

PORTLAND ROSE FESTIVAL WILL BE GREATEST SHOW OF ITS KIND EVER HELD--GOOD PROGRAM PROVIDED

Portland's Sixth Annual Rose Festival, June 10-15, will be the greatest held since the custom was established in 1907. There are many reasons for this. It is partly because, with the State of Oregon and the City of Portland growing as they are, it is a very natural thing for the great annual Festival to grow proportionately. It is partly because the financial support by business men and other citizens, which is behind the Festival, is larger this year than ever before. More than this, however, it is because it marks the opening of a new era of co-operation in the history of festivals; because it raises the curtain upon the first event in a great festival season that is to last throughout the summer and is to extend along the entire Pacific coast. Every important city of the west, from Vancouver, B. C., to Pasadena, Cal., is with Portland this year working for the success of the Portland Rose Festival, and every one of these cities is to take an active part in the entertainment.

Working with Ralph W. Hoyt, president of the Portland Rose Festival association, is the man who originated the co-operative idea that is to be initiated this year in the Portland Festival. He is George L. Hutchin, who has been manager of the Rose Festival since 1907, and who was elected last month president of the Festival Association of the Pacific Coast.

Portland and Portland's Rose Festival stand in a peculiarly powerful position in the new organization this year, for the Rose Festival is to be the opening event of the season of 1912, and upon its success depends the success of the organized festival association of the Pacific coast.

The following is the program of Portland's sixth annual Rose Festival, June 10-15:

LAW AGAINST I. W. W. IS SAN DIEGO HOPE

Possibility of Special Legislative Session or Applicable Measure Stirs.

San Diego, Cal.—The possibility of a special session of the Legislature to enact a law applicable to the San Diego I. W. W. situation is the leading topic among many residents of this city.

It was said that if such an action were taken and a law based upon sedition and its consequences were enacted, that San Diego thus would quietly continue his formal ure which would enable it to cope with its present troubles without the aid of the state authorities.

Attorney-General U. S. Webb indicated that this might be the result if the authorities here were powerless to handle the situation, but today he declined to discuss the subject.

Special Session Welcomed.

D. F. Glidden, city prosecutor, said that a special session of the Legislature would be welcomed by San Diegans.

Attorneys Fred H. Moore and Marcus W. Robbins, representing many Industrial Workers charged with violations of the street-speaking ordinance, tried today to obtain from District Attorney H. S. Utley a complaint against Chief of Police J. K. Wilson, charging him with complicity in the alleged taking from San Diego May 16 of their stenographer, W. S. Rawlins.

They desire a complaint charging false imprisonment, abduction or assault. Mr. Utley declined to issue a complaint, saying he believed anything done by Chief Wilson had been in the interest of the preservation of the peace.

The attorneys said they would take the matter up with the Superior Court judges.

People Asked to Be Placid.

Captain John L. Schon, superintendent of police, issued a statement to the "people of San Diego," asking for the co-operation of all citizens in preserving order. He expressed the opinion that the police department was competent to cope with any situation that might develop and said that troops, either state or federal, were not now and would not be needed. Citizens were asked not to take into their own hands the enforcement of the law.

SHIPS WITH SPECIAL FACILITIES FOR PROTECTION OF PASSENGERS.

From information received from the Southern Pacific Company, operating the steamship line between New York and New Orleans, we learn that passengers using that line need have no fear in case of accident. The lifeboat capacity of these ships has always been sufficient to accommodate all of the passengers and crew and the wireless equipment is such that the wireless room at all times, night and day, is in charge of an experienced operator. Notices are posted in all staterooms, public rooms and steerage, showing the assignments of occupants to specific boats, and all lifeboats are conspicuously numbered. Fire and boat drills are held at each port as well as on the first day out and passengers are invited to take part in them. Stewards demonstrate how to attach life-belts to the body. It is said that these are not new rulings, but have been in force on these ships for several years.

SELLS-FLOTO CIRCUS.

The great Sells-Floto Circus will be in Portland two days, Monday and Tuesday, June 3rd and 4th. Athur Bennet, the publicity manager, promises the best show ever given by the company.

WEBB LEAVES I. W. W. PROCEEDINGS WITH DEPUTY

San Diego Public Objects to Discharge of Old Grand Jury.

San Diego, Cal.—The return of Attorney-General U. S. Webb to San Francisco left the investigation of the Industrial Workers' situation here in the hands of his chief deputy, Raymond Benjamin. It was said by Mr. Benjamin that his chief would return to San Diego after attending to official business in San Francisco. In the meantime, Mr. Benjamin stated, he would quietly continue his formal probing into the disturbances growing out of the so-called "free speech" campaign here.

It was said that a special grand jury to investigate the situation, as requested by Attorney-General Webb, could not be impaneled, in all probability, for several days. There was some public objection to the discharging of the present grand jury.

Dispatches from Los Angeles telling of the probable shifting of the scene of Industrial Workers' activity from San Diego to that city could not be verified by persons connected with the campaign against the street-speaking ordinance here. It was said that in the course of the Decoration Day parades here there would be an unusual display of patriotism.

That spirit has been shown strongly for weeks by citizens opposed to the Industrial Workers of the World. So great has become the demand for small American flags that hucksters have arrived and are selling the banners from the street corners. Many women as well as men wear the National emblem.

THE SAN DIEGO IMBROGLIO.

Every right-thinking person cannot help but sympathize with the citizens in San Diego who are and have been afflicted with the horde of unwashed Weary Williams masquerading as champions of labor, who have by their insults against the flag and all form of government brought down upon themselves the indignation of those who reside in that community, and who have been pursuing their vocations peacefully until aroused by this invading, evil-smelling horde of tramps to the point where they have taken the law into their own hands, and thereby committed an error that men in normal condition would not be parties to.

The provocation to rid themselves of undesirables was, no doubt, very great, and the menace to home, organized society, religion and government appeared to be greatly magnified to San Diegans by the persistence of the leaders of the invading rabble. While we are not in possession of all the facts, we know the invading host persisted in congregating for purposes of dissemination of their anarchistic doctrines on the principal street corners and squares of the city, contrary to an ordinance which prevented congestion in those places by any body of individuals, whether social, religious, or otherwise, and which ordinance had been enforced for some time past. It was not so much a question of tolerance of the propaganda of the vile isms of this bunch of invading malcontents as it was the persistence of the leaders to talk in the particular places that were forbidden by ordinance to everyone. No wonder, then, when the police and the constituted authorities did not act as quickly as they should, that the more impulsive of the residents took the law into their own hands, thinking to correct an intolerable abuse by direct action.
