Cashier Holmes was in the bank alone, when a man entered and asked how much money John Smith of Portland had on deposit, upon the cashier saying no such man had any deposit there, the visitor drew his pistol and covering the cashier said: "You are a damned liar." At this juncture two confederates came up horse back and one of them sitting on his horse with a pistol in each hand, warned the people back. The other entered the bank and poured into a sack all the money on the counter about thirty-five hundred dollars in all. The three men then escaped to the mountains in the direction of Carnicopia. A posse is now in pursuit, but as the country is sparsely settled their capture is doubtful. Four thousand dollars in the bill under the counter was not found by the robbers.

In the midst of the services Durning drove up in his buggy, Fussell went out to meet him. ## BAKER CITY TIRED OF THE PUMPING SYSTEM.

Baker City, a town that has a population somewhat like The Dalles in number, some years ago adopted the pumping system for her water works. It may be interesting to the readers of the CHRONICLE to know that the citizens have found it an expensive luxury and from paragraphs that have been printed from time to time in the newspapers of that city it would appear that some of them are heartily sick of it. The annual election for city officers will take place on November 2nd and S. A. Heiler has announced himself a candidate to succeed Mayor McCord on the following platform given in his own words in the pages of the Democrat: "The people of Baker City, I think, fully understand my position on the water question. I have all along advocated going away with the pumping system at the water works. It is ruinous to the treasury of the city. It is extravagant and the city cannot bear the expense. I would urge the securing of water southward of the city at an altitude to supply the city from a mammoth reservoir and with adequate force through pipes for fire protection. This would prove a great saving to the city." Commenting on this statement of Mr. Heiler, the Democrat says: "It must be admitted that the pumping system is expensive." Here is a city that has tried a system that about ten per cent. of the taxpayers of The Dalles wanted us to adopt and roundly abused the other ninety per cent. because they could not have their way. Now some of the Bakerites are willing to incur the necessary cost of rectifying their former blunder and establishing the very system that The Dalles has adopted. Should Baker City conclude to make this a test question the election on November 2nd will have a feature of peculiar interest for the people of The Dalles.

WONDER OF NATURE.

Latest Advice Say the Salton Sea May Form a New Channel.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 10.—Dr. P. G. Cotter, of Yuma, is in this city. He says it is estimated that nine-tenths of the Colorado river is flowing into Salton. Nevertheless the sea has not increased, but has lowered about three inches. It is now from four to seven feet in depth in various places. The Colorado river is very heavily charged with solids and will precipitate half an inch of alluvium to every six feet of water. The matter is being constantly washed down the river, and is forming a bank in the river bed just beyond the break so that shortly the entire body of the river will be turned into the Salton sea. The winter floods, he thinks, will raise the Salton sea until it becomes a lake 300 feet in depth and 150 miles long and find its outlet through the bed of the new river into the Gulf of Mexico. Southern Pacific engineers have examined the river break with a view to finding a way to turn the river back. They reported that such could be done by piling, but that it would be too expensive a job for the company to undertake. Dr. Cotter says the people of Yuma are glad of the chance. The new sea will be a benefit to the climate, as well as provide them with a new method of transportation, since vessels could come into the sea from the Gulf of California.

BUTCHER'S ASSOCIATION.

A Plant to be Established in the South in Opposition to Armour and Swift.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 10.—Next Thursday the executive committee of the National Butchers Association will meet at St. Louis to perfect a scheme that is likely to far-reaching in its effects. It will be the organization of a supply plant at Dallas, Tex., which will furnish the 50,000 members of the association with all the beef, lard or dressed, that they may require. The project is in opposition to the Armour and Swift concerns, and was formulated at the meeting of the association held in Pittsburg some months ago. The committee had been offered $300,000 to locate the plant at Dallas. Of this sum $200,000 has been subscribed by the Dallas Board of Trade, and the other $100,000 by the city council. President Charles James, of St. Louis, is at the head of the committee, and J. F. Bellestein and William Hackenberger are the Pittsburg members. The entire committee will go to Dallas to formally accept the city's terms.

Wouldn't Give up the Office.

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 12.—The treasurer and comptroller are required by law to meet today in the treasurer's office to fix the value on non-resident stock in banks and insurance companies for taxation. His morning Comptroller Snub (dem.) appeared accompanied by Mr. H. Sanger, democratic candidate for treasurer at the state election. The treasurer's office is still occupied by Henry (republican). Sanger was refused admission as treasurer, but was told he could enter as a citizen. He and the comptroller then met as a board outside of the treasurer's office and adjourned until 2 o'clock, to meet at the comptroller's office. This action is likely to complicate the collection of the yearly state taxes.

An Express Train Wrecked.

COLFAX, Calif., Oct. 12.—The west-bound fast mail train on the Central Pacific, left the track three miles west of Colfax at three o'clock this morning. Wires are down and the extent of the damage at present is unknown. The train consisted of four sleeping cars, one baggage and two mail cars. One sleeper broke from the train and rolled down an embankment about fifty feet. The porter of this car was badly injured. The train had between eighty and one hundred passengers many of whom were scratched and bruised but no fatalities are thus far reported. The cause of the accident was the loosening of a rail on a curve which is believed to be the work of unknown parties. It is supposed the Dalton gang caused the wreck for the purpose of robbery.

of this kind would be very popular in Eastern Oregon, and that the legislature, if convened, would pass such a law or rather make sufficient appropriation to put the law we have into effect. For it will not be forgotten that the Watkin's bill gave the state authority to build both portages, but only appropriated sufficient money to build one. The Norton survey has demonstrated that the portage question can be built for much less than the last legislature seemed more than half inclined to give, had the measure not been killed by those who ought to have been his best friends. If a special session were called and the bill passed the road could be easily built and in operation before next harvest. We believe this matter is worthy of serious consideration and would like to hear what our Eastern Oregon exchanges have to say about it.

The state of Louisiana must be in a bad way, morally, when all the other issues of the political campaign now in progress are forgotten in the presence of the question of amending the constitution so as to recharter the nefarious Louisiana lottery swindle. It is a question that should not be entertained for a moment yet leading papers of the state are urging the acceptance of the lottery company's offer of an annual bonus of $1,250,000 in consideration of a recharter that shall last twenty-five years. One is less surprised at this moral obliquity when it is remembered that Louisiana has 127,444 voters that can neither read nor write.

Major Ingalls again requests us to urge the fruit growers of this section to send him some more samples, within the next two days, so that Waco's exhibit at the exposition may be kept up in good condition as possible to the last. Every day more or less decayed fruit belonging to the exhibit has to be thrown away, hence the necessity of renewals. It is undoubtedly a cheap and effective way of advertising the resources of this neighborhood and we hope a suitable response will be made to this last request. Anything left at the CHRONICLE office will be duly forwarded.

A rumor has gained currency in Washington that V. G. Bogue is interested in a syndicate that has purchased the Hunt road. Is not this the Mr. Bogue that the Portland chamber of commerce sent up to examine the two proposed routes for a portage road around the dalles of the Columbia? And if so, is not the selection of Mr. Bogue a little peculiar? If all the reports are true concerning Mr. Bogue's interest in roads that are reaching out for the trade of the Sound he would be the last man in the world who would want to see an open river.

Denmark has followed Germany in deciding to receive all American pork that bears the United States certificate of inspection. No law recently enacted has been productive of so much immediate benefit as that requiring a government inspection of meats. It has given our meat and meat products a standing in Europe which they never had without it.

THE JOKE OF THE CENTURY.

The Portland Dispatch publishes the following which many up this effort will regard as the most original effort at newspaper wit that Eury Nolton has composed on a long-suffering public for many days. We give it a permanent place in the pages of the CHRONICLE that future generations may see what thoroughbred asses inhabited the globe during the last decade of the nineteenth century: "The Oregonian has another 'second fiddle' something like Moffet, managing for it The Dalles Daily Chronicle. But his task is comparatively an easy one, all he is required to do is to say editorial 'amen' to everything published by the Oregonian. He gets weekly instructions what to do in advance and all that he is required to do is to carry them out. As proof of this statement we simply desire to introduce any copy of that paper for reading. The Dalles Daily Chronicle is not the only outside paper owned by the Oregonian."

They have a test method over in Canada of discovering whether a man is drunk or not. When he can pronounce "reciprocity" without tripping, the police let him go. That's a serious innovation. General Iala a man is considered sober as long as he can lie on the ground without a hold.

The same judge who sentenced Sandy Olds to one year in the penitentiary for the deliberate murder of a human being gave a man three years the other day in the same place of punishment, for stealing two salmon. Is it any wonder the farmers' alliance want to turn the government machine for a little while?

The country ought to be satisfied now that Mr. Blaine is a sick man when we find a statement to that effect in an official communication of the president to the Canadian government.

The Portland Chamber of Commerce has made a new move in the matter of raising money to enable Oregon to be suitably represented at the World's Fair.

Reopening of Wesley's Chapel. The arrangements for the formal reopening of Wesley's chapel have finally been made. The re-opening is not to take place until the return of the president of the conference and others from the first fortnight in November. The new superintendent is resolved to make John Wesley's pulpit a center of light and influence in London and contemporaries inviting the leading preachers of the day in connection with all the churches and to deliver sets of sermons on consecutive Sunday mornings. The musical part of the services is likely to be one of the chief attractions of London. Just now the chapel is the rendezvous of American Methodists who are being attracted to it in large numbers.

Washington, Oct. 10.—The supreme court of the territory of Utah in a recent opinion held the act of congress of February 25, 1888, prohibiting the enclosure of public lands did not apply to sections sixteen and thirty-six (school sections) in Utah. This construction of the law was not satisfactory to the Interior department officials, and Acting Secretary Chandler has requested the attorney-general, if the request be approved by him, to instruct the United States district attorney for Utah to take an appeal, if it can be done, and also to commence proceedings in every case of enclosure of school sections by persons not entitled to them.

Austria's Appropriations. VIENNA, Oct. 10.—At a meeting of the cabinet ministers, summoned to discuss the proper course to be taken by Austria at the Columbia fair in Chicago, it was decided the state would furnish 15,000 florins to aid that country's exhibit there.
