What amazes me most is that all people the pew and Sabbath school class and redo not see that the entire movement at this formatory association and we in the pul time all over Christendom is satanic. Many of the infernal attacks are sly and hidden pits have to deal with? It is this: That God and strategic and so ingenious that they are not easily discovered. But here is a has somewhere, and it matters not where, but somewhere, provided a great heaven, great for quietness for those who want bold and uncovered attempt of the powers quiet; great for vast assemblage for those of darkness to split up the churches, to get who like multitudes; great for architecture ministers to take each other by the throat. for those who like architecture: great for to make religion a laughing stock of earth beautiful landscape for those who like and hell, to leave the Bible with no more beautiful landscape; great for music for respect or authenticity than an old almanac of 1822, which told what would be the for those who like armies on white horses, change of weather six months ahead and and great for anything that one especially in what quarter of the month it is best to desires in such a rapturous dominion; and plant turnips. In a word, the effort is to through the doings of one who was born stop the evangelization of the world. Great Men versus Change of Name. I notice the revival of the old story of the change young John Rowland made in his name and fortune when he substituted his Rowland with Stanley, and dropped John 276 and 278, Second Street. for Henry M., being now known to the world as the great African explorer. This reminds me that several of the great men known to science, literature, war and art were originally known by names almost wholly unknown to the world at large. Henry Wilson, vice president under Grant, was christened as Henry Colbath, and was known by that name until after the end of his nineteenth year. By a curious coincidence U. S. Grant, who was president at the time Wilson was vice, as above mentioned, was also a hero with a changed name. Prior to young Grant's eighteenth birthday "U.S. Grant" was a term unknown even in the embryo general's family. "H. U. Grant" would sound odd if written on the pages of history, but, in fact, would be proper. The great general was christened Hiram Ulysses Grant, and by the name of Hiram or "Hi" was known to all his school fellows.

Hon. T. L. Harmer, an ex-member of congress, is responsible for "U. S." Grant being thrust upon the world. It came about in this way: When the name of the aspiring young man was sent in as candi-date to West Point, by some oversight on the part of Mr. Harmer it was sent as "U. S." in place of "H. U." Grant. "U. S." Grant was appointed. When he graduated in 1848 his commission and diploma were both made out to "U. S." Grant, therefore he was forced to accept the inevitable. Jules Grevy, so well known as the late hats president of the French republic, is neither "Jules" nor "Grevy," but Judith Fancoir
