Ag. Club Works Hard on Projects

The Agriculture Club sponsored a Halloween Dance on October 30. Decorations were made up of blacklights and posters. Face paintings

Commerce Club Elects

The Commerce Club this year is very small but very much on the move. Mrs. Kolb, typing, shorthand, and general business teacher, is advisor for the club.

The officers are Loretta Sammuels, President; Paul Katangan, Vice President; Sandra Thomas, Secretary; Anthony Paniyak, Treasurer.

The Club meets on the 2nd and 4th Wednesday of each month. The members are now getting Christmas paper and cards ready to sell. The cards were drawn by a former student, Oliver Kirk.

The money that is raised by the Commerce Club will go to buy a gift for the Outstanding Senior In Business Education at graduation.

Mrs. Kolb encourages more people to be involved with the Commerce Club. She says, "There is plenty of room for more members."

were done by Phillip Taylor, Calvin Nomee and Adrian Taylor. The Great Pumpkin came out of the patch and paid a visit to the dance. The pumpkin was greatly admired.

The supervisors of the ag club are Mr. Morrow and Mr. Bunsen. The officers are, Lincoln Enoch, president; Luke Edwards, vice president; Olga Nick, secretary; John Henry, treasurer and Phillip Taylor, representative.

The ag club consists of about 30 members right now. They have plans for a calf project so that students can raise calves and sell them at the end of the year. They also plan to raise game birds.

Six volunteer students will work with the calf project, two of them raising each of the three calves which have now arrived and are located in the barn beside the Art Center. When spring comes the student volunteers will sell their calves and will be allowed to keep the profits for their own use. The project is designed to show students the value of raising animals as well as the experience of caring for them.

N.I.C.E. Reorganizes

The N.I.C.E. is growing rapidly. Fifty students were present at its last meeting--41 regular members. The group meets regularly on Tuesday at 6:30 in the McBride rumpus room.

All students are invited to attend. At the last meeting we adopted a constitution, bylaws and code of ethics which we drew up ourselves.

Lindsey Howtopat and Robert Tomaskin represented Chemawa and N.I.C.E. at a conference in Mt. Edgecumbe, Alaska. We were proud to have them representing us.

Because of the reorganization this year, it was decided to have one advisor and several assistant advisors to help our different committees. Mrs. Grape was elected as advisor. Mr. Kihega, Mr. Logan and Mr. Seaton of Brewer Hall have offered to help, as have Mr. Wassillie of Mitchell, Mrs. Shepard of McBride and Mrs. Goulden and Miss Phair of Winona. Mr. David will help the art club.

We hope that by dividing our club into committees we can offer more activities for student enjoyment. We have formed committees so far for war dancing, singing and drumming, leathercrafts and carving. Students interested in joining one or more committees may sign up with the officers, committee chairmen or with Mrs. Grape. Interested staff members also contact the officers or Mrs. Grape.

Music, Music, Music

"All Choral students of Chemawa are now practicing Christmas songs for the Christmas Holidays." Mr. Garlinghouse reported. These students will be going around the dorms on campus to sing carols during the Christmas season.

The choirs are also practicing popular songs and music for their first concert.

Next semester there will be two classes in beginning guitar. Next semester there will also be classes in Jazz, Rock, and Pop and Indian music.

Anyone interested in singing, playing guitar or playing in the band is welcome. Mr. Surmon said, "We have instruments for those who would like to be in band. Come and see us."
