

Varsity Runs Into Tall Foes

The Varsity Braves, according to coach Mr. Eoff, are a better team than their record shows. Although they have not won any games in conference play, several of their losses were by five points or less.

The Varsity has been working hard on their fast break and outside shooting to overcome a severe height problem. With no one on the squad reaching six feet in height, Chemawa is a small team in a league of giants. The Capital Conference is rated as the toughest AA league in the state. Stayton and Gladstone, two of Chemawa's opponents, rank one and two in state-wide polls.

Senior captain Willie Albert has been carrying most of the scoring load for the Braves. Albert is one of three contenders for the league scoring title. He has been averaging 21.1 points per game in league play and 18.5 for the overall season. Albert has scored 260 points in 14 games. Gerald Gamble is the second scorer for the Braves with 179 points in 13 games. The other Brave starters are Mike Williams, 158 points in 16 games; Ken Towksjhea, 111 in 12 games; Perry Matumeak, 77 in 13 games.

The Junior Varsity has completed over half its season and several of the players show fine potential for next year's varsity. The coaches singled out Jim Aleck, the team captain, and Harold Fairbanks, Fred Kirsteatter and Fred Sweowat, but added that all team members have shown spirit and hustle. The jayvees also lack height, but have some excellent outside shooters. Aleck, with 112 points in 8 games, leads the team in scoring. Kirsteatter has the same amount in 9 games.

A Field Goal And A Rebound For Chemawa

Lynn Louis takes a rebound away from a Sacred Heart player during Chemawa's 61-31 victory. Lynn also scored 17 points. Perry Matumeak slips past a taller opponent for an easy two points. Perry has been one of the top rebounders for Coach Eoff's Varsity this year.
