

Rally Increases Chemawa Spirit

By Lacy Luton

This year's Varsity Rally Squad members have taken on the task of trying to make Chemawa a very spirited school. These girls practice around two and a half hours each day by doing warm-ups, learning new cheers and planning pep assemblies. The squad is also earning money by selling raffle tickets, putting on bake sales and selling spirit buttons.

Captain of the Varsity Squad is Teresa "Tree" Jacobsson. She is a junior this year and a second year student. She is an Alaskan and Apache Indian from Bethel, Alaska.

Another member of the squad is Vicki "Charlie" Matt. Vicki is a junior also and a member of the Flathead Indian Tribe from St. Ignatius, Montana.

Julie "Jo" McDonald, another junior, is also from St. Ignatius and a member of the Flathead tribe.

Also on the squad is junior Leoda "Yoda" Yallup. She is from Wapato, Washington and a member of the Yakima Tribe.

Our fifth member is Lena "Luckie" like a senior and a Warm Springs Indian from Warm Springs, Oregon.

These girls make up the 1983-84 Varsity Rally Squad for Chemawa Indian School.

Junior Varsity Rally Squad

What has four legs, brown hair and extremely short dresses? The 1983-84 Junior Varsity Rally Squad! The squad is composed of two girls—Lisa Mahle and Patricia LittleWolf.

Lisa "Moon Unit" Mahle is an Athabaskan Indian from Anchorage, Alaska. She is a sophomore this year and a new student.

Patricia "Q.T." LittleWolf is a Chippewa Indian from Sacramento, California. She is also a sophomore and a new student.

These girls cheer at the Junior Varsity football, basketball, wrestling and baseball games. Although the girls usually cheer to the invisible crowds at the games they both admit they have a good time and enjoy showing their spirit for Chemawa's hard working teams.

Both of these girls will be trying out for Varsity Rally in the spring. Who knows maybe the invisible crowds will be bigger at the varsity games!

Tony Bitner, Mascot for Cheerleading

By Jeanine Wright

A new addition to the cheerleading squad is Antonio Bitner. He is a Freshman from Downey, California and an Arapahoe Indian.

When asked why he liked being a mascot Bitner stated it was because he likes the privileges you get to have as a cheerleader and going to the games. Bitner made up the cheer "Enthusiastic" and he also knows all the cheers.

Antonio said people sometimes say that he's "crazy" and think he's weird because he's a mascot but he says, "Hey, someone's got to do it, I got the guts and no one else will go out there."

Sometimes he has doubts about going through with being a mascot because of the criticism but he also gets compliments about being brave enough to go out there.

Tony said he will not go out for mascot next year unless there are more boys out for it, too.

Midnight Hike taken by Cheerleaders

By Teresa Jacobsson

What turned out to be a well-played game for the Chemawa football team turned out to be a major disaster for the varsity cheerleaders on September 16.

The four hour trip to Madras High School began with a close call head-on with a careless driver.

After the Madras football game was over the Rally Squad was treated to pizza by Mr. Henselman. The beginning of the ride back started out nice, but unfortunately the van witnessed a major wreck. The young teens in the car had been drinking.

With only fifty more miles to go the girls stopped off at a rest area. After traveling only yards away from the stop, the driver of the van gave the girls the news that they had run out of gas. The van driver flagged down a truck and with two of the girls went for help.

The rest of the girls sat in the van for about fifteen minutes and finally decided to flag down a car. Finally, a traveling bus slowed down and offered them a ride.

After a twenty minute bus ride the Chemawa cheerleaders, with their assistant advisor, Bernice DePoe, took a brisk walk through the trails and arrived "safely" to the comforts of the campus at a weary 4:00 a.m.

Mike Named New A.D.

By Vesta DeMarris

Eddie Mike

Chemawa's new Athletic Director for 83-84 is Mr. Edward Andrew Mike, Shoshone.

Born in Lone Pine, CA, Mr. Mike stayed in sunny California where he received both his undergraduate and graduate degrees from UCLA.

One of Mr. Mike's first teaching jobs was at Sherman High School in Riverside, CA. He also taught at Big Pine, CA, where he was also athletic director. He then moved on to Stewart Indian High School in Stewart, Nevada where he became their Athletic Director for about ten years.

With the closing of Stewart in 1981, Mike, Theresa, and their seven children moved here to Salem. Last year Mike was a home-living specialist in the dorms.

Some of Mr. Mike's hobbies include fishing and Indian dancing (both traditional and fancy).

Mr. Mike cites helping students become excellent athletes, sportsmen and students as his main concerns and responsibilities. He hopes that through the concern and support of teachers more students will eventually come to Chemawa. He added that he will try and be available for any student that may need to talk to him, for any reason.

His personal goals for the year include making sure all students have the opportunity to be in any sport and to achieve their maximum ability.

Chemawa's A.D. predicts that not only will this school year bring new and exciting accomplishments from students and staff, but that our cross country and basketball teams will go to state.

His future plans are to "Stay here at Chemawa until the end where this school will have to close."

Team Flagged Down

By Mona Boneshirt and Patricia LittleWolf

A new program added to help to raise spirit is the Chemawa Drill and Flag team.

Students who are in this program will perform at athletic events, various school functions, Pow-Wows and perhaps even off campus parades and fairs.

The coordinators of this program are Mr. H. Beyers and Mrs. Barker. They will help students prepare for parades as well as the fun and excitement.

Qualifications are simple: all the students need to do is sign up with Mr. Beyers, and be on time for practices which are held on Tuesdays and Thursdays in the music room after school.

The Chemawa Drill/Flag team is composed of two groups: The flag team and the drum line. Dean Chingman, Jerome Whiteman, Antonio Bitner, Todd George, Sam Charles, Bobby Colod, and Lance Friedlander are the drummers. The Flag team, which marches and drills to choreographed steps using flags, include Sandra Pancho, Laurie Racine, Erlene Blackwood, and Valerie Monroe.

With the inclement weather rehearsals will begin again in the spring.

Alum Returns as Coach

By Myron Boneshirt

A new member of the Chemawa staff and coaching team is Marvin C. Devereaux, Jr., a Blackfoot/Sioux from Browning, Montana. Marvin graduated from Chemawa in 1977 and went on to attend the Institute of American Indian Arts in Santa Fe, Montana State University, and the University of Montana.

Marvin's goals are to finish college in wildlife biology, to complete his studies on the grizzly bear and to achieve his "up most creations through art."

Devereaux hopes to help students by creating a positive attitude through discipline, determination, and "drive which creates success with pride," he explained.

Mr. Devereaux's hobbies are playing basketball, track, cross-country, coaching, painting, drawing sculpturing, waterskiing, and horseback riding.

Devereaux's advice to students is to "make full use of what you have here at Chemawa because once it's gone it's lost."

skating Favorite Activity

By Veronica Viera

Out of a list of 45 possible activities students ranked roller-skating as their favorite recreational activity. An interest survey was taken during registration to find what Chemawa students liked to do for fun.

Horseback riding took a close second place with its 105 votes as an event students would like to participate in on a regular basis.

Seeing extra movies, attending more dances, and playing a wider variety of video games captured third, fourth and fifth places respectively.

Taking the final places of interest were concerts off campus, concerts on campus, going to the beach, making money from jobs off campus, and participating in a rodeo club.

These suggestions will be turned into recreation.

Students who would like to pursue these ideas may also contact their student council representatives.
