the auditorium. They have guidance films and guest speakers. Each Sunday evening the girls have their guidance assemblies. Each dormitory takes a turn at providing the program. There are also speakers and films. Once each month there is a combined boy-girl assembly.

YUM—YUM ROAST HAWK!

Our class voted to decorate the building rather than enter a float in the parade. Many sketches were made. We decided on a "Roast Hawk" theme.

Materials were collected and everyone worked to complete the project. Gunny sacks were cut in a man's shape and fastened with paper clips. These were stuffed with newspapers. Then we made a big paper hawk. We had trouble getting the wings on. On the porch of building No. 4 we had a group of men sitting around a campfire while a hawk was roasting over the fire.

Friday was an exciting day for us when we were told we had won the "Annual Traveling Trophy" for the best building decoration.

HOMEMAKING DEPARTMENT HAS NEW EQUIPMENT

Two green sofas, two green chairs, one gold chair, and four rugs were part of the new furnishings received at the Homemaking Department. The classrooms have also been equipped with new tables and tote tray cabinets. The practice apartment, office and back office are quite new looking. The tote cabinets are a great convenience for storing materials and projects.

CHEMAWA VISITORS

Chemawa has had many visitors this year. Some were former students, parents or on business. In September Mrs. Annie Wauneka, member of the Navaho Tribal Council, came from a health meeting in Portland, to talk and visit with us. Mrs. Wauneka urged students to get the best possible education. She pointed out that the older members of the tribe have done their job well. Now it is time for the younger people to take over and do the work of the tribe. Mrs. Wauneka was to leave soon for Washington, D. C., to receive a special award for her outstanding tribal work in health.

Stella Becenti

On October 11, 1963, Mr. Moore who is over 100 years of age visited Chemawa. He enrolled at Chemawa in 1883 and is the oldest Chemawa alumnus.
