

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Mr. Jno. K. McCormick of Palouse City, Wash., is in the city.

Captain Wilson has been employed to command the new steamer.

Our Talmage sermon was lost on the recent wreck but we hope to have one for next week.

Four hundred sacks of wool were received at the Wasco warehouse today up to early this afternoon.

The barge Julia is unloading a cargo of Timothy hay, from the Klickitat landing, for Joles Brothers.

Last—A bunch of ten or eleven kegs. The finder will be rewarded by returning them to this office.

The ladies of the M. E. church will serve their friends with ice cream and cake on the Fourth of July.

On Decoration day Dr. Hollister wore a surgeon's sash that had been worn by his father during Sherman's famous march to the sea.

The Indians report that the crickets are doing a great deal of damage to everything green on the Warm Spring reservation.

Sunday was a good day for wool men if it was Sunday. Seventeen loads arrived in the city, sixteen of which are being unloaded at the Wasco warehouse Monday morning.

Before a man can know anything there must be a sort of preparation for it. As Amiel says: "A man only understands that of which he has already the beginnings in himself."

The Dallas Ice company received yesterday two carloads of Lake Coccolalla ice, which is superior in quality and thickness of any ice that has ever been brought to The Dallas.

Ex-senator Biggs and Mr. Clark Dunlap, of Sherman county arrived in town this afternoon. They have come to confer with our citizens to see what measures could be taken towards building a line of railroad between this city and Sherman county.

In the store of Joles Brothers we saw last Saturday a box containing thirteen strawberries which weighed a pound. They were raised by John Klint on Mill Creek. Who can beat this? Where is Hood River?

The reports of committees of the state grange showed that the membership of the order had doubled in Eastern Oregon during the past year.

Messrs. Murdock McLeod, Tom Glaviey and John Russell from Kingsley, yesterday brought into this city sixty head of live hogs which weighed an average of 180 pounds each.

The fluctuating hopes and fears that have filled the minds of the many friends of Judge J. H. Bird, have at last been set at rest forever by the announcement of his death at Pasadena, California, yesterday morning at 11 o'clock.

Judge Bird was born in this city about 36 years ago. His aged and grief-stricken mother, to whom he was everything that an affectionate son ought to be, still survives him.

Judge Bird was educated in the Willamette university and studied law under the late Judge Whittier of this city.

He was admitted to the bar in 1880 in the same class with Senator Watkins, Hon. F. P. Mays and Judge A. S. Bennett.

His ability soon placed him in the front ranks of his profession, and five years ago he was elected judge of the Seventh judicial district.

No man ever sat upon the bench whose decisions were more just or more universally respected. More than a year ago his health gave way and symptoms of the dread disease consumption were manifested.

He removed to the milder climate of San Diego, California, where he remained till about two months ago when he changed to Pasadena.

While the genial air of Southern California may have prolonged his life, as the result proved, it could not stay the progress of the disease.

His remains will be brought to this city for interment, and are expected to leave Pasadena today and arrive here about next Thursday morning.

The Welcome Rain. A private letter from Kingsley under date of May 20th says: "It commenced thundering this evening about 3 o'clock, the clouds darkening in the east over Sherman county, and about 4 o'clock rain commenced to fall in large drops, followed by hail as large as peas, melting as they reached the ground and in less than a quarter of an hour the roads were flooded running in a stream three inches deep, putting one in mind of the effect of an old-fashioned chinook wind would have on a snow bank in the spring.

After the shower fences were found washed away at the intersection of gulches. In some places the hail was as large as marbles and it flattened and uprooted the grain but the benefits more than offset the damage."

Some time ago the CHRONICLE published an account of a foot race in California among the state university students in which Mr. Ed. Mays, son of Hon. Robt. Mays of this city, was the successful contestant.

Last week the Berkley boys had some more running and in a race of 40 yards between S. V. Casady of the Olympic club and Ed. Mays '98, the latter won in fifty-five seconds to the great delight of the university boys.

In the San Francisco Call of last Sunday giving a report of the university races has this to say of them:

Another event, which was an all-around one, though the existing records were not approached, was the 400-yard run, open scratch, between S. V. Casady, O. A. C., and E. Mays, '98. The men are old opponents on the cinder-path and had met before, Mays on that occasion carrying off the laurels.

It was supposed that this victory had engendered feeling between the men, and that they would meet on the track in the future. The race was won by Mays in 55 seconds, three seconds slower than his former time, the present University Club record. After the race was awarded to Mr. Mays it was represented to him that he had fouled his opponent by striking him on the leg, which showed evidence of a deliberate intent to obstruct.

Upon hearing of this he voluntarily resigned the judges to award the race to Mr. Casady, claiming that he fouled him intentionally, but the judges, at Mr. Casady's request, refused to allow the same.

Baby is sick.—The woeful expression of a Des Moines teamster's countenance showed his deep anxiety was not entirely without cause, when he inquired of a doctor of the nature of his child's ailment.

"We give our baby Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," was the druggist's answer. "I don't like to give the baby such strong medicine," he said, "but Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, of the Waters-Talbot Printing Co., don't you?"

"His baby, when eighteen months old, got hot in the chest, had a dry cough, and he was very ill," said the father. "I gave him Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and he was cured in a few days."

Long Ward offers for sale one of the best farms of its size in Sherman county. It consists of 240 acres, well watered, with a never-failing spring of living water capable of watering five hundred head of stock daily.

The house is a large store building, with living rooms attached alone cost $1700. A blacksmith shop and other buildings and the whole surrounded by a good wood yard, with a large orchard on easy terms.

He wants it known.—Mr. J. H. Straub, a well known German citizen of Portland, Ore., has been afflicted with rheumatism.

He has been cured by Chamberlain's Pain Balm. One bottle of it cured him. His case was a very severe one. He suffered a great deal and now wants others similarly afflicted to know what cured him.

He says: "I have used Chamberlain's Pain Balm for a number of years and it cures me of all my rheumatism. I always keep a bottle of it in my house." For sale by Snipes & Kinersly.

He has now a stud of six ten thoroughbred runners. The new stallion is of the Ariel stock and is registered in Bruce's stud book.

Mr. Tripper intends to have a full exhibition of his stock at the next district fair. The CHRONICLE heartily wishes him success he deserves for improving the stock of Eastern Oregon.

Memorial Day. Memorial day was duly observed at the G. A. R. cemetery with the usual solemn memorial services. About the hour of two p. m. the members of the G. A. R. and W. R. C., formed in line on Second street under direction of A. G. Johnson.

For sale. A choice lot of brood mares; also a number of geldings and fillies by "Rockwood Jr.," "Planter," "Oregon Wilkes," and "Idaho Chief," same standard bred.

Also three fine young stallions, by "Rockwood Jr.," "Old First," "Iron Horse." For prices and terms call on or address either J. W. Condon, or J. H. Larsen, The Dallas, Oregon.

Notice. Having leased the Mount Hood hotel at Hood River, I would respectfully call the attention of the traveling public to the fact that the house is being thoroughly renovated and will be open for the reception of guests on or about May 1st, and I would most respectfully solicit a share of the patronage.

Notice. One fresh milk cow for sale, (good milkers). Apply at this office.

Our valuable little contemporary, The Dallas CHRONICLE, mistakes the attitude of the church in commenting upon the Sunday opening of the world's fair.

For the Week Ending, Saturday May 30, 1931. OREGON WEATHER BUREAU.

Cooler, partly cloudy weather with general rains prevailed since Tuesday; Sunday and Monday were very warm with east winds. The rains were heavier in Union county than in other sections.

On 25th and 26th thunder storms were quite general. On the 26th a south wind of unusual severity was experienced. In parts of Gilliam county, especially at Arlington, which did some damage. The rain-fall amounted to from .10 to .45 of an inch.

Secretary Foster appears to be getting what the boys call "rattled" over the condition of the treasury. To quiet the rumors spread by some of the boys he intended to extend the outstanding 4 1/2 percent bonds at 2 percent, instead of redeeming them when they mature.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—The May debt statement, to be issued Monday, will show an apparent increase of $250,000 in the debt since the last issue.

CONCEALING THEIR DEFICIENCIES. Why One Old Negro Could Not Write and Another Could Not Count.

"As each man presented himself at the cashier's window the paymaster asked the question whether he would sign his name or make his mark. If he was unable to write the paymaster, of course, subscribed the name and left a place for the man to place a cross."

"The man took a piece of paper, clumsily, dipped it in the ink, looked at it and then at the pay roll and finally laid it down on the desk."

"What time is it?" he asked, looking up at the paymaster. "It is just 10 o'clock," was the reply.

"Well, then," said the clerk, "I guess I ain't got time to write my name. I've got to meet a man at the custom house at 12 o'clock, and I guess I'll just make a cross."

"The custom house," said the New Orleans man, in conclusion, "is about ten minutes' walk from where the man was standing."

"That reminds me of a little experience I once had with a negro," said a brick manufacturer who lived in the little town up the Hudson, who chanced to be of the party.

"We called the man old Uncle Ned," continued the speaker. "He was a dear old white-headed fellow, with a bent back about seventy years old at the time the incident I am about to relate occurred."

"He had lived in a little shanty in the town for years and did odd jobs at whitewashing, masonry work and various other things."

"One day I wanted a man to stack some brick for me in piles of a thousand each, and to turn a little something in the way of Uncle Ned I hired him for the job."

"Can you count, Ned?" I asked him after I had told him what I wanted.
