sounding platform, even to the extent that he is divinely chosen to lead the people.

Besides, under the new ideas, we have a new crop of self-seekers coming up at each election, and instead of simplifying the matter, it is becoming more and more difficult for the average citizen to know what to do and whom to vote for. Let us get back to first principles, and let us have more respect for law and order. Let us not shirk our duties, and let it be the first business of every American to see that the flag is respected and that no other flag be tolerated in its place on American soil. We are much too tolerant of the red flag of anarchy. The leaders of this movement, and the rascally press that supports them, should be bundled up together and hustled out of the country.

Her Help.

"The fact of the matter is I never amounted to anything before I was married."

"Then you give your wife credit for awaking your ambition?"

"No; for making it necessary for me to get out and hustle."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Fame-Seekers, by Alice Woods. $1.20. Illustrated. George H. Doran Co., New York City.

With illustrations by May Wilson Preston, this attractive novel depicts with cleverness an American artist-story of Bohemian Paris, known and Trilby Land.

The Under Trail, by Anna Alice Chapin. $1.25. Illustrated. Little, Brown & Co., Boston.

Hate, love and a secret crosscut trail in the Virginia Mountains make up this attractive novel of the Southland. The characters are exceedingly well drawn.

Beggars and Scorners, by Allan McAulay. $1.25. John Yane Co., New York City.

An historical novel well worth reading—harking back to the triumphs won in a similar department by Charles Major—depicting the struggles, intrigues, loves and hates of Scotch Jacobite exiles in Holland, after the memorable battle of Culloden in Scotland in 1745, when the English army, under the Duke of Cumberland, smashed the hopes of Bonnie Prince Charlie and his adherents.

The Mission of Victoria Wilhelmina, by Jeanne Bartholow Magoon. $1. B. W. Huebsch, New York City.

Told with singular pathos, this story of a young girl's experiences in New York City, and in the form of a diary depicts how she met the inevitable man, was deceived by him and went wrong. He was her employer. A baby came, who died shortly after she was born, and was named after the present Queen of Spain and the Queen of Holland. As the title of the little book indicates, this publication strives to fulfill a mission, and ought to serve as a terrible warning. It may, and may not.
