

The Weekly Chronicle.

THE DALLES, OREGON

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

From the Daily Chronicle, Tuesday. Rev. Mr. Curtis is off for the day by steamer Regulator.

"The leaves begin to fall" rather lively today in the fresh breezes blowing.

A prairie schooner, and several head of horses, went down the Columbia by the Regulator this morning.

"Grandfather's hat fits Ben" no better than the one ordered by John C. Hertz for editor Mitchell, does him.

Mrs. Sullivan, of Portland, and Miss Fouch and Miss Crowlan, of Dufur, are at the Umatilla house.

The Columbia River Fruit company are now shipping east from The Dalles. Spokane takes most of the fruits shipped at present.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hales, of Salem, and Miss N. S. McKay of White Salmon, were passengers out by the Regulator this morning.

The invigorating breeze that came blowing along from Astoria-wards this morning was gratefully acknowledged by scores of people.

Mays & Crowe received another car load of wagon material and hard wood, direct from the east by steamer Regulator last evening.

The hearing of the application to admit Bergfelt to bail, was postponed by Judge Bradshaw at chambers yesterday, until Friday next.

Mr. V. H. Brown the piano tuner and repairer, will be in this city in a few days. Leave your orders at E. Jacobsen & Co's. music store.

The blissful and innocuous desuetude reigning at Cascade locks at present is depicted by Cass' letter in THE CHRONICLE today. Read it.

Collector Taylor of Astoria, says the railway iron cargo of the Abercorn has been admitted free of duty because of the lapse of time it has been sunk.

Horatio Wells blacksmith shop, near Shearer bridge, was destroyed by fire a few days ago. It is not only a serious loss to him, but is a great inconvenience to his patrons.

Mayor Mays is in the city today. When asked about his wheat crop he replied that he never saw better wheat in his life than he has produced this season on irrigated ground.

The schooner Julia came into port this morning with a big load of fuel, under a leading breeze, and rounded to just above the ferry landing.

Miss Gertrude Rigby of Hood River came up on the Regulator last evening, and is the guest of her sister Miss Ethel Rigby at the camp grounds.

Patrick Demody, an old-time hand on the river, is off duty today, having dropped a hard wood plank onto his foot, while discharging the Regulator last evening.

In many places throughout the Inland Empire, we hear of flocks of young Chinese pheasants seen. If they are not molested, the country will soon be well stocked with these beautiful birds.

The remains of Mrs. L. Claypool, of Prineville, wife of Mr. W. Claypool, arrived yesterday from Eureka Springs, Arkansas, where death occurred on the 16th. They will be conveyed to Prineville for interment.

H. C. Nielson returned from his outing on the western shore of Washington this morning. The fact that he rode into the city on a load of hay need not necessarily imply that he came home broke, but his family is still at Ocean Park, enjoying themselves.

Two gentlemen, Messrs. Shives and Alhambra, of California, have been in Long Creek two weeks talking with miners relative to their dry process. They left Sunday for Macy ridge, where they will put their new process in operation for mining.

Mining without water is a new wrinkle to the old time placer miners of Grant county. Nevertheless says the Long Creek Eagle a new process has been invented whereby a placer mine can be worked with only two inches of water with almost as great speed as where the hydraulic is used.

Sheriff Ward returned from his overland trip to Portland by train today, having left the team below. He says it is a fine drive after passing the rocky road on this side of the summit. No flies, no yellow jackets, and but one belt of mosquitoes, that a narrow one just as he left the summit, were encountered. Mt. Hood is just off the road.

Several private letters and telegrams awaited Sheriff Ward on his arrival this morning, but inasmuch as THE CHRONICLE reporter had kept up with the run of affairs in that office pretty closely, they were not of momentous public interest. Mrs. Ward's letters were handed over without having the seals broken.

Mr. C. T. Goff, President, and Thos. D. Williams, secretary of the Long Creek gentlemen's Driving club, will please accept thanks for favors. The contests at Long creek, 4 days, beginning September 20th, promise to be very interesting. Liberal purses have been hung up.

The Teachers' Institute will be in session about two weeks. The annual Oregon haze, augmented with smoke, rendered our superb scenery somewhat obscure yesterday, but this morning's breeze wafted it gently away, and only the delicate haze remained. Bierdstadt says this Oregon haze was worth $10,000 to him on one painting of Mount Hood which sold for $15,000.

Capt. J. W. Lewis, of the land office, is on the sick list. He is able to be about, if he takes things easily, but is not able to attend very closely to business. Without being qualified to prescribe, we suggest that a trip to Clatsop is just about the medicine for a man in the fix of our friend Capt. Lewis.

Misses Alma and Annie, daughters of Rev. O. D. Taylor, were the recipients last week of one of the finest pianos in Oregon. It was shipped direct from Chicago, and was a great surprise. Grandall & Burget set the instrument up; also two fine organs came at the same time, from the same source, one for the Baptist church, and one for Mr. Wheeldon.

Mr. H. D. Cole, county commissioner of Klickitat county, and Mr. Richardson, C. E., were at The Umatilla house last evening. They came over to make arrangements for opening the road, now buried in the sand, this side of Gilmore's, referred to last week in THE CHRONICLE. Mr. Cole thinks a trestle bridge at that point would keep the sand clear. The deposit of the past year will have to be reduced by scrapers.

If everyone who attended the Elks clam bake at Clatsop were as delightfully entertained as Mr. Hugh Glenn; the only Elk in The Dalles; who was present, then it must have been a grand success. There was something delightful in the surroundings which added an additional charm to the scene. The cool, invigorating breeze from the sea and the lack of that restraint which is felt in cities, served to render the occasion very enjoyable.

The ins and outs of the Portland fire department were focused yesterday by the retirement of Chief Morgan, the ousting of Supt. Coffey, and the appointment, as his successor, of a comparatively unknown man named Michael J. Duffy. The board did not appoint a successor to Morgan, but Dobeibower will still continue to be first assistant engineer of the department, and will act as chief until the board agrees upon and appoints some one else.

A Washington dispatch says Senator Mitchell will circulate in Oregon about 5,000 copies of his speech on the anti-option bill, which was delivered from the constitutional stand point. Senator Mitchell is a believer in the bill, and thinks it will be of great assistance to farmers in the west. Besides his anti-option bill speech, he has subscribed for quite a number of copies of other valuable documents, including Senator Aldrich's great tariff speech, which will be scattered broadcast over the state.

United States Marshal Jameson took Lee Ghar to Portland today to answer to the charge of selling liquor to Indians. If this thing keeps up the Indian appetite for tanglefoot will burst the government. But so long as the cultus Siwash is considered a ward of the government, and is not held personally responsible for his crimes, the deluded individual who gets caught in the trap must pay for it. Wait until Lo begins to sell his votes for crisp $2.00 bills. Then a new idea may be expected to get afloat in congress respecting Indian criminals.

The sportsmen who love to hunt the wily chicken and the more stupid grouse are troubled in spirit over the multitude of trespass notices that adorn the confines of numerous farms in the country. Deer may be killed in Oregon between July 1st and November 1st; does between August 1st and January 1st; however deer must not be killed at any time unless the carcass is used or sold for food. Swan and ducks may be killed between September 1st and March 15th. All trapping, netting, snaring or destruction of eggs is prohibited.

Mr. Joseph H. Hawley, of Seattle, loan appraiser and Mr. I. Hill Case, of Portland, managing director for Oregon, are in the city in the interests of the Washington National building loan and investment association, which has a number of shareholders among the leading business men here. The association offers to enter into a written contract with the citizens to loan at least $1,000 per month in the city if 500 shares of its capital stock is subscribed. This will insure the building of many new homes and otherwise be of great advantage to the city, and our citizens should place their shoulder to the wheel and help this enterprise along. Mr. R. C. Gibbon has been appointed local agent.

From the Daily Chronicle, Wednesday. Dr. Clement Milward, of Grays, was in the city today.

Hon. W. Lair Hill was in the city today enroute to Seattle.

Mr. H. G. Knapp, of Buffalo, N. Y., is registered at the Umatilla house.

The Columbia is getting down to its boating level; but it is very slow about it.

Mr. L. Rorden, city treasurer, returned from his outing last evening by steamer Regulator.

A private note from Prof. Smith informs us that he expects to be at home after this week.

Stages leaving the city this morning were all well filled. The Goldendale stage, arriving at noon had several passengers.

The weather today rather intimates to Summer: "Your back bone is about to give way; pretty soon your name will be mud."

The Rockland-Dalles ferry boat has been having more trouble with its cable, but today everything is all right for uninterrupted trips.

Mrs. E. P. Koontz left yesterday for Tacoma after having a pleasant time visiting her parents, and many friends on 6-Mile.

Persons having horses to sell will do well to correspond with J. S. Cooper, Chicago. For address see advertisement in another column today.

All parties holding numbers in the crayon, at D. C. Herren's gallery, are requested to be present Sept. 1st, at 2 p. m. at the gallery.

Mr. Wyndham, one of the best barbers in Portland, expects to take an interest in the Neptune baths of this city about the first of next month.

Mr. John Robinson has purchased a lot on Tenth street, west of Union, for which he paid $800.00, an advance of $100.00 in less than 30 days.

Master Chas. P. Lewis returned from his visit to Bayville. He was too busy on the ranch to go to Canyon city. He comes back weighing within two pounds of his father.

As the steamer Regulator was leaving White Salmon for The Dalles yesterday a horse attached to a buggy left standing at the landing by Mr. Warner, took fright and ran away. A little girl seated in the buggy was thrown out, and the buggy dashed to pieces.

Water in abundance is found by digging a short distance almost anywhere on the Grand Dalles tract. Mr. Wheeldon is excavating an old sink which he has every reason to believe will furnish an abundance of flowing water for the proposed glass factory, and other purposes.

A customer was hunting over files in the county clerk's office today in pursuit of some clue to the ownership of reparian rights not yet jumped in the county, when he said he guessed he'd have to give it up, and the man when living went under "a consumed name" and he had forgotten what it was.

Rev. T. W. Atkinson, of Bickleton, was in attendance at the camp meeting last night, en route to Portland. He informs us that a ten days camp meeting is to be held at Bickleton beginning Sept. 8th. Bickleton is situated on the extreme spur of Sinoce mountains, on the eastern timber belt, north of Arlington in a very prosperous region.

The Teachers Institute is still in session. Attendees at the session at the Court house last evening were rewarded with some excellent singing, and a very appropriate address of welcome by Mr. John Michell, responded to by Mr. C. L. Gilbert. A beautiful piece "Come to me, gentle dreams," by six young ladies of The Dalles, was the closing piece, a lecture by Prof. Bloss. The daily exercises in the brick school house, are devoted to the instruction of teachers.

From the Daily Chronicle, Thursday. The city is billed for the Tennessee jubilee singers, from Goldendale.

Mrs. J. J. Wiley expects to leave Shoalwater bay for her home tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. McRoberts, of Malta Bend, Mo., arrived this morning.

Mrs. Wm. Pickett returned to her home in Prineville by stage this morning.

Visitors from The Dalles to Grant tomorrow leave here on the early morning train.

Mrs. Judge Schutz was a passenger for Phelps Springs by the steamer Regulator this morning.

John G. Maddock and wife, of Goldendale, and Hiram Tyree, of Moro, registered at the Umatilla house today.

The Astoria newspapers run entirely out of capital letters setting up a list of names of those attending the Elks clam bake.

Mrs. Judge Liebe and Miss Tillie Liebe of The Dalles are at Seaview, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Liebe, of Portland.

Mrs. Jeff. Hardy is visiting in California now, and Jeff is baching. In order to kill time he takes his gun along when he goes fishing.

The prodigal never thinks of returning to his aged parents or of even writing to them until the gaunt prairie wolf gets after him.

It has been estimated that Paul F. Mohr has railway iron enough out, now, to lay the Cello-Dalles portage. There's big money in it. Why don't he do it?

Trout are reported to be very scarce in the mountain streams this summer. Those of us who took our vacations early, says Judge Thornbury, might tell the reason why, if we would.

Mr. T. A. Rossey, of Bode, of Iowa, called at The Dalles yesterday, to take a few notes, on his summer outing. He has taken in the sound, the Willamette valley, and left yesterday morning for the most delightful trip of all, a steamer ride to Portland from The Dalles, via. Begulator and Dalles City on the Columbia.

Justice Schutz made his maiden plea yesterday before Justice Clark. It was in the defense of Johnson and Mann, a state case, and although defendants were brought in guilty, they were protected.

People in The Dalles want the Regulator to make a few Sunday trips now. There is not a doubt but that the biggest excursion of the season would go out next Sunday, if the people had the boat.

Capt. Kennedys yacht Alligator made her trial trip this afternoon. The river was very calm, and she steamed over the surface of the water like a fat duck along the pearly edges of prosperity.

Mrs. A. E. Bills, of Portland, mother of Mrs. Fred A. Young, accompanied Mr. Young on his return to Youngtown today. Fred has made quite a trip, to Yakima and back by way of Tacoma, Portland, etc.

D. C. Herrin is taking views of everything worth preserving in the photographic line in this upper country. His collection at the Columbus fair will be something remarkably fine, copies all of which may be obtained at his Dalles city gallery.

Returning Alaska prospectors report the discoveries made in the northern districts this year as being very rich. Were the mines less inaccessible they would astonish the world with their outputs.

Messrs. Page and Anderson have returned from their hunting trip. It was anything but a pleasant outing trip for Mr. Page, who accidentally cut his leg badly soon after leaving The Dalles, and the wound troubled him considerably all the rest of the trip. He is getting along nicely now, however.

Councilman Paul Kreft was in his seat in the council last evening, having returned from his official visit to Denver as a representative of the local Woodmen. He made such a flying trip that some of his nearest neighbors didn't know he had gone until he came back.

Mr. Calvin Cobb, proprietor of the Boise Statesman reports an area of unexampled prosperity in the southern part of Idaho. Vast tracts of land are being reclaimed by irrigation, the mines are producing more wealth than ever before, and Boise has doubled its population in a little more than a year.

If any body has any real estate transactions to show to the advantage of The Dalles, we shall thankfully make note of the same. THE CHRONICLE has the interests of The Dalles at heart, and anything that pertains to the prosperity of the place meets with a hearty response in this office at all times.

Our grain producers should bear in mind that in order for them to derive benefit from existing conditions, they must see to it that their crops are placed on the transportation line possessing the advantages of cheap handling charges, which cut a decided figure in the prices paid for grain by the exporters. That line here is the Regulator.

Dr. Nichols, of Portland, came up today to hold consultation with Dr. Eshelman and on the case of Mr. Roberts, two miles south of the city, who has been in poor and declining health for six-years past.

We do not want anybody to "borrow" THE CHRONICLE. If a man is too poor to buy it we will give it to him; if he will read it. Nor do we want any man, able to pay for it, to take it home and then say he hasn't time to read it, and throw it into the waste basket. THE CHRONICLE is printed to be read. Read it and you will profit by it. Daily 50 cents per month. Weekly $1.50 per annum.

The Eastern Washington railway argument that Puget sound possesses superior advantages in the matter of towing and pilotage charges between shipping ports and the sea, over that of the Columbia river route, is purely mercenary, but we notice, as deceptive as it is; that the press of the Inland Empire which is opposed to an open river; hugs the delusive snare. Their readers do not so unanimously hug it, however.

Yesterday little Miss Genevieve Fish was the recipient of a party given in honor of her third birthday. All her little invited guests, who were three years or younger, report a delightful afternoon. A jollier or better behaved crew of young children never met. The rooms were profusely decorated with flowers. Refreshments were served. After having wished their little hostess many happy returns of the day, the little ones took their departure. Those receiving invitations were: Misses Florence Hollister, Neta Bennett, Geraldine Kelley, Lois Taylor, Karmel Bolton, Mable McInnis, Ada Herbring and Masters Jamie Kinersly, Theodore Prinz, Teddy Seufert, Phillip Sharp, Harold Cates, Clifton Condon, Isidore Gehres, Karl Herbring, Frankie Hill, Alfred Thompson and Dicky Hinton.

The Fossil sensation ended in the arrest of Alderson and the girl at Port Townsend on Monday. They are now waiting in Portland for the sheriff to come from Fossil and take Alderson home. The girl is in charge of her father, Newman. She says that she will yet marry Alderson, who loves her as devotedly as she loves him. She said that when they reached Port Townsend they went straight to the office of the county clerk and got a marriage license, which statement is borne out by the fact that the license was found in Alderson's pocket. Had the officers found the runaway pair an hour later they would have found Scott Alderson and wife.

Oregon Boys.

Thomas Mulkey, nominated for the legislature in Whitman county, by the democrats, is a son of the late Johnson Mulkey, of Corvallis, who crossed the plains in 1847, from Johnson county, Mo. he learned the printers trade in the Corvallis Gazette office, and spent fifteen years as a journeyman printer and publisher. He is at present engaged in farming. He never took an active part in politics, but has been a life-long democrat. The late M. F. Mulky, the brother, and Senator J. N. Dolph, is a brother-in-law.

James H. Price, republican candidate for secretary of state of Washington, was born at Oregon City, June 18th, 1847. His father had the first machine shop in the state of Oregon. During the war he served in the First regiment, Oregon infantry. He saw service out on the plains. On leaving the army Mr. Price went into railroad engineering and was a member of the corps which set the first posts on the first line out of Portland. He went to Washington in 1874 and was in the customs service on the sound for eleven years. He then served as a purser on the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company steamers for a year and a half. He is now serving his second term as sheriff of Pierce county. He is a brother-in-law of Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, and uncle of the Duchess de la Rochefoucault, of France. His wife is a relative of the vice-presidential democratic candidate, Adlai Stevenson.

Denver has just concluded a grand and expensive entertainment of the Knights Templar, to the manifest benefit of the community. Kansas City is doing the same this week for the Knights of Pythias. The next in line will be the entertainment of the Sovereign grand lodge of Odd Fellows, which will convene in Portland on the 17th of September, which will be one of the grandest gatherings ever held in Oregon. The programme arranged for their entertainment shows the enterprise of the people of the consolidated city. One thousand dollars in prizes will be awarded for competitive drills, and excursions have been arranged in various directions. On Wednesday, the 21st, an excursion via Corvallis and Albany, and return to Portland has been arranged for. Following this, in line comes the Oregon Press Association meeting at The Dalles on the 4th of October. The Dalles isn't quite so big as Denver, or Kansas City, or Portland—but as a community it is proposed to show the press gang that we know a thing two here about how to entertain, and when they get back to their sanctums the boys will just say: "The Dalles is all right." There's nothing small about The Dalles.

Association Entertainment.

The Dalles might feel a justifiable gratification should the design for the impression upon the half dollar Columbus souvenir coins come from a connoisseur of this city. Mr. Balfe Johnson has succeeded in producing a very fine and appropriate design for the reverse side to the likeness. The model shows a ship of the style Columbus sailed in upon his voyage of discovery, with a statuette of the voyager on board giving his appearance when scanning the horizon for land. Inasmuch as these coins are bound to be preserved and cherished as souvenirs, the head upon them should be sketched and pictured and reproduced in but one way. The coin itself cannot legally be imitated, but the likeness thereon will doubtless be taken in some way as authentic, and very likely, will appear more commonly than any other portrait during the great anniversary year. In the popular eye, at least, this design by Mr. Johnson might be taken to be the man Columbus.

Oregon Press Association.

Officers of the Oregon Press Association have fixed the 4th of October as the time for the meeting of the association at The Dalles, in doing which they say: "We believe the date selected for the meeting of the association will prove satisfactory to all its members and not interfere with any previous or more important engagements. It is also desirable that all newspapers in the state be represented at the meeting of the association, and those who have heretofore been members shall consider themselves such until the future action of the association, whether they have complied with all the requirements of the constitution or not. Let us have a full representation of the publishers of Oregon. It will do us all good to meet together, and we also hope that this session, while we do not propose that it shall be exempt from pleasure, will be one of business as well."

Married.

At the Residence of the bride's father, August 21st, by Rev. B. F. Bonney, Mr. Charles Crabtree, of Tygh Valley, and Miss Hattie Brittain, of Wamee.

Notice.

The Dalles, Wasco county, Or., Aug. 23d, 1892. I hereby notify all business men, and the public generally, that I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by my wife, Mrs. F. J. Davis, she having left my bed and board. S. 2455711 ED. DAVIS.

WHERE IS THE DROUGHT?

Uncle Toby Writes a Few Lines to Inquire About It.

Special to The Chronicle. WAMIC, Aug. 23.—As it has frequently been reported that Eastern Oregon has experienced another drought this year, I would like to give the public a few facts concerning some of the drouth crops of Wamic.

Mr. Brazil Savage had twenty-eight acres of little club wheat that yielded him thirty-two bushels of wheat to the acre, which he supposed would be the leader this year, but to his surprise, Mr. Michael Kennedy came to the front with 17 1/2 acres that yielded him forty-four bushels per acre, and he cut twenty-eight acres of the heaviest of it for hay, which he says was enough heavier than the wheat that he threshed to make the other six bushels per acre, which would be fifty bushels per acre. And Mr. Kennedy claims that he has not received the benefit of any artificial rain either. UNCLE TONY.

SINGERS

Public speakers, actors, auctioneers, teachers, preachers, and all who are liable to over-tax and irritate the vocal organs, find in Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, a safe, certain, and speedy relief. It soothes the larynx, allays inflammation, strengthens the voice, and for whooping cough, croup, sore throat, and the sudden colds to which children are exposed, this preparation is without equal.

William H. Quarty, Auctioneer, Minnion, Australia, writes: "In my profession of an auctioneer, any affection of the voice or throat is a serious matter; but, at each attack, I have been

BENEFITED BY

A few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. This remedy, with ordinary care, has worked such magical effect that I have suffered very little inconvenience."

"Having thoroughly tested the properties of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral as a remedy for bronchitis and throat affections, I am heartily glad to testify to the intrinsic merits of this preparation."—T. J. Macmurray, Author and Lecturer, Ripley, Ohio.

"Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has cleared and strengthened my voice, so that I am able to speak with very much more ease and comfort than before."—(Rev.) C. N. Nichols, Pastor of Baptist Church, No. Tisbury, Mass.
