Navajo Student Explores Art Field

Pictured below is Eddie Lee, a Navajo student from Pine-dale, New Mexico, who will be especially missed by the Business Education Department and the Recreation Club when he graduates May 21st.

Eddie has devoted many hours of extra time drawing holiday cards, certificates, programs and menus for the Business Education Department Graphic Arts Center, as well as developing his talent with oil, acrylic and water paints in the newly established Arts and Crafts Center on the Chemawa campus.

Eddie plans to attend the Sante Fe Institute of American Indian Art to pursue a career in commercial art.

Under the direction of Melvin Gamble, President, the Recreation Club sponsors many activities on and off campus.

The on-campus activities include weekly dances and movies, which are well attended. Jay Tsinnijinnie and Joey Begishe make sure that the canteen is stocked with candy, coke and a wide selection of refreshments. The canteen is staffed by Recreation Club members and is open every night.

Intramural sports is one of the most popular activities of the Recreation Club. This year 20 Basketball teams, in two leagues, played a total of 315 games. At the end of the season, trophies were awarded to the winning teams. The Recreation Club co-sponsored, with Brewer and McNary Halls, a Donkey Basketball game which the students enjoyed very much.

Some innovations this year have been intramural softball and a coed gym night.

Susie Angaiak and Richard Hensley spend an enjoyable evening roller skating--one of the many off-campus activities.

Roller Skating, Bowling and Swimming are the main off-campus activities sponsored by the Recreation Club. Approximately 1500 hours have been logged in each activity.

The students have attended the Circus and the Rodeo, at the Portland Memorial Coliseum and many functions that are too numerous to mention.

Last, but not least, is the newest activity of the Recreation Club. The Arts and Crafts Center is open, where you will find 30 to 40 students every night. On Monday and Thursday evenings between 5:00 and 9:00, lessons are given in Arts and Crafts, painting, pottery making, silk screening and ivory carving. The remaining nights are spent in lab sessions, where a student may obtain individual instruction.

Eddie Lee, Ray Hosteen and Bobby James will be visiting the Sante Fe Institute of American Indian Art in the near future to investigate the possibility of attending next year.

Our students will exhibit some of their work at an Art Show in Woodburn on April 24, and at another in Eugene in May. There will be an art sale on the Chemawa campus on May 11. Paintings and Alaskan Arts and Crafts will be sold.
