To all our former teachers of Chemawa,

Just thinking of our good ole Chemawa, and, since we haven't been down to see you and the new school, we wish you good luck and a Happy New Year. We've read about the new school and are looking forward to going down for a friendly visit. Kinda miss the place even if we're not around.

We hope you still remember us former students. We would like to know when the next reunion will be because we will be down with our two beautiful girls, Lille and Shawnette. This is just to let you know we're married and live here in Warm Springs.

Hope to hear from any one of you.

and Mrs. Owens Yahtin,

A COMMENT

The fact that WIND WALKER features use of Indian languages has produced some difficulties in the matter of Academy Awards. Paradoxically, this results in WIND WALKER being considered as a foreign film! How ridiculous!

A work of art, written in America, made in America by Americans using a native American language, having American-English subtitles, a foreign film? What could be more American? Crow and Cheyenne ARE American languages! Does any other ethnic group in the world use these tongues? Undoubtedly not!

What is going on in this situation anyway?

The earth is full of many wonderful miracles, such as the mountains, springs, streams, waterfalls and forests.

As I looked out the car window, I could see the stars and the moon. I stayed awake watching their brightness and beauty. Then, in the eastern sky, I saw the red and yellow of the rising sun. The sky was fiery red in mile long streaks. Then the sun dogs appeared, blazing in golden beauty. As I watched the sunrise, I felt very small in God's immense world.
