STATE PRESS ASSOCIATION.

The Washington State Press Association, which is to meet at Spokane on the same day that the Oregon Press Association is to meet in The Dalles, Tuesday next, is causing as much or more comment throughout the state as it is city widely. In entertaining the newspaper men in a fitting manner the city will not only do what is right and proper, but will also receive an amount of calling attention to the new satellite. advertising that will be of almost inestimable value to the city. Nearly every paper in the state will contain an account of the proceedings and the manner in which the guests are entertained, and upon the impression made upon these men next week will depend largely the same which our city will enjoy abroad for some time to come. It is, therefore, proper that no pains be spared to make the occassion an enjoyable one for the city's guests.

The New York Herald says: "The business of the country is in a provokingly healthy and flourishing condition. Business failures for the first half of the present year have been one thousand fewer in number and forty million less in gross liabilites than they were during the corresponding period of 1891." This sustains Pecks report; furthermore, new industrial enterprises for manufacturing iron, cotton, and woolen fabrics are going into operation in various sections, and while the margin of profits is small, business is on a solid foundation, and the outlook in every direction is hopeful and encouraging. The grain crop is promising, money is abundant and collections are easy. In the face of such a condition of things the calamity howler must remain silent. His howling will scare nobody, not even himself, for he is too smart not to realize that the country is in a marvelously prosperous condition and likely to continue so.

John I. Blair of Blairsville, N. J., who is reported to be worth all the way from $50,000,000 to $150,000,000, has never sold a share of stock in any enterprise with which he has been associated, and has money invested in scores of railroads some of which he absolutely controls. His hand covers the Oregon Pacific, the Astoria and Albany, and is in the Ashe has is in not trusting his agents straight through with any scheme after it is started. But he generally gets there-give him his own time for reflection over it.

Whiskey men interviewed in Portland on the tariff, say the liquor trade has increased so largely during the past few years that it is difficult to tell whether the McKinley bill has had any claring for Grover Cleveland, and apeffect on it or not. VanSchuyver says: "The government and the manufacturers of liquors are benefitted by the law, as the government receives the revenue, and there is a better demand for the products of the domestic manufac-

But I was mistaken. A phenomenon in the political world has occurred almost as remarkable as the removal of a mountain at the command of a prophet. A great political party, with nearly a century's history of consistency in faith and devotion to principle, has at last proved recreant to all its traditions, and forswearing its fealty to the cause of the people, has knelt in blind, idolatrous devotion at the shrine of a man whose sole distinguishing characteristic is his and the ice man Sullivan, but claims stubborn subserviency to the demands
