

The Weekly Chronicle.

THE DALLES, OREGON

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

From the Daily Chronicle, Friday.

Farmers are busy preparing for the harvest next week.

Mrs. J. B. Crossen has located in San Francisco for the summer.

Jos. Worsley will enjoy his summer outing this year in Astoria.

Mr. I. N. Sargent and family left for Clatsop beach last evening.

Chas. Dehm, has taken the position of chief engineer of the Regulator.

Mr. G. N. Crossfield, of Grants, paid us a visit today. His town is rapidly coming to the front.

We were pleased to receive a call today from our brother Chip Maxwell, of the Goldendale Sentinel.

Stacy Shown has purchased a fine stock which will arrive for Floyd & Shown about October 1st.

Company C, O. N. G., held an election last evening, incident to the resignation of First-Lieut. C. H. Moore.

Deputy County Clerk Ed. Martin is swinging around the circle in the valley, at Portland, Oregon City and Salem.

The Dalles is today enjoying a regular coast season of weather. If our beach only had the clams we would be fixed.

By the time Geo. Runyon gets back from the gold fields some of his friends think he will be very thirsty for soda water.

On the 26th the Idaho Statesman will celebrate its 28th birthday. It is making preparations for a magnificent spread.

The front of the Printz & Nitschke new building is receiving the finishing touches. It presents a very handsome appearance.

Sarg. John R. MacAvoy, of company C, O. N. G., has been appointed Sargent-Major on the staff of Col. J. T. Thompson.

Business all through The Dalles is brisk. More goods are leaving for the interior than ever before at this season for many years.

Mr. A. Gehres has left for California with his family. They will remain in the Golden state, and he returns to Sprague for three months.

The superintendent of construction on the buildings at Grants, for the distillery company, expects to locate his family in The Dalles. A horse was hunted up today.

The people of Harrison have raised a bonus to build a sidewalk and depot for the Union Pacific railroad, one-half of the required sum being raised in fifteen minutes.

W. C. Alloway, agent in this city for The Dalles, Portland and Astoria Navigation Co., and the N. P. R. R. Co., returned yesterday from a business trip below.

Suits pending against the Michelbach estate, relative to rights in certain city property, wherein Messrs. Roland and Diamond were plaintiffs, have been decided in favor of the estate.

Miss Carrie W. Ketchum, Miss Pauline Richer and Mrs. H. N. Richer, arrived at the Umatilla house this morning direct from Hot Springs. Mr. Ketchum was in waiting for them.

Secretary Evans kicked a little, but the delegation of citizens from Portland won their case in an orderly manner before him for more bridges. Maj. Handburg's report don't count, this time.

Freight No. 21, west bound, met with an accident this morning just below Gates' point, by a cow on the track. The locomotive was partly thrown off. One life was lost—the cow. The train lost 2 1/2 hours time.

W. A. Kirby, the fruit dealer on Third street, delighted THE CHRONICLE force today by the present of a basket of fine peaches, plums, etc., corroborative of our statement yesterday that Wasco can beat the world in this line.

A deputy sheriff, Ford of Sherman county arrived today from Moro with a prisoner who will be turned over here, to an officer from Washington county. The man with the "down in mouth" expression is accused of selling liquor without a license.

That pile of ashes and brick dust, at the entrance to the Regulator landings is a standing menace to every foot which sets a polished shoe upon it. A lady requests that THE CHRONICLE suggest that the dust be returned to its maker—otherwise buried in clean sand.

A death has occurred in this city today which, while regretted by all true citizens, must not be mentioned. Let us hope for its resurrection as The Dalles Chamber of Commerce. The Board of Trade did its duty in its time, but Chambers of Commerce are more popular, perhaps.

Dr. Davenport, of Moro, paid us a cheerful visit today. Dr. D.'s profession is dentistry. He came to the Inland Empire for his health. He found it here, and also a prosperous practice which is making him one of the landed moneybags of this great and growing country. He deserves it all. He was formerly with Dr. Welch, in Portland.

Hon. E. N. Chandler is in receipt of advice from Mrs. Chandler, at Wapinitia, which convey the consoling information that Mr. Frank Woodcock has passed the critical point in his case. He is steadily improving now, has a fair appetite, regular pulse and normal temperature of the system.

The Astoria Examiner of the 12th reached this office today coated with a crimson hue and dust which permeated the whole exterior. It is possible that some event, happening after the mail was done up, compelled Bro. Hibbert to paint her red, and while in transit the stuff dried off, rather than on.

The Dalles young men are talking of organizing a regular constitutional boat club. This will lead to the construction of a boat house, and as the Columbia at The Dalles, is perhaps without a rival anywhere, for boating, the enterprise should be looked upon as a laudable measure for a healthful and pleasurable exercise.

If the funds for the tournament of the annual firemens state association are raised here, it will be in exact proportion, in a business sense, to $60,000 in three days on an investment of $3,000. That's what it is. The officers of the association should be informed at once; if they do not come to The Dalles they must go to some other city.

An unfortunate man, whose name we could not learn, lost both of his legs this morning on a bridge this side of the cascades, by the down passenger. He was taken to Portland. He was on the bridge, sitting on a water barrel, and would have been safe if he had remained there, but he attempted to change his position and was run over.

Mr. J. S. Schenck, president of the First National bank, not to be outdone by Senator Mitchell, M. T. Nolan, and others, appeared at the bank this forenoon with a face devoid of mustache. The transformation was wonderful, and his best friends didn't recognize him. The best joke of many was when he was mistaken for an eminent Catholic priest.

A short time since a bunch of wheat from Robert Cooper's ranch, about two miles south of The Dalles, was left in THE CHRONICLE office by Mr. A. H. Beal. The peculiarity was the growth on the hills, without irrigation. Mr. Beal informs us that it harvested one and a half tons of hay to the acre on sixteen acres, and on ten acres three tons to the acre was harvested. Some of it, had it been left standing would have produced ten bushels of wheat to the acre.

A woman with a little child, apparently about six years old, was found in a box car at the depot this morning. Her condition was so pitiable that the tender sympathies of the yard hands were moved. They took up a collection and forwarded her to her destination. No report of her previous condition was made, and the boys felt that they had the commendation of One who has said, "that inasmuch as ye did it to these, ye have done it to me."

The latest from Cour d'Alene says the troops are in control. Last night was a riotous night in that region. The strikers held high carnival and ran things as they pleased until the arrival of the militia and regulars. Gov. Willey sent the following telegram to Gen. Curtis, at Cataldo: "In addition to the instructions wired last night I now transmit the following: If any person is apprehended in the act of blowing up railroad bridges, or property, or houses, or mills, or other property, with dynamite, or placing it in position to do so, shoot him on the spot. Promulgate this order to the troops." Gen. Curtis replied: "Your proclamation is being printed and circulated through this county. We have troops sufficient and confidence is being restored."

From the Daily Chronicle, Saturday.

Chief Engineer Jud. S. Fish is becoming quite a Shakespearean reader.

A good druggist, with a little capital, would find at Grants a fine location for business.

Six car loads of machinery, etc for the new distillery at Grants, passed through The Dalles yesterday.

Two deeds were filed for record today. One transferring real estate at Mosier, $3,000; and one lot at Tygh, $25.

Why do the Astoria papers say Clatsop beaches? There is but one Clatsop beach; and it has no parallel in splendid features.

Nello Johnston, of Oregon city, is in The Dalles on a visit to his brother Balfe. He expects to remain about two weeks.

Smallpox has at last made its appearance in Portland, but, as yet, only one case has developed, and the patient is in the pesthouse.

Failure of the labor union policy comes about owing to the effort made to place all operatives on the same basis, regardless of ability.

Dr. Davenport informs us that it is pretty much the same with farmers about Moro as elsewhere. Short heads well filled—in the wheat fields.

Mr. McGowan, one of the firm of most successful salmon packers on the Columbia, is in the city. They fish from the bar up to the dalles.

Mr. Owen Williams denies the soft impeachment. He disclaims all relationship to the Wilhelm family, and "we acknowledge the corn," as they say in Illinois.

Anybody, old and young, male or female, will confer a favor on THE CHRONICLE by sending to this office a copy of the daily June 28th, or of the weekly July 1st. "A nickel apiece for a hundred of them," is the standing offer.

The people at Grants have push. The raising of a subsidy for the distillery there shows this. The distillery will bring them a flouring mill, a pork packing establishment, and other local enterprises worthy of a live community.

The professional beggar, with six small children and unlimited cheek, was doing The Dalles yesterday, raising shakels to add to her bank account in some other city. Such are the least deserving—where charity should begin at home.

The Dufur Dispatch says: "These cloudy forenoons, clear afternoons, cool nights, seem arranged for the farmers' benefit. We would like a day of rain, even if it drowned out every picnic party in the state." All right, Bro. Brooks; here it is. It is sent to you gratis.

There is nothing so cooling and refreshing as a glass of delicious ice cream soda water. Blakeley & Houghton are better prepared to supply the public than ever with this delicious beverage. Their syrups are warranted pure juice, which make them so popular.

Yesterday, boasting of the fine weather at The Dalles, THE CHRONICLE stated that all that seemed to be lacking was the clams to make it a veritable coast resort. These Steward Wiley provided. On reaching the Umatilla house for dinner a fine chowder was relished. I was a fine finish to a fine day.

Once for all, let it be understood. THE CHRONICLE, is not a sewer through which sensations and scandals are to be debouched upon an unsuspecting public. Law abiding people will commend a course which defers to the courts. It is enough that the findings of these be published, in the regular repertorial way.

If the rain-making wizard Melbourne could only have been here yesterday to touch off his fuse what a host of advocates he would have today. Of course everybody would then have to give in that it was his patent that produced the 23-hundredths of an inch that fell here this morning from 2 to 4:30 o'clock. But he wasn't in it. The good Lord is yet with us.

The man who lost his legs on the trestle above Cascade Locks yesterday morning, lies in a comatose state at St. Vincents hospital, Portland. When the accident occurred he gave his name as Chris Woodworth, a resident of Albina, but reporters fail to learn anything about him even from the oldest inhabitant. He cannot survive, and will probably be buried as one unknown.

Upon the order of Mr. O. D. Taylor, enough silica was shipped from The Dalles today, for Buffalo, N. Y., to make a thoroughly practical test of its utility for manufacturing purposes. While here, a thoroughly practical expert chemical test was made by Prof. Vandenberg, which satisfied him of its qualities; this lot, which goes east, will no doubt satisfactorily settle the question as to its working qualities.

Mr. S. L. Brooks returned from Portland last evening. He says thoughtful people are not enthusiastic over the result of the committee in Washington. It is generally conceded that bridges enough span the river now for the good of the city during high water; that the peers of the three now existing not only shoal the harbor, but cause higher water annually in the city, and by and by when people awaken to a realizing sense of what they have done, they will wish they had left well enough alone. The Morrison street and steel bridges should be made free.

The shower this morning did not extend very far east of the Dalles. When No. 1 west bound passenger rolled in at three o'clock, THE CHRONICLE man inquired: "where did you strike the rain?" to which Conductor Miller replied promptly: "At The Dalles." It was then coming down fine. A messenger from Mr. Freedlys, 16 miles south east of the city, rode into town about 4:30 after Dr. Sutherland, to attend Mrs. F. who was dangerously ill, and he said it was raining when he left his home. It will undoubtedly prove to be an immense benefit to fields of standing grain, but is no so welcome to the swarth of new mown hay. Mr. W. G. Obrist, nine miles south west, says the shower was just fine.

From the Daily Chronicle, Monday.

Crandall & Burget have some very fine pictures on sale.

Mr. Ed Martin, deputy county clerk, is expected home from his valley trip tomorrow.

Prinz & Nitschke were loading up another team for the country this forenoon.

Eight more carloads of material for the distillery at Grants passed up the road this morning in the early freight.

Mr. Nello Johnston today fully agrees with the writer that this weather—this Dalles weather; beats the sea coast all hollow.

If they don't let up, the press of Oregon will out-demon Deeming with demon Wilson. The cowardly son of a gun.

Judge Watkins was in the city today. Friends will be pleased to learn that Mrs. W. is steadily improving—even though slowly.

Janitor Fitzgerald was out with his lawn mower this forenoon, and the court house yard looks as smooth as "the paper on the wall" this evening.

A change has been made in the office of deputy United States marshal at The Dalles. There is not enough in it to make an incumbent wealthy.

If The Dalles people expect to start the Cascade locks and canal, under present conditions, they have just got to get in and shout! Maj. Handburg is in no hurry.

Hugh Glenn made a flying visit to the consolidated city yesterday. He left in the morning and returned in the evening. He says he had thirteen hours time at his command.

Fisher's Elite baths, in The Dalles, are nice enough for the queen of Sheba. New tubs, new carpets, and clean white walls, invite repose while performing the purifying ablution.

One solitary d. d. was all that answered to Recorder Menefee's gavel call this a. m., and this was an old chronic, which speaks volumes for the morality of The Dalles on a quiet July Sunday.

Justice Shutz had a case this forenoon that called for a can of oil, a screw driver and a monkey wrench. In order to wrestle with it "in view of all the circumstances" he dressed himself in a suit of overalls.

Portland citizens have set an example for work. They went for the privilege of free bridges and Secretary Elkins had to grant their wishes. We want a free open river and no more darned nonsense. But we've got to get in and shout.

Special Agent Richard J. Hinton's report on irrigation throughout arid America will be issued in a few days. The investigation was carried on under the direction of the agricultural department at Washington and was authorized by congress in 1890.

The wool business will be pretty well closed up at The Dalles this week. It has been the liveliest season ever experienced in eastern Oregon. The wool has been of very choice light staple, and the quantity sold here will aggregate nearly, if not quite a million pounds in excess of any former season.

The Dalles has two splendid mill sites, with water power available 3/4 of the year, within the city limits, just waiting for somebody to come along and start something; one of which can be had free of cost, a donation from the city, and the other one can be purchased for little or nothing—yet the little burg of Grants got away with the distillery, pork packing establishment and flouring mill. Why this was thus is beyond comprehension.

There are certain properties to ice cream which frequently renders the use of the delicious dish dangerous. Whether this has ever been satisfactorily explained we are not advised. At Lewiston, Idaho, on the 4th, many who ate of ice cream flavored with pine apple were taken deathly sick. The doctors had a lively time for an hour or two. More than a dozen cases were reported in an hour. Fortunately, however, none of them were serious. There, it is said, the trouble arose from the acid formed on the tin vessel in which the cream was allowed to stand for so long.

Dalles College Students.

The Occident, Berkeley's California university journal, has reached THE CHRONICLE by courtesy of Robert Mays, jr. A group of 16 members of the champion athletic team of '92 composes one of the leading illustrations, and fills a page. Mr. Ed Mays appears as one of the champions. Another illustration, full page size is of Mr. Walter Henry, champion 120 yard hurdle racer. Time 15 3/4 seconds, which beats the world's record of 15 4/5. Another full page illustration shows the front elevation of the new mechanics building, for which the regents have appropriated $65,000, with an additional $25,000 for equipments. In a tabular statement of university records we are informed that eleven of the leading records now belong to the Pacific coast, one of which was made by Mr. Ed. Mays, October 25, 1890, at an event at the Olympic grounds by accomplishing a run of 75 yards in 8 1/2 seconds. In four other events Mr. Mays established a fine record. We are proud of our Dalles young men and the various records they are making during their college course.

Mr. W. M. Terry, who has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for the past twelve years, says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other cough medicine I have ever sold." There is good reason for this. No other will cure a cold so quickly; no other is so certain a preventive and cure for croup; no other affords so much relief in cases of whooping cough. About Home.

THE DALLES, July 18.—Further reports coming in since Saturday morning, from points as far south as Prineville, say the rain was general, and did an immense amount of good. It is now thought the average wheat crop will be about twenty bushels per acre. Barley in all sections is a good crop, having been less affected by the hot winds than the wheat.

Saved from Death by Onions.

There has no doubt been more lives of children saved from death in croup or whooping cough by the use of onions than any other known remedy; our mothers used to make poultices of them, or a syrup, which was always effectual in breaking up a cough or cold. Dr. Gunn's Onion Syrup is made by combining a few simple remedies with it which, make it more effective as a medicine and destroys the taste and odor of the onion. 50c. Sold by Blakeley & Houghton.

Oregon Leads Once.

Review. The Oregon state horticultural society, which has just closed its session, chose the Oregon grape as the state floral emblem. The ladies of eastern Washington are again unfortunate in their choice for the Washington holly, generally preferred in this part of the state, is identical with the grape, chosen by Oregon.
