BURNED TO DEATH.

An Early Morning Fire at Seattle Causes the Death of One Man and Horrible Suffering of Others.

The End of a Venetian--Won an Opera Singer--A Schooler Run Down--Noble Has Not Resigned.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 30.—A fire nearly this morning broke out in the Montana library stables, completely destroying the stables together with a saloon and lodging house and three Chinese stores. Many of the occupants of the lodging house barely escaped with their lives. The charred remains of George Williams, a meat monger, was found in the ruins of a lodging house. He lay with his face down. A negro cook and his wife are at Providence hospital, probably fatally burned. Early this morning during the progress of the fire the negro jumped head first from the building. His form was covered with flames. As he fell his bones were heard to crack. The burned flesh hung in shreds from his quivering form. The woman also jumped and when she fell the blood streamed from her mouth, nose and ears. They were moved to the hospital and are suffering the most intense agony.

Burning the burning of one of the Chinese stores an explosion of fire crackers sounded like a war of artillery. A fireman came near losing his life. The horses that were turned loose from the Montana stables rushed madly through the streets causing the crowd to stampede frightfully. It required tremendous work to save the surrounding buildings. There were six buildings burned. The loss is $50,000. Insurance less than $10,000.

THE ONLY ONE HANGED.

The Last One of a Noted Lot of Murderers Meets His Death on the Scaffold.

HOUSTON, Tex., July 31.—Williams, a colored man was hanged today at the county jail. The crime for which Williams was executed was the killing of Dr. S. A. Shambler on the night of July 31st, 1888. He was the first murder that became a notable vendetta between what was then known as the "July Biry" and "Woodpecker" factions in Fort Bend county. The warfare existed two years between these factions exterminating whole families and scores of men were murdered during its reign. Williams was the only person who has met a judicial death. His execution was on the account of Dr. Shambler who was a prominent "July Bird" or democratic leader of the opposition to those who were controlling the political destiny of Fort Bend county at that time. Williams was a "Woodpecker," or republican. On the night of the assassination Dr. Shambler was holding family prayer near Richmond, Fort Bend county, when he was shot to death.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 31.—Superintendent of Insurance Pierce, upon receiving the report of the examination made by his deputy in the affairs of the Flour City Life Insurance association, of Rochester requested the attorney-general to take steps to dissolve the corporation on the ground of fraud. The deputy reported several officers of the Flour City Life Insurance association are already under arrest and indicted for forgery and fraud.

CLEVELAND, O., July 31.—Colonel S. C. Reynolds, the millionaire grain merchant of Toledo, has just returned from England, where he has succeeded in organizing a company with a capital of $2,500,000 to operate a line of steamers direct from Toledo and other Lake Erie ports to Liverpool.

The Russian Edict Not Suspended.

Noble Has Not Resigned.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Acting Secretary Chandler of the interior department stated very positively that the report which has been circulated that Secretary Noble had tendered his resignation was untrue.

Woman Suffrage Defeated.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., July 31.—The motion of Sir Henry Parkes in favor of granting the right of suffrage to women in New South Wales has been rejected by a vote of 57 to 34 by the legislative assembly.

Killed by an Explosion.

COBURN, Aug. 1.—An explosion today in the fireworks factory killed six people and injured many more.

THE SALMON CATCH.

Fishermen Estimate That It Will Not be as Light as Anticipated.

ASTORIA, July 29.—The heavy shortage in the 1891 salmon pack bids fair to be much less than has been predicted, and if the August catch comes anywhere near that of the past ten days the pack will be about the same as last year. Fishermen estimate the pack at the present time from 20,000 to 30,000 cases short of that of a corresponding period last season. A majority of the packers stating that the shortage will not exceed 30,000 cases. The light pack at the Cascades has been the prime factor in causing this shortage, as it is said to be 65,000 cases short of last season. Last week the run was very good, and some of the gill net men reported as high as 115 fish in a single night, but this run has slackened again and many boats came in today with but three or four fish. The high boat for season, so far as known has in 1890 1,600 fish, many boats have not 500. During the past month the gill-net men have been fishing well down toward the bar, but no live fish have been taken in the vicinity, and but four fatal accidents have occurred this season. The traps and seine have done well this season, a few of the traps clearing nearly $15,000. Ten arrests for illegal fishing were made last Saturday night and the lawbreakers fined from $10 to $100.

HIS SENTENCE COMMUTED.

A Retired Army Officer Who Pulled a Governor's Nose.

CAPE MAY, N. J., July 29.—The president this morning acted on several pardon cases, one of which was that of Captain George J. Armes. The occurrence which led to a trial by court-martial of Armes, created considerable excitement at the time. Armes at the inauguration of President Harrison, was a retired army officer, living in Washington. On inauguration day Armes received a fancied grievance from some Pennsylvania officials. A few evenings afterwards he met Governor Beaver, of Pennsylvania, in the lobby of a hotel, and publicly insulted him, even going so far as to pull his nose. Armes was tried by court-martial for conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman, and was found guilty and sentenced to dismissal from the army. The president subsequently commuted the sentence and ordered Armes to be restricted within a limit of fifty miles of the District of Columbia for three years. Upon recommendation of the secretary of war, the president has commuted this sentence, and Armes in future can go where he pleases.

POSSIBLE AMALGAMATION.

The Prohibition Ticket in Iowa May be Withdrawn.

DES MOINES, Ia., July 29.—Within the past few days facts have drifted to the surface in Iowa politics which would render it surprising if the prohibition ticket was withdrawn from the field. If the step is not taken it will be because of the 30,000 anti-prohibition republicans who vote the prohibition ticket and are afraid of losing it if they shoulder the prohibition burden outright. That negotiations have been pending for some time between the republicans and the prohibitionists looking toward amalgamation of the two parties is a fact. A circular has been issued by Thomas Orwig, the acknowledged leader of the prohibitionists, in which he attempts to feel the public pulse by praising the republican party, and hinting that in view of the fact that the republicans have in the past assisted the prohibitionists in their power, a return of the compliment would now be in order. His circular has led the democratic press of the state to make good the assertion that the republicans sold their party to the cold water men.

AN ANCIENT RELIC.

The Garment Supposed to Have Been Worn by the Savior to be Exhibited.

TRIER, Aug. 1.—The holy coat of Trier, the garment supposed to have been worn by our Savior, will be exhibited at the cathedral here for six weeks, commencing August 13. Fully 2,000,000 pilgrims are expected to visit Trier during that time. The relic is said to have been given as a present to the bishopric of Trier by St. Helen, mother of the emperor Constantine, upon the latter's conversion to Christianity. The robe itself is tunic, about five feet long, cut narrow at the shoulder, and gradually widening toward the feet. It is woven out of one piece without any seam. The material is supposed to have been linen, but great age prevents an exact examination. It is enclosed in a covering of purple and gold cloth, supposed to have been added some time in the seventh century in order to preserve the relic.

FOREBLY ABDUCTED.

CINCINNATI, July 29.—Two years ago Annie Allen, a former member of the Rosine Yoke company, married J. Clarence Harvey, of the Wilbur Opera Company. Recently she discovered that Harvey, or Duffy, which is his real name, had a wife in the States and another in Washington. She then left him. Duffy made several attempts to see her, but failed until today, when he met her on the street. With a revolver forced her into a carriage and she has not been seen since.

WANT A MILLION DOLLARS.

J. Kiernan and Friends Begin a Suit Against Banker Ladd for That Amount.

PORTLAND, Aug. 1.—A suit involving over a million dollars was begun today in the circuit court by J. Kiernan, et al., against the Portland Flouring Mills Company and W. S. Ladd, et al. Plaintiffs allege that they were stockholders in the original corporation of the Portland Flouring Mill Company which in 1883 became financially involved to W. S. Ladd. The company passed a resolution that Ladd, president, and James Steel, secretary, secure a purchaser for the property on which the mill stood as well as the mill. They allege that Ladd and Steel never made any effort to secure purchasers, but conveyed the property without any consideration and that Neal was simply Ladd's agent. Afterwards it is claimed W. S. Ladd, W. M. Ladd and C. A. Neal incorporated the new company, calling it the Portland Flouring Mills Co., and had the property conveyed to them by Neal. Plaintiffs claim that the entire transaction was fraudulent. They ask that the sale be set aside and that they may recover the profits made by the new corporation.

AN EXCITING EVENT.

Tenny and Longstreet Doing Battle at Morris Park.

MORRIS PARK, Aug. 1.—Surging, jostling, pushing, thousands assembled here today to see the battle for $12,000, the championship of the turf for Tenny and Longstreet admitted the best horses in training in America. A more perfect day could not have been made. The track was perfect. As the day wore on the betting was spirited with slight odds toward Tenny.

The other events on the programme which would have been interesting any other day paled into insignificance, and but one thought seemed to possess the 25,000 human beings present.

Frequent and anxious were the inquiries both as to the condition of the flyers and each inquiry was met by the assurance that they were fit to run for a life.

Inquiries also extended to the jockies and Hamilton who will ride Longstreet, and Barnes who will mount Tenny, were pronounced in better condition in keeping with the animals. Each jockey rode at 120 pounds.

Longstreet won by twelve lengths, time, 2:07 1/2.

TERRIBLE MASSACRE.

One Hundred and Fifty Men, Women and Children Were Slaughtered in a Small Village in Paraguay.

The Blood Thirsty Brutes Celebrate the Occasion by Wild Orgies--Bandit Bents at the Head of it all.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The morning papers say: "Harrowing details of a terrible massacre of inoffensive residents of an isolated village in Paraguay, by half savage natives reached this city by mail. According to advices 150 men, women and children were slaughtered, and then the butchers celebrated their victory in wild orgies. The affair occurred on the night of March 10th, and the news was delayed in reaching here by the lack of facilities for communication. The attacking band was headed by the notorious Bandit Bents and numbered about fifty men."

SUMMONED TO ARMS.

An Attempt by Speculators to Bring About a Decline in Securities.

BARCELONA, Aug. 3.—Great excitement was caused in this city last night by what was for a time believed to be a revolutionary movement by the republican party, but which subsequently proved to be a desperate attempt upon the part of certain speculators on the bourse to bring about a decline in the prices of securities. A band of 150 men armed with rifles and revolvers, slyly approached the buildings and attempted to surprise the guards, it being their intention to force their way into the barracks. For a short time a regular battle was fought and a number on both sides wounded. In the meantime the officers stationed at the barracks summoned the troops to arms and in a very short time the attacking party surrendered and the whole party placed under arrest. They will be tried by court martial and the chances are all will be shot.

$1,000,000 IN SMOKE.

A Chicago Dry Goods Store Destroyed by Fire--Covered by Insurance.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—A fire involving losses estimated to be at least $1,000,000, broke out this morning in the large retail dry goods store of Siegle, Cooper & Co. About twenty-five employees were in the building at the time, but all of them, as far as known, managed to escape uninjured, except one cash boy who was on the third floor. He started to come down the fire escape but fell, receiving severe injuries. There were three watchmen in the building who have not been accounted for. The building was entirely gutted and the north wall fell in under the interior of the iron works softened by the heat. The firm carried a stock worth $500,000. The loss is believed to be covered by insurance.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

The diversified opinions of the press of the country on the renomination of Governor Campbell by the Ohio democrats and the adoption of a platform favoring a revenue tariff, free coinage of silver and a graduated income tax ought to make a very interesting chapter for the readers of the CHRONICLE. The Philadelphia Press (rep.) says: "The Ohio platform brings the country face to face with the real question of the Ohio field of party, in the act of July 14, 1890, published in the sound economic policy of using silver at its market price to the full amount of the American product as a basis of currency. Any currency based on metal valued above its market price is by that extra price a phantom currency. The one safe basis for currency is a metal taken at its market price in the world's market. Democratic success will mean free silver just as democratic success would have meant, fifteen years ago, the repeal of the resumption act and free greenbacks." The Baltimore Sun (dem.) says: "The free silver plank in the Ohio platform was adopted against the protest of nearly half the convention, as a public sentiment is developed it will be found that these sections in which free coinage is strongest the party is divided in a way that forbids the idea of unanimity. A declaration of doctrine made by so slight a majority as in Ohio, practically amounts to very little as an expression of party principle and is calculated to do far more harm than good. Those whom it is intended to court are not likely to be fully satisfied with a pronouncement that virtually comes from but one-half the party and which they may be inclined to think, is made only for political effect, while many independent voters who vote with the democrats on all other issues will be likely to be frightened off by one which they consider pregnant with menace." The New York Press (rep.) says: "As a matter of fact the adoption of a plank in favor of free coinage of silver was effected by a bargain between the silver men and the democrats of Ohio. At the meeting of the National Silver Executive committee held in this city a week or ten days before the Ohio democratic convention, it was agreed that a large sum of money, at least half a million dollars, should be raised and poured into Ohio for the democrats if they would adopt a free coinage plank and make that one of the leading issues of the campaign. Agents from the committee went direct to Ohio and were in attendance on the democratic convention, and the free silver plank was the result." The Denver News (dem.) says: "In dealing with the silver question the Ohio democracy rises to an attitude of moral and intellectual grandeur. There is no evasion. It scorns the sneaking pusillanimous attitude of its republican predecessor which nominated McKinley and extolled the virtues of the present law—impotent for everything except injury to the silver cause and injustice to miners everywhere. If Campbell wins, the national conventions of both parties will be forced to approve free coinage and President Harrison will not dare to veto such a measure when passed by the coming congress. Three cheers for Campbell and the free and unlimited coinage of silver!"

A ROAD ITSELF THE IMPORTANT THING.

The Portland Telegram puts the case fairly and well when it says, "It is natural for the people and papers of The Dalles to desire the portage road built on the Oregon side of the river, but this is not the important feature of the question. Other things being equal, all the people of Oregon would prefer the road to be built on the Oregon side. Yet the important thing is the road itself, not the river or the other. That is a matter for honest, capable, unprejudiced opinion to determine. We hope their decision may favor the Oregon side; but if the other side is the best there it must go." So far as this journal is concerned it has never asked more than this. A portage road around The Dalles and Celilo is for the benefit of the country east of here and not specially for this city. So far as we are concerned we will have an outlet to Portland and Astoria even if the road in question should never be built. While not ignoring the fact that a road on this side would greatly benefit this city we hope we are more anxious for an open river than for any special benefit that might accrue from its location in Oregon. At the same time a portage on this side that would tap Sherman county would be a paying investment if they had a hundred roads on the other side, and believing that such a road can be built and operated for nearly half the cost of one in Washington we believe that in the long run it will be built here."

THE TYGH HILL ROAD.

Mr. William McCorkle, the Tygh Valley miller, is in the city. From him we learn with regret that nothing has been done for a long time regarding the opening of the Tygh Mountain road.

The people whose interests are most deeply concerned are those who treat the matter with the greatest indifference. Subscription lists sent to prominent points in and around Tygh Valley brought little or no response. Mayor Mays put down his name for $150, A. J. Dufur $100 and Mr. McCorkle $75, and a few others smaller sums and then the matter came to a dead stop. We are sorry for this indifference and still think a better organized effort might have done better. The getting of subscriptions was left over much to that shiftless person known as "everybody." A mass meeting ought to be held and a committee appointed, of enterprising and active citizens, who would be willing to sacrifice a little time on a work of such importance. There is not a doubt in the world that The Dalles would help liberally and just as little that the county court would do the same. But really the people directly interested must do some rustling themselves or they will never get the road opened. "God helps those who help themselves." The road is needed as everyone knows. Mr. McCorkle says: "I have traveled on foot from the Columbia river to the isthmus of Panama and on nearly every road from the Pacific Ocean to the Rocky Mountains and there is no road in America as bad as the road over Tygh Hill."

OREGON OUGHT TO HAVE A PORTAGE.

One thing is certain, if the present agitation for a portage around the Dalles should result in nothing being done till the next meeting of the legislature we can, without a question, obtain an appropriation from the legislature to build one on the Oregon side. If the question were carried into the next campaign no man could go to the legislature from any county in Eastern Oregon, bordering upon the Columbia river who would not pledge himself to vote for an appropriation. More than this, if the state portage at the Cascades is a success, as we fully expect it to be, and another around the Dalles can be built and equipped for anything like the sum of Engineer Norton's estimate, we see no reason in the world why the legislature would not make an appropriation of a quarter of a million so that Oregon could have a portage of her own. If a competent survey had been made before the meeting of the last legislature, we have not a doubt in the world that an appropriation would have been made and the road would now be in process of construction.

A TOUGH STORY.

A paragraph is going the rounds of the Oregon press that contains some very interesting figures on the sheep industry of Eastern Oregon. These figures are the same in every instance—and we have met them in fully half a dozen exchanges—else we should have supposed that some printer had blundered. The number of sheep in Eastern Oregon is given every time as 150,000 and the number of pounds of wool produced by these some 150,000 sheep is $78,123 pounds. The amount is an average of very nearly sixty pounds of wool to each sheep. The story is a little tough, but then the editors, some of whom employ the passing moments in writing learned essays on the destructive effects of the Hessian fly on the orchards of the country, have said it and it must be true. Still it's tough as we remarked before.
