FRIDAY, - - - JANUARY 1, 1892.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

The Prineville News says W. F. Helm has moved his family from Wasco county to Prineville.

The business men of the city have agreed to postpone collection day till next Monday.

The physician in attendance on R. E. Saltmarsh, who has been seriously ill for some time, reports that he is improving.

B. Wolf shipped yesterday to San Francisco by the D. P. and A. N. Co.'s boats and Yaquina Bay route, 50 bales of wool and seventy-five hides.

The Christian Endeavor society will hold a prayer meeting tomorrow, New Year's morning at 9 o'clock, at the residence of Rev. W. C. Curtis. All are invited.

The board of trade of this city is about to issue a circular letter, copies of which will be sent to prominent persons in the states of Oregon, Washington and Idaho, with the request that they procure a liberal number of signatures to them and have them forwarded to their respective representatives in Washington.

The letters will urge upon the delegation from the three states that they do everything in their power to procure an appropriation for the construction of a portage railway between The Dalles and Celilo. The letter sets forth that the portage road at the Cascades, which has been built by the state at a cost of $60,000 and which was not in operation till about the 10th of September last has, since that time, saved in freight charges to the people tributary to that portion of the river, lying between The Dalles and the Cascades, nearly, if not quite the entire cost of construction.

There will be services of the German Lutheran congregation on December 31st, at 7:30 p. m. and on New Year's day at 10:30 a. m. A cordial invitation is extended to all by A. Horn, pastor.

W. H. Moore of Dufur is in the city, awaiting the arrival of his wife and three children from Western Iowa. They intend to make Dufur their future home, and Mr. Moore will open a wagon shop at that place in the coming spring.

E. Jacobsen & Co., are selling their complete stock of books in sets at cost. All other standard poems or novels in proportion, also stationary. We never are beaten in prices, and respectfully ask the public to call and get our prices.

Prineville held an election a short time ago and when the smoke of battle was cleared away it was found that every man elected was a republican. The town is democratic by a large majority but the fight was strictly non-partisan. It was simply the choice of the people.

The wind blew quite a gale at about 3 o'clock Tuesday morning. We expect to hear that numerous fences have been laid low. The front wall of the brick building owned and occupied by E. P. Fitzgerald before the fire, was blown in and leveled with the ground. The velocity of the wind was 45 miles an hour.

A meeting of delegates from various farmers' alliances in Eastern Oregon will be held in Pendleton on the 6th of January for the purpose of discussing the advisability of purchasing the right to produce rain in five counties in Eastern Oregon, by the Melbourne process. One delegate will go from this neighborhood.

The many friends of C. P. Halloway will be glad to learn from our dispatches of his escape from the wreck on the Union Pacific, near La Grande Tuesday night. Mr. Halloway is U. S. mail clerk and junior vice department commander of Oregon G. A. R. It was reported on the streets yesterday morning that Mr. Halloway had been fatally injured.

The CHRONICLE calls the attention of its readers to the advertisement of J. C. Baldwin in another place in this issue. The people of The Dalles ought to know Mr. Baldwin well enough to be assured that any statement he may make about his goods can be relied on. When Mr. Baldwin says he is selling out at cost the public may depend upon it that he is telling the truth. We advise purchasers to give him a call before buying elsewhere.

Some human hog broke into Hans Hansen's cellar last Saturday night and succeeded in turning everything in it upside down, without apparently getting what he wanted. If he was after liquor he searched in the wrong place. Hans never keeps his liquor in the cellar. The pork barrel too was empty as the nice fat hog that Hans bought Saturday morning lay uncut on the kitchen table. Hans says he has always a square meal for any decent hungry man but he has nothing but buckshot for such as visited him Saturday night.

The Oregon Alpine club is practically dead. It was organized in 1887 and at one time had a membership of 375 persons. The object of the club, as stated in the amended constitution, was the foundation and maintenance of a public museum and advancement and encouragement of amateur photography, alpine and aquatic exploration and the protection of our game, fish, birds and animals. Through its efforts a law was passed prohibiting the ruthless destruction of explore the Olympic mountains in the summer of 1890. The club had acquired a valuable collection of curios, besides birds, animals and mineral specimens, which it is proposed to turn over to any society which will agree to carry on the work within the state and assume a small indebtedness of $800.

Complaints have been made at this office about boys who practice shooting off air guns and sling shots in the streets to the danger of store windows and pedestrians. If the boys must have fun of this kind let them indulge it in back yards or alleys where they can do no injury. We understand there is an ordinance prohibiting such practices on the public streets under a penalty of $5. These boys had better beware or some of them will be caught up.

E. Jacobsen and Hugh Chrisman called at the grange store this morning and said they were collecting money to bury a poor man who had lately died in this city, leaving a wife and five children. Chandler looked Jacobsen, who was spokesman, full in the eye and then coolly said: "Jacobsen you are lying, I might believe you are lying, but I don't believe you are in." Jacobsen protested he was telling the truth. Then said Mr. Chandler "there is half a dollar. I'll watch you fellows. If you take a drink or buy a cigar till the new year is over, I'll find it out and make it cost you two and a half piece." But Teachers' Meeting. Yesterday at 10 o'clock a. m. a number of teachers met in the superintendent's office in answer to a call previously sent out by him, to discuss a plan for grading the schools of the county, which had been formulated by a committee at a previous meeting held on December 12th.

The day was spent in going over step by step, the work of the committee and several changes were made. A resolution was finally passed instructing the superintendent to have the plan of grading, as amended, published in the county papers and to have a sufficient number of copies printed in pamphlet form to supply the teachers of the county, and that the whole matter be referred to the teachers convened at the next county institute. In the meantime the fullest discussion of the subject is invited by the public. To the teachers present the superintendent expressed his thanks for their

WAMIC ITEMS.

WAMIC, Or., Dec. 29, 1891.

Editor of the Chronicle:

In last week's issue of the Sun, the editor of that paper seems to indulge in some loud-mouthed and abusive talk, language, that no decent journal would think of inserting. Does he think for a moment that the readers of his insignificant sheet are devoid of common sense when he tries to palm off on them, that the Sun is the strongest advocate today of the people's line of boats? yet it prefers to let it work out its own salvation by letting the course of its managers speak for itself. They charge that the Sun is under control of the Union Pacific, is sensible and will merit the attention it deserves. The CHRONICLE as a paper, the Sun has no fault to find with, yet its whole article was a pitiful attempt at a tirade of abuse against the CHRONICLE, charging it with receiving a goodly portion of its freight by the Union Pacific transportation line. Common sense teaches us otherwise. Are we not aware that the principle stock-holders in that paper are also share holders in the Register and to say that they would work against their own interest is too nonsensical to mention. Keep your yuck, brother Gourlay, "gullible" us, if that is what they call it. You have got the Register as the people's boat to triumph on the river, so will you get the CHRONICLE as the people's paper to triumph over all its opponents. HAY SEED.

Installation of Officers.

A very enjoyable time was had last evening by the members of Wasco Lodge No. 15, A. F. & A. M., with their families, it being the occasion for the installation of the officers of the lodge, and also for the celebration of the annual festival of St. John, the evangelist. Shortly after 8 o'clock Past Master R. F. Gibbons assisted by W. S. Myers as marshal, duly installed the following list of officers for the ensuing Masonic year, viz: Geo. C. Blakeley, W. M.; D. L. Cates, S. W.; H. Clough, J. W.; Geo. A. Liebe, Treas.; O. D. Duane, Secy.; I. L. Burget, S. D.; H. Heen, J. D.; A. Larsen, S. S.; E. Schanno, J. S., and R. G. Closter, Tyler. The ceremonies of installation were followed by a brief programme of addresses interspersed with music, after which, those present to the number of nearly one hundred, repaired to the banquet hall where an elegant repast was served, following which games and social intercourse filled the time till a late hour.

The Lane County Leper.

J. H. Babcock, the McKenzie man afflicted with leprosy has been taken away from Lane county and shipped on board a lumber vessel bound for the Sandwich Islands. A cabin was built on the deck of the vessel and the man will be confined in it till his arrival at Honolulu, after which he will be taken to the government leper hospital till the regular semi-annual gathering of lepers takes place when he will be removed to Molachi, the permanent home of the lepers of those islands. Babcock's father and mother live on the islands, from which it appears he escaped without their knowledge. Babcock was quite willing to be removed. His relatives are wealthy and he will receive the best of care. He may live from ten to twenty years, the most of the time being free from any pain whatever. The people of Lane county, where he has been a public charge, were glad to get rid of him.

The Whine of a Plug Hat Assured.

THE DALLES, Dec. 29, 1891.

I see that the four-bit, plug hat editor thinks he is badly used because he does not get the printing of The Dalles, Portland & Astoria Navigation Co. Does he want the earth? Or, rather, as he has the railroad does he want the river thrown in. Even if he did own $200 in the new boats, pray how much do the owners of the CHRONICLE have in them? Take out what the owners of the CHRONICLE have in the enterprise and how much would there be left? Not enough to build a wharf. But apart from this consideration altogether if the printing was worth a hundred dollars a minute the CHRONICLE deserves it every cent. YANK M.

School Report.

SCHOOL HOUSE, Dec. 24, 1891. District No. 17, Wasco Co., Or. Following are the names of the pupils who were neither absent nor tardy during the month ending December 18th, 1891: S. Floyd Bolton, Alida Hermans, Annie Jakshu, Leona Collier. And those who missed only one day are Andy Jaksha, John Osborn, Edna Osborn and Maude Brooks.

JOHN A. HAYLOCK, Teacher.

Is This So?

KINGSLEY, December 26, 1891.

We are reliably informed this morning that since the Union Pacific has failed to drive the people's boats off the river and is obliged to tie up the D. S. Baker for lack of patronage, the company has sold her to the Chilean government. Is this so? Is it a case of rule or ruin with them? Yours, DAN McCOSTY, JR.

A New Drug Firm.

On the first day of the new year the business so long successfully conducted into the hands of three young men of this city who are well and favorably known. The style of the new firm will be Byrne, Helm & Co. The senior member of the firm is a graduate of the Ontario college of pharmacy who has had eight years experience as a druggist. During the six months or so that Mr. Byrne has been in this city he has made many warm friends. The second member of the firm Ed Helm was raised in this county almost from childhood and needs no introduction. Everybody knows Ed, and everybody likes him. The same may be said of the "Co." who is no other than Stacey Shown. If popularity meant success, and it has a great deal to do with success, then the success of the new firm is assured beyond question. The firm will make a specialty of druggist prescriptions which will be filled at all hours of the day or night. In this connection it may be proper to say that Mr. Byrne sleeps back of the store and the ringing of the bell on the front door will wake him up at any time. Another special feature of the new business will be their cigar stock. They claim that they will keep nothing but the best brands in the market and the best for any given price to be found in the city. A full line of perfumery and toilet requisites, patent medicines and all articles usually kept in a first class drug store will always be kept on hand. In the matter of wines and liquors for medicinal use nothing but the very best of everything in that line will be kept, as anyone having occasion to purchase wines and liquors can easily prove. The CHRONICLE predicts that the new firm of Byrne Helm & Co., will at once step to the front as the most popular drug store in the city.

World's and National Convention of the W. C. T. U.

No such gathering of women is recorded in the annals of history as that which met recently in Boston in the interest of "God and home and native land" and of all lands. Representatives of forty-eight states and territories of our country, also delegates from Australia, Africa, China, Japan, India, New Foundland, England and France. A prominent business man remarked that there were 20,000 people in Boston on account of the W. C. T. U. convention. It is coming to be the greatest organized force in the world. The convention proper continued one week. The last evening was occupied with a Demorest medal contest which was fine as to style. Francis Willard says of these contests we have not yet begun to appreciate the good these contests are doing. A lady who has labored in this kind of work in Washington the past year says the contests have done more good in building up a higher standard of living and it is an educational force. The local W. C. T. U. of The Dalles hopes to bring these contests before the people in the near future and hopes all interested will be willing to take part in the work.

DIED.

Of typhoid pneumonia, at the residence of Mr. Leonard in this city, on Dec. 30, Miss Winnie De Land, aged 18 years. The funeral took place from the Episcopal Church this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Christmas tree held at Union church last Thursday evening was a grand festival for the little folks, and the hearts of many adults were made glad. Every child in Prineville was the recipient of some gift presented by a committee appointed for that purpose. And in this connection we venture the assertion that there is not another town or community in our great state of Oregon that has more of the milk of human kindness and generosity than has our little town of Prineville. The children most needing presents were the ones that were bounteously remembered by the committee, and that too by presents that were useful. The ears of the citizens of our little burg are ever open to the wants of the needy; and while many of the citizens of our town may not belong to the orthodox associations of our town, they are ever ready to donate to the support of those associations provided they are treated with courtesy. 'Tis evident that our corporation believes that "It is more blessed to give than to receive." - Ochozo Review.

It has taken a quarter of a century to establish the fact that the mines of Union and Baker counties are remarkably rich and permanent. The Daily Democrat of Baker City reports as follows: White Swan, two months run, two stamps $35,000; Baisley-Elkhorn, 15 days, 3 stamps 10,000; Bonanza, 3 stamps 1,500. Total 46,500. An average of over $1,125 a day for five stamps. Show these figures in Portland. Hang this banner on the outer wall.

Two darlings 75 years of age each went tripping to the hyemal altar in Douglas county last week. They were Colonel J. Martin and Mrs. Margaret Trible. Hand in hand the loving couple waltzed to their funny-moon, the Welkin of Douglas county resounding with friendly cheers, and the house of joy redolent nectar of young rosebuds and spring tokens. Hooray for Colonel Martin and his bride.

At the Indian school at Chemawa, there are twenty-one boys and twenty-four girls on the sick list, the majority of whom suffer from la grippe. The only death during the recent spell of sickness was a Hoopa valley Indian, who

MARKET REVIEW.

THURSDAY, December 31, 1891.

The late rains and stormy weather have quite paralyzed all kinds of traffic with the interior, and what is done is merely local. The holiday trade has been more brisk than usual and our merchants have realized more than their expectations in that line of business. The large stocks of notions and novelties are very much reduced, and in some instances requirements have prompted sorting up. The receipts of freights by steamer and rail have been very light for the past week; anticipating a brisk movement in mercantile lines, dealers have put in large stocks early in the season, and the dull, stormy weather has checked inquiries for merchandise. As a consequence, stocks remain quite full in general. Money is still easy, the inquiry for short or long loans being limited. We hear of one long time loan being made on 7 per cent. per annum, although the regular rate is 10 per cent. In the provision line there is a fair supply at prices on former quotations. With the exception of eggs the market is not as strong and a decline in these is noted, as they are coming in more freely. The grocery trade remains quiet without any material change in prices. The wheat market is still weak, although a slight advance is mentioned in Portland. This, however, is only temporary. There is very little interest manifested in the market this week, owing to the holiday rush, and consequently very little, if any, change is apparent. The foreign market is steady, but the lack of activity indicates that the first of the new year will bring a drop in the price of grain.

WHEAT—We quote 80 to 86 cents per bushel. OATS—The oat market is short of supply. We quote 1.00 cents to $1.10 per cental. BARLEY—The barley supply is fairly good with a limited inquiry.
