

Teachers Play Around With Funny Bunny

Harvey is a six-foot (or maybe six-and-a-half-foot) rabbit who can only be seen by a few select people. "Harvey" is also the name of a very funny play which the faculty will present for Chemawa students and the Salem community in early February.

The play will be a money-raising project sponsored by the Drama Club and possibly by the Senior Class as well. Appearing in the play will be Mrs. Randall, Mr. Dashney, Mrs. Pentecost, Mr. Surmon, Mrs. Matt, Mr. Azure, Mrs. Brixius, Mr. Elkins, Miss Stephens, Mr. McCullough and Mr. Bartlett.

Miss B. J. Graham, the director, said that she chose "Harvey" because "It's a fun play. It doesn't teach any lessons, but we can't help it if you do get some new ideas from it."

Harvey himself does not appear in the cast list, but if you look hard enough, you just might see him on the Chemawa stage.

Slim Adolph has a mighty precarious hold on a mad bull. Vince Adolph got the picture a few seconds before the two parted company. Look for a full story on Chemawa's Rodeo Club in the next issue.

Just What Did You Resolve This Year?

New Years is coming up fast. It's time to start making resolutions and do all the other things you do on New Years.

If you're like most people, you'll go out and celebrate for a couple of days. Boy, it's terrible when you wake up after you're celebrating! Your head hurts, you can't eat anything, and for some strange reason you have to rush to the restroom when you try to eat something. It just won't stay down.

If you're stumped and you don't know what a resolution is, it's a promise you make for the coming year. So when you make a resolution, be careful what you say because you have to stick to it.

Here are some resolutions made by students and staff. Let's hope they stick to them.

Print Shop Sets Mark

Chemawa's always-busy print shop is setting a record for production this year. According to Mr. Berg, the shop is running an average of 150,000 pieces per month through its presses. This compares with an average of 50,000 last year. The new math program and Title I account for most of the increase, Berg says.

Mr. Choctaw Smith: "I will not be grouchy!"

Ron Morris: "I'll start feeding Coyote every week instead of every two weeks."

Miss Graham: "I'm going to wake up before the alarm goes off, because I hate the noise."

Mr. Perry: "I'm going to try to find enough money for us to finish the school year."

Debbie Thomas: "I'm going to be the smartest kid on my block that doesn't live on Mean Street! Aye!"

Mr. Dashney: "I'm going to lower my 3-mile time to under 20 minutes."

Eva Merculief: "I promise to get better grades in my school work."

Mrs. Thompson: "I'm going to do everything I can to preserve natural resources."

Melanie Colwash: "I'm going to quit smoking and drinking, and quit influencing my friends and be good to my little brother."

Mrs. Hendren: "I'm going to lose weight!"

Mrs. Pentecost: "I'm going to maintain a better diet."

Ernie Wheeler: "I will not skip classes, I'll walk, and I will not drink on Sunday."

Mr. McAnally: "I'm gonna be a meaner, dirtier, senile senior citizen starting January 1, 1974."

Calvin Shillal: "I promise this whole year not to make a promise next year."

Mrs. Grape: "I promise not to lose my temper so easily."

Phillip Higheagle: "I promise (not) to quit-----."

Mr. Hildebrand: "I'm going to read one book every two weeks."

Mr. Snyder: "I'm going to start running--rain or shine!"

Diane Olsen: "I promise not to fail any of my classes, and not to skip any of them either."

Sheryl Enick: "I promise to make honor roll this next quarter."

Clemo Friedlander: "I promise to stay high for the rest of my life."

Delbert "Boo-Boo" Blodgett: "I promise not to skip classes."

Native Cookery Held

The Native American Cooking class meets in the Brewer Hall kitchen from 5-7 Wednesday evenings. This weekly get-together gives interested students a chance to try Indian recipes from the Northwest, Alaska and other parts of the country.

Among the goodies they have cooked up have been items such as fry bread, Indian stew, duck soup, smoked fish, sunflower seed soup and huckleberry fritters.

The class is one of several informal groups sponsored by N.I.P.S. (Native Initiated Programs for Students). Close to 20 students participate in each of the weekly sessions.
