Student teller Julia Kernak waits on Herbert Klatush at the student bank. Julia is one of several students who work and learn at the bank.

Student Bank Work

There are forty students who are working in the student bank to learn how to become bank tellers. The students who work in the bank are picked from the bookkeeping classes. The bookkeeping teacher asks for volunteers from her class and students who sign up are screened by the teachers before they are scheduled to work.

At the beginning of the school year, the student council purchased two commercial teller machines and a new accounting machine for the student bank. These three pieces of equipment will give us the opportunity to train student tellers in a way similar to the training they would receive in a commercial bank. The equipment will also enable the bank to do twice the volume of business that it did two years ago.
