We are now within three months of a new harvest and, contrary to general expectation, everything indicates that the country will carry over into the new season the largest stock of old wheat it has ever had at the end of a shipping season.

In the course of his oration at the laying of the corner stone of the Grant monument at New York on the 28th, Channing M. Dewey used the following striking words: "The phenomenon of our times and one of the chief dangers to law and order is the growth of our school of despair."

Another railroad is talked of that will interest the people of this section. This time it is a narrow gauge system whose center is at Yakima city with branches reaching to Priest Rapids; to Natchez Pass; to Sunnyside station and to Goldendale.

Senator Stewart, who is one of the most ardent of the free coinage men, wants other people to adopt the silver standard, but gold is good enough for him.

The town of Belden in Northern Michigan is aflame over the teachings of a religious sect called Christadelphians, or Brethren of Christ, whose prophet and leader, a woman called Esther, and her man Mordecai, have announced that the end of the world will take place next Tuesday.

Dr. Blalock, of Walla Walla, proposes to have a water melon day at the world's fair. He intends to plant a large acreage of water melons next year, load up a whole train of cars with them and when he gets them there give them away to eastern visitors who may be skeptical about the resources of the far west.

It is reported that Objector Holman is determined to make a very strong fight against the river and harbor bill when it comes up in the house. He thinks he will have strength enough to defeat it and if he does Oregon will have something to say about democratic liberality on the sixth of June.

The Washington Independent comes out squarely in favor of a portage road to be built by the state of Washington on the north side of the dalles of the Columbia. The Independent is in favor of voting only for such men as can be trusted to work for the passage of a law to meet the case.

History constantly repeats itself because human nature never changes. What men have done under certain circumstances others may be reckoned upon to do under like circumstances. History is full of instances where the generation that succeeded that which hounded a man to his death held an apotheosis over his ashes.

The gross inequalities that exist in the matter of the salaries of public officers in this state are forcibly illustrated by the fact that a justice of the peace in Portland legally makes more than a justice of the supreme court in Salem, a clerk of the court more than the two judges, a recorder of conveyances more than ten good book keepers could get in business offices, and a sheriff more than all the others put together.

Silver is now cheaper than it ever was in the history of the world and this in spite of the fact that the Sherman law was intended to create a market for all the silver produced in the United States. It is absurd to say, as some do whose theories on finance do not square with this fact, that silver does not decline in value; it is gold that has increased.

Bob Burdette never misses the truth very far when he says anything as the following paragraph will show. He says: "What this country needs is a class of reformers who don't have to stop every fifteen minutes and explain a little distressing crookedness in their own records. This is what impedes the progress of our mighty reform so like thunder."

The supreme court has reversed the decision of Judge Boise in the matter of the "saw dust" section of the act to protect salmon and other food fishes. An action was brought to test the matter and Judge Boise held that the section was void because the constitution provides that every act shall embrace but one subject and matter properly connected therewith in its title.

General Weaver is engaged for sixteen speeches in this state. He will speak once in each of sixteen counties. Mrs. Lease, the woman orator of Kansas who took J. J. Ingalls' scalp, is now in Washington, but will be here with General Weaver.

40,000 bushels of wheat were sold in Walla Walla the other day for 70 cents a bushel loaded on the cars. This is regarded as an excellent price as the market now is, but the wheat is reported to be of especially good-grade.

From this time on there will be no more lotteries in Kentucky. The governor has signed the anti-lottery act, and it has become a law.

You can buy Standard Mowers, Reapers, Rakes, or anything in the implement line, as cheap from J. M. Filloon & Co., as if you were in Portland. They keep an unlimited supply of extras for all machines sold by them. Opposite Brooks & Beers. 4-22wtf

A Card.

We, a committee of the Eight-Mile Farmer's Alliance, having investigated a charge made against one of our members, namely, J. E. McCormick, of having, at the late republican county convention of this county, voted for a man who had, as a member of the Oregon legislature betrayed the interests of his constituents, have been pleased to find that the charge was without any foundation in fact, and that the blame rightfully attaches to other parties.
