

Editorial Section

Title One

Guest Editorial by Mrs. Matt

In the past few years, the numbers 89-10 have seemed to hold magical power. Public Law 89-10 provided money for many extra educational goodies that we could not otherwise have had included in our school program. We still have programs and projects being funded by this special legislation, but now they are being called Title 1.

Chemawa's Title 1 program this year includes: art instruction, Indian guest speakers, educational trips, parent aid to students needing assistance, additional dormitory aides, off-campus apartment living, and staff visits to home areas.

It also provides for the formation of a Parent Council to serve as an advisory group on Title 1 projects.

Letters are now being sent to representative parents in the various agencies to enlist their assistance by serving as members of Chemawa's Title 1 Parent Council. It is hoped that this group of parents will meet at Chemawa two times during the school year to review our Title 1 activities and serve as two-way communicators between the school and the home areas in matters pertaining to Title 1.

The Center— Keep It Clean

The entire student body worked really hard to get the new Student Center. Now it is there for the students to use. It is a great privilege for us to have, but we must take responsibility too.

Lately our Student Center shows evidence of much negligence of our responsibilities. The tables are marked up, there is messy litter on the carpets and our garbage cans remain empty.

Listen, students! Whose responsibility is it for us to get up and get ourselves ready for school in the morning? It's our own duty, huh? Well, the care of the Center is our duty too. If we want to keep the Center open for our use, we must take care of it.

We worked hard to get this Student Center to use this year. Let's not let all that hard work be for nothing. Let's save the Center for others to use in future years, as a gift from us. Let's show respect for something that means a lot to students and staff, and show our pride in the Center by taking care of our responsibilities.

If we don't do it, it won't get done

STUDENT CENTER

"Sioux"

Happiness is--a CLEAN Student Center!

Three Members Added to Brewer Staff

Daily activities and student morale at Brewer Hall have picked up considerably since the beginning of the year. The staff report that the students are meeting the demands set up by the dorm.

Three new members have been added to the staff recently. They are Mr. Baird, Mr. Lestenkoff, and Mr. Seton. The Brewer staff are glad to have these new members. They are also happy to have Dave Titus back from the hospital.

THE CHEMAWA AMERICAN
Member of Oregon Scholastic Press

Published by the joint efforts of the Business Education Department and the Journalism class.

Editor:	Mildred Quaempts
News Editor:	Echo BigSpring
Editorial Page:	Ronni Wesley Harold Yatlin
Feature Page:	Georgianne Charles Mildred Ward
Sports:	Mary Sioux McDonald Ron Smartlowit
Exchange Editor:	Daisy Bodfish
Dorm Editor:	Joe Nomee
Printing:	Graphic Arts classes
Staff Advisors:	Mr. Dashney Mrs. Sturgeon
Superintendent:	Albert Y. Ouchi

Report From Student Council

The Student Council meets every Wednesday night after school in the conference room of the guidance building. The meetings are open to staff and students. Representatives from classes, dorms and organizations make up the council.

The seniors report that they are working on announcement designs. They are also planning to buy senior keys. The sophomores have a new representative, Iris Big Spring.

The student council officers have decided to serve without pay for one night a week in the Student Center cafe. Their purpose in doing this is to help reduce the amount that the center has to pay for waitresses and cooks.

The council has been having trouble with representatives not coming to meetings. Council members decided to inform class, dorm and organization advisors that representatives who don't come to meetings must either be told to come or be replaced.