

CITATION.
In the County Court of the State of Oregon, for Multnomah County.

In the matter of the estate of Lewis N. Bissonnett, deceased.
To Alice M. Bissonnett Ernest E. Bissonnett, Eva A. Weaver, Hattie Montgomery, Clara Provancha, Rose Brockway, Alma Bissonnett, Henry Peck and all other heirs and devisees of Lewis N. Bissonnett, deceased, unknown or known:

In the name of the State of Oregon: You are hereby commanded to appear before the honorable County Court of the State of Oregon, in and for the County of Multnomah, at the courthouse, in the City of Portland, on 23rd day of July, 1912, at the hour of 9 A. M. of said day to show cause, if any exist, why an order should not be made by the above-entitled court authorizing and directing V. A. Brewer, the administrator of the above-entitled estate, to sell the east half of lots 12 and 13, block 3, Vernon Addition to Portland, Multnomah County, Oregon, at private sale for cash.

Witness my hand and the seal of said Court affixed this 15th day of June, 1912.

F. S. FIELDS,
County Clerk.
L. D. MAHONEY,
Attorney for Estate,
513-14-15 Couch Bldg.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE STATE OF OREGON, FOR MULTNOMAH COUNTY.

Calvin W. Stockwell, Plaintiff, vs.
Ida May Stockwell, Defendant.

SUMMONS.

In the name of the State of Oregon: You are hereby required to answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled action within six weeks from the date of the publication of this summons, and if you fail to so answer the plaintiff will apply to the above entitled court for the relief demanded in plaintiff's complaint, to-wit: For a decree of divorce dissolving the bonds of matrimony existing between plaintiff and defendant and for such other and further relief as to the Court may seem just and equitable.

This summons is served upon you by publication by order of the Hon. J. P. Kavanaugh, Judge of the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, which order of publication is dated the 23rd day of May, 1912, and directs that this summons be served upon you by being published once each week for a period of six consecutive weeks in "The Times," a newspaper of general circulation within Multnomah County, Oregon.

HAROLD A. WILKINS,
Attorney for Plaintiff.

Date of first publication, May 27, 1912.
Date of last publication, July 1, 1912.

Book Reviews

Fame-Seekers, by Alice Woods $1.20. Illustrated. George H. Doran Co., New York City.

With illustrations by May Wilson Preston, this attractive novel depicts with cleverness an American artist-story of Bohemian Paris, known and Trilby Land.

The Under Trail, by Anna Alice Chapin. $1.25. Illustrated. Little, Brown & Co., Boston.

Hate, love and a secret crosscut trail in the Virginia Mountains make up this attractive novel of the Southland. The characters are exceedingly well drawn.

Beggars and Scorners, by Allan McAulay. $1.25. John Yane Co., New York City.

An historical novel well worth reading—harking back to the triumphs won in a similar department by Charles Major—depicting the struggles, intrigues, loves and hates of Scotch Jacobite exiles in Holland, after the memorable battle of Culloden in Scotland in 1745, when the English army, under the Duke of Cumberland, smashed the hopes of Bonnie Prince Charlie and his adherents.

The Mission of Victoria Wilhelm, by Jeanne Bartholow Magoun. $1. B. W. Huebsch. New York City.

Told with singular pathos, this story of a young girl's experiences in New York City, and in the form of a diary depicts how she met the inevitable man, was deceived by him and went wrong. He was her employer. A baby came, who died shortly after she was born, and was named after the present Queen of Spain and the Queen of Holland. As the title of the little book indicates, this publication strives to fulfill a mission, and ought to serve as a terrible warning. It may, and may not.

Marcus Alonzo Hanna: His Life and Work. By Herbert Croly. With portrait. The Macmillan Co. $2.50 net.

The attitude of too many reformers toward politicians of the old school is a Pharisaic attitude of condemnation, as if those gentlemen had been guilty of personal unrighteousness in being what they were. Mr. Croly, in writing the life of "Mark" Hanna, sees the falsity of this attitude.

Marcus Hanna certainly did stand for what we now call privilege, but Mr. Croly shows us that he did not deliberately choose it after seeing a vision of privilege on the one hand and purity and democracy on the other hand. To him no such vision was granted. He was a product of contemporary conditions. "Only one explanation will account for his peculiar success. He must have embodied in his own life and purposes some vital American social and economic tradition which gave his personality, individual as it was, more than an individual meaning and impulse." This tradition, thinks Mr. Croly, was that of the pioneer.

In a little pamphlet entitled, "The Church and the Workingman" (Golden Rule Publishing Co., Nashua, N. H., price 10 cents), the Rev. Edgar F. Blanchard finds that the underlying purpose of the Mosaic Poor Laws and of the early Christian church was "to prevent destitution and distress, rather than to help people as objects of charity after they had come to distress"; and prophesies that the new church soon to appear will be "a Religious Brotherhood—a religious system organized on positive ethical and fraternal principles." Fro mthis combination of lodge, labor union and church, the workman will not stay away.

CHARTER BOARD WILL MEET MONDAY NIGHT.

It is likely that there will be a meeting of the official commission plan charter board next Monday evening to consider the completed draft of the charter, which will thereupon be given 30 days' publicity before being filed with the city auditor. During the period of publicity it is desired that the people of Portland study the new plan of municipal government and submit suggestions or amendments.

The committee on revision—R. W. Montague, P. L. Willis and S. Grutze—has completed its work and typewritten copies of the completed charter draft are being sent to each of the members of the committee. No material changes have been made, the revision committee simply following directions given at meetings of the charter board. The people's charter, the Simon charter, the Benbow and Wood short charter, have all contributed to the new draft, which proposes the election only of the fire commissioners and the city auditor and provides for the appointing of other city officials by the commission of five. It is thought likely that, after full consideration has been given the charter draft and it is filed in its finally approved form, the special commission plan election may be held some time during next October or November.

One consideration has served as an urgent reason for an earlier commission plan election, and this the disposition of the auditorium commission not to attempt to do anything in the securing of a site or the constructing of the public auditorium until the people have been given opportunity to vote the issuance of $200,000 additional bonds with which to aid in purchasing the site. The auditorium commission says all of the $600,000 voted is needed in constructing and furnishing the auditorium. The building will be too great to be placed on a single 200 by 200 block, and if the Market block is used space immediately to the south must be acquired. In this event an amendment to the Zeigler amendment, which prohibits vacation of streets within 2000 feet of the river, must be secured.

STREET SPEAKING MAY BE STOPPED BY LAW.

SALEM.—If a measure filed by the Employers' Association of Portland is enacted into law by the voters at the next election, there will be no public speaking on the streets of any incorporated city of 5000 population or over, for it makes it unlawful, unless the speaker has the written consent of the Mayor. If a second measure filed by the same association becomes a law there will also be an end to boycotting or picketing, for it provides that it shall be unlawful for anyone to boycott any industry, or for anyone to entice its workers away. This makes a total of 45 measures filed so far.

EXALTED RULER SULLIVAN

carnival attire. Some beautiful effects are already visible, both inside and outside. Through it all the Elks colors—purple and white—predominate.

The Armory, where the grand lodge will hold its first session Monday night, is ready. The decorations are in place and all arrangements are made.

George Baker, parade commissioner, said that all arrangements for the electrical parade scheduled for Tuesday night are complete, and that preparations for the parade of Thursday, when the Elks' big display is scheduled, are practically finished and need only the official sanction of Grand Equire James Nicholson, who will direct the procession.

Shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon the welcoming squad, in uniform, and the administration band gathered at the order of Dr. McKay, chairman of the reception committee, and marched in a body to the Union depot, to welcome and escort Exalted Ruler Sullivan and other grand lodge officers in his party to the Elks' grand lodge headquarters at the Multnomah hotel.

OREGON NEWS NOTES OF GENERAL INTEREST

Events Occurring Throughout the State During the Past Week.

Want White Men Hired in Shops.

Roseburg.—The Southern Pacific recently discharged about 15 white engine wipers employed in the round house here and filled their places with Japanese. As all the discharged men were residents here, the citizens of Roseburg have taken exception to the action. A petition addressed to superintendent L. R. Fields, is being circulated asking "in behalf of the citizens of the United States and especially such citizens who are required to earn their livelihood by virtue of employment, that the Southern Pacific company employ white labor and American citizens to perform its work in the city of Roseburg, and in particular in the round-house and machine shops in this city."

Millage Bill Filed, Bears 12,250 Names

Salem.—Containing about 12,250 names, petitions asking for the initiation of the measure placing the University of Oregon and Agricultural College on a millage basis, were filed with the secretary of state. The petition can boast of signers from all counties in the state, and if passed will repeal the appropriations made by the last legislature for the university and now in litigation in the supreme court. The measure provides a levy of seven-tenths of a mill, four-tenths for the agricultural college and three-tenths for the university.

EUGENE IS CHOICE

Spanish War Veterans in Session at Albany Elect Officers.

Albany.—A. J. McAllister, of Pendleton, was elected department commander of the Spanish-American War Veterans of Oregon at the fourth annual state encampment of the organization held in this city. Other officers were chosen as follows:

Senior vice-commander, Jack Hulford, of Portland; junior vice-commander, A. W. McLaughlin, of Eugene; inspector-general, P. E. Elbert, of Portland; chaplain, E. R. Lundberg, of Portland; marshal, H. N. Sellinger, of Hammond; judge advocate-general, C. R. Hotchkiss, of Portland; surgeon-general, Dr. M. Ellis, of Albany.

Eugene was selected as the meeting place of the next annual encampment; A. E. Cooper, of Portland; William V. Merrill, of Albany; Captain White, of Eugene, and M. B. Huntley, of Eugene, were elected delegates from Oregon to the national convention of the organization to be held at Atlantic City this summer.

More than 1600 veterans attended the encampment.

Boy Sings, Then Dies.

Medford.—Five minutes after singing in the parlor with his sister and two friends, Earl Kennedy, the 17-year-old son of William Kennedy, was found in his bedroom with a 12-gauge shotgun by his side and the top of his head blown off.

Although at first reported as a suicide over an unfortunate love affair, members of the family hold to the belief that young Kennedy came to his death through an accident while cleaning the shotgun.

JURYMEN APPEAL TO WEST

Conditions Bad at Toledo, Florence, Pendleton and Bly.

Salem.—The United States grand jury in session in Portland sent an appeal to Governor West to take a hand in enforcing the liquor laws at Toledo, Florence, Bly and Pendleton, where it is asserted Indians are offenders against the federal statutes and local district officers have failed to enforce the laws.

Thus the radius of Governor West's campaign of law enforcement grows with each day. From the number of appeals pouring into his office it seems there is hardly a section of the state where officials charged with law enforcement have not been lax in regard to liquor and moral laws.

The appeal from the United States grand jury was passed by unanimous vote of the jury and was signed by Max O. Buren of Salem, as foreman and by 21 other members from different parts of the state.

Fishing to End July 31.

Enterprise.—The Wallowa river, for 200 yards above where it empties into Wallowa lake, is to be closed to fishing on July 31, according to announcement just made by the state game and fish commission. The purpose stated is to stock and protect the fish which frequent the river and lake.

O. & S. Line to be Sold.

Eugene.—The property of the Oregon & Southern railway, a 20 mile steam road extending out of Cottage Grove toward the Bohemia mines, will soon be sold at public auction to satisfy its creditors.

BRIEF NEWS OF OREGON

Freewater's annual peach day will be held this year on August 15.

Work has begun on the erection of the Oregon Electric passenger depot in Albany.

The annual Oregon convention of the National Association of Letter-Carriers was held at Corvallis last week.

The Swedish Methodists of Salem have organized a church and bought a church building, which was dedicated Sunday.

After almost four years of construction, Mt. Angel's handsome new Catholic church was dedicated Sunday by Archbishop Christie.

The Enterprise Electric company, that furnishes light and power to several eastern Oregon towns, has increased its capital stock from $50,000 to $300,000.

Several Marshfield men have squatted on valuable land in Coos county, which they claim is open to entry. The land is north of Coos Bay and includes some valuable timber.

The newly organized Falls City Potato Growers' Association is the first and only organization of the kind in Polk county, and promises to become an important factor in finding a cash market for potatoes.

S. A. D. Puter of Portland has established his innocence of the charge of forgery made against him by M. A. Fifield, an attorney of Minneapolis, and has instituted suit against Fifield for $50,000 damages.

This year the Salem cherry fair, which will be held July 11, 12 and 13, promises to be the biggest event of the kind ever held in Salem. The first day of the fair will be "Made in Oregon," or manufacturers' day.

Jacob William Karki, the 9-year-old son of Jacob Karki and wife of Astoria, was accidentally drowned while playing with a younger lad on the net racks of the Union Fishermen's Co-operative Packing company in Uniontown.

From the Columbia river district during the month just passed there was shipped to foreign ports nearly 28,000,000 feet of lumber, an amount unequalled during a similar period from this or any other single port in the world.

On the ground that he is not a fugitive from justice and cannot be returned to trial, California's executive has refused to honor a requisition from Governor West for the return of Harold Rees, wanted in Oregon on a charge of wife abandonment.

By means of a suit filed in the circuit court at Salem by the Oregon Electric railway company, it became known that the ultimate destination of the extension being built from Salem to Eugene, which is practically completed as far as Albany, is Roseburg.

As the result of an explosion of gas in an automobile gas lamp, George Stoddard, a prominent lumberman and timber owner of La Grande, is lying in a critical condition in the Grande Ronde hospital with his eyes filled with small particles of glass and his face badly cut.

Efforts to form another Port of Coos Bay are being put forth. Petitions are being circulated and quite freely signed by the citizens. The matter will be presented to the county court in July and will probably be submitted to the vote of the people at the November election.

So assured are fruit growers of a record crop in the Rogue river valley this year that the cry of the growers for more thinners is frequent. Old-timers declare the trees never have been more heavily laden, and now that the danger of frost is practically past, it seems almost certain a bumper crop will be harvested.

The jury at Albany in the case of the Oregon Electric Railway company vs. Francis Marion Hyde, et al, has awarded the defendants $4250 damages for the appropriation of land owned by them for railway purposes. The Oregon Electric took about 15 acres of land lying in the edge of the town of Harrisburg for trackage and a site for depot grounds.

Salem is to make its second attempt to secure pure water by purchasing the plant of the Salem Water company, the council at a special meeting having decided to endeavor to obtain the plant through arbitration as to its price, rather than through condemnation, and as soon as the price is agreed upon by the arbitrators, the people will vote upon it.

Secretary Oleott, within whose hands lies now exclusively the fate of the university of Oregon referendum cases, has decreed that the cases shall go to their final disposition before the supreme court and that no agreement will be reached between the parties to the suits to withdraw the cases. It has been the desire of Governor West that the cases be withdrawn.

During the 11 months ending with May there were shipped from the United States 28,519,935 bushels of wheat, valued at $26,969,349. Portland led all the cities of the country with 6,829,943 bushels, worth $6,895,993. During the same period Portland shipped 689,766 barrels of flour, while from the whole country 16,328,588 barrels were sent out, of a total value of $47,763,993.
