THE DALLES, - - - OREGON

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

From the Daily Chronicle, Saturday. Wheat declined to 62 1/2 cents yesterday. Mr. Linus Hubbard is in Portland today. The Regulator took away 1,135 sacks of wheat yesterday. There will be no meeting of the McKinley club tonight. Mr. and Mrs. James Benton are now at home at The Umatilla. W. E. Garretson returned on the noon train from Portland. Mr. W. Lord is shipping his own wheat. It is of extra fine quality. Yesterdays 4 p. m. train west bound, passed through at 9:30 a. m. today. Mr. C. A. Heath, who has been in from Grass Valley on business, returned today. Mrs. Dr. Stowell, of Goldendale, is visiting Mrs. C. F. Stephens in The Dalles. Wheat today is selling in The Dalles at 62 cents for No. 1, and 57 cents for No. 2. Con. Howe came home today from the hospital in Portland much improved. Rev. Mr. Curtis has resigned as minister of The Dalles Congregational church. Mr. Brownell established the fact with his hearers last night that Americans do produce tin, and propose to stay by it. The Chautauqua circle will meet with Mrs. S. L. Brooks Monday evening at 7:30. Quotations from the Chautauquan. Mrs. Dr. Gilmer has sold to Mr. C. E. Bayard, corner of Tenth and Union, the property with two cottages. Consideration $2,500. Miss Rose Michell's voice is trained to "Home Again" in the classic precincts of THE CHRONICLE today, after fifteen days abroad. A broken shaft on the engine at the electric light works, will cause some inconvenience for lights in The Dalles for a short time. Mr. C. Bridgefarmer has left a rambo apple for THE CHRONICLE window, as a curio from his Klickitat farm; not a sample of his best. A. C. Connelly, formerly school superintendent of Wasco county, paid his respects to THE CHRONICLE yesterday. He is now a resident of Troutdale. A banquet in honor of the day was given by the Catholic society of this city last evening, at which quite a party were entertained in a most appropriate manner. Some tramp robbed San Thurman's bachelor parlors of his blankets, cooking outfit, and grub, a few days since, and then took Charley Hill's boat to get away with the booty. The board of engineers appointed to make an inspection of the dalles and Celilo obstruction to navigation in the Columbia, will probably arrive this evening by the steamer Regulator. Messrs. Bronson, Green, Joslyn and Balfour spent the day yesterday at McClure's lake, duck and snipe shooting. They bagged fifteen mallards, four snipe, one teal, a widgeon and a canvasback. Mr. Bronson has leased the privilege, and will plant some Wapatoes in the lake, so as to be sure of birds when he wants them. Grandpa Snipes, a pioneer 82 years of age living near Goldendale, can peruse his obituary in the newspapers this week, occasioned by a blunder in sending a dispatch to his son which stated that he had fallen down stairs and broken his neck. He had a fall, in which he bruised his leg. On receipt of this sad intelligence Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Snipes and Mrs. H. H. Allen immediately took the train expecting to see the dead body of their father when they arrived at Goldendale. They were very happily disappointed. Somebody suggested to Ben that the blunder was bad enough to found a suit upon for damages. "Yes," said Mr. Snipes, "that is a fact; but the damage was paid when I met father alive." A political campaign speech this year is more or less dull because of the statistical portions necessary to carry conviction on the basis of education. Announcement had been made that there was to be an address last night by Hon. Binger Hermann, at the Court house, but the state central committee made other arrangements and sent to The Dalles Hon. Geo. C. Brownell, late chairman of the Kansas State Republican committee, but now a resident of Oregon City. Mr. Brownell is a young man, we may say a rising young man. That he is thoroughly posted upon national topics was proven clearly by his address last night. He handled every phase of the subject in an intelligent manner, and held his audience an hour and a half, closing with several well rounded points, and palpable hits which were frequently enthusiastically cheered, and had the very desirable and convincing effect of establishing confidence that there is yet too much gratitude left in the hearts of the American people to even think that they would go back upon the great republican party and forsake its principles for the often denied democracy.

The board of trustees of the Congregational church, through their secretary Mr. S. L. Brooks, has offered the use of their new church to the Christian church for their services every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. This very generous offer is highly appreciated by the members and friends of the Christian church, and on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock Elder J. W. Jenkins will preach in the Congregational church. From the Daily Chronicle, Monday. Klickitat wheat is going at 63 cents today. Hon. E. N. Chandler is feeling considerably ill today. Read about the farms on Dutch flat, in our letter today. Mr. Frank Middleton, of the Portland Sunday Welcome is in the city. The Regulator took 1,185 sacks of wheat for Portland this morning. Another box of the bouche cheroot just opened at the postoffice store. Mr. Gibbons and Mr. Geo. Liebe returned on the noon train from Portland. A train load of cattle for Portland was loaded at The Dalles stock yards yesterday. The Regulator was delayed on the north side an hour and a half loading stock this morning. Forty-five head of fat cattle were added to the cargo of the Regulator at Rockland this morning. Teamster Taylor's wagon collapsed this morning, and while the blacksmith works he takes a rest. The U. P. R. steamer Baker, wharfbarge and barge have gone into winter quarters at Crates point. Changeable silk umbrellas are shown for autumn use. They will also prove inter-changeable if left unguarded. Troutdale is getting to be quite a noted place. Its chief characteristics are its abattoir, its fence posts, its extinct distillery and its Champion Baker. It is generally understood that Hon. W. R. Ellis will be here with Senator Mitchell, at the Court house Wednesday evening. The jury list for the circuit court will be in the hands of Sheriff Ward tomorrow. Also, ballots, boxes, etc., for the election. Mr. John Melville, formerly of this city is visiting friends in The Dalles today. He reports his present home, La Grande, as booming. The carpenters moved out, and the painters moved in to Phil Brogan's new house yesterday, which is now receiving the finishing touches. Judging from the appearance of ballots, ballot-boxes, booths, etc., etc., in the county court room today, the election is close upon us. At Astoria the close competition in the butcher business has resulted in driving some vendors into the public highway with meat carts, and selling on the sidewalk. Amongst those absent last week for a longer or shorter period of time, but who are at home today are Col. and Mrs. Sinnott, Dr. Siddall, and Messrs. Jacobson and Hubbard. The official Australian ballot to be voted for in Chicago next fall will be seven columns in width. When it comes to folding the document a high test of the voter's intelligence will be afforded. Mr. L. Guthrie and family returned from Portland by steamer Regulator Thursday evening, and after spending the national holiday in The Dalles, and attending to other business matters, left for home in Grass Valley yesterday. The Welcome tells us that Col. Sinnott, of hotel fame, who has lived at The Dalles for a century or more, was in Portland to witness the celebration in honor of his old school mate and "compagnon de voyage," Christof Colombo. Bull Run Joe's shack, the sleeping shanty at Umatilla, comes in for a share of society honors on Columbus day. To make it au fait, in a social way, the scribe changed the name in the Oregonian to Hotel Erhart, for this occasion only. Mrs. F. P. Mays has returned to Portland after a two months' absence. She spent five weeks at Cloud Cap Inn, where she obtained many photographic views of the grand scenery there, and the remaining time at The Dalles visiting relatives and friends. Mr. A. Keller, moved into his new store this morning. A full line of bread, cakes, pies and confectionary, cigars, oysters, etc., will be opened. He invites all his old patrons around to the new place, next to the Dalles National bank, and as many new ones as can find time to come, and he promises to do his best to please them all. Mr. J. C. Brickell, long known in The Dalles, but who has been away the past two years over in British Columbia, has returned and is making arrangements to go into business. The family of his father-in-law accompanies himself and family, and will also become permanent residents of the city. H. H. Andrews, who has filled the bill for the Pacific Express company in this city as train city delivery messenger, is compelled to give up his situation, in consequence of his sense of duty to his parents in Minnesota, where his father is quite sick now; and will return to the east for the winter at least. His position will be filled by C. N. Tibbets, late of Monterey.

Mr. A. Keller's magnificent new store on Second street was thrown open to the public this morning according to announcement, and as the customers made their appearance each one had something to say expressive of admiration. To the Oregon Bakery has been added a candy factory and refreshment parlor, all of which is fitted up in a style second to none in the Inland Empire. The construction and arrangement is alike creditable to Mr. Keller, to The Dalles, and to Paul Kreft & Co., Mr. F. Ross, Prinz & Nitschke, L. P. Ostlund, and others who had a hand in the building. The upper story will be occupied by the Woodmen and Workmen lodges. FUNERAL OF JUDGE THORNBURY. Large Attendance--Floral Offerings--Sketch of the Deceased. The funeral of Hon. Caleb N. Thornbury, from the family residence at two o'clock p. m. yesterday, was one of the largest ever witnessed in The Dalles. The ceremony was conducted at the house by Rev. Mr. Curtis, at the cemetery the impressive burial service of the Masonic fraternity was conducted by Wasco Lodge. The pall bearers were J. W. French, Richard Closter, Wm. McCrum, E. Schanno, J. B. Crossen and Frank Clark. There were fifty-eight carriages in the procession. There were a great many handsome floral pieces contributed by numerous sympathizing friends. In noting the death of Judge Thornbury the Oregonian says: Judge Thornbury has for many years held a prominent place in the regard of Eastern Oregonians and the announcement of his death will be sad news to his many friends. Judge Thornbury was born in Westchester, Pa., in 1823, where he learned the printer's trade in all its branches. In 1849, in company with a number of his young acquaintances, he made a trip around Cape Horn to San Francisco. After mining with more or less success, he went, in 1861, to Yreka, where he established his first newspaper. While editor and proprietor of this paper, he met and married Miss Heitrick, theirs being the second marriage celebrated there. Becoming acquainted with Captain McDermott, he accompanied him to Meigs' Ferry, and in partnership, they put in a new ferry, and set up a store, which proved very successful. At intervals both partners engaged in prospecting, and during one of their absences from home the Klamath Indians attacked and burned the store and ferry, murdering several people. Judge Thornbury had been in expectation for some time prior to his death of realizing a claim of over $70,000 for this Indian depredation. Being ruined by this misfortune, he moved to Crescent City, where he served as deputy under Captain McDermott, who had been elected sheriff. He also filled a position in the service for about one year. He later moved to Fort Jones, in Scott Valley, Siskiyou county, where he kept a hotel for a number of years. He was elected a member of the California legislature from Siskiyou county in 1861, as a Douglas democrat, and was one of those who surdily opposed the states upholding the cause of secession. Late in the '60s he started for Oregon overland by a mule team, on his way to Canyon City, in Grant county, stopping at Jacksonville for six months to publish a newspaper. Arrived at Canyon City, he engaged in packing and freighting to the mines, and later opened a sutler's store at Camp Watson. When the camp was abandoned, he moved his store to Caleb, named in his honor, and for many years continued in business at that point, where his name is loved by all. He was a member of the Oregon legislature of 1872, for Grant county. In 1873, The Dalles Land office was opened and he was appointed receiver, which position he held for 12 years, giving universal satisfaction. Upon Cleveland's election, he was succeeded and accepted the secretaryship of The Dalles Military Wagon road company, which holds a contested title to a vast tract of land in Oregon. This position he still filled at the time of his death. In 1888, he was elected county judge, retaining the office for four years. He leaves a widow and two married daughters, Mrs. T. A. Hudson, and Mrs. O. Kinersly, both of this city.

THE BEEF TRUST. Just as Much for a Steak But Less Than Half as Much for the Cattle. From the Portland Chronicle. The advent of the American Dressed Beef Co., followed, as it was, by the organization here of the Portland Butchering Co., has had the good effect of supplying our market with the choicest meats to be procured anywhere in the world. But they have had a deterrent effect upon the local cattle-raising industry by which so many of the farmers of western Oregon and Washington were enabled to make considerable money. It used to be that a farmer could keep a small band of cattle, or a few dozen sheep and hogs, and if crops were light from any cause there was something to rely upon for ready money, because there was always a ready market in the city among the butchers and packers for all that could be raised within a radius of a hundred miles or so, and prices were so good that the farmer was encouraged to continue in the business as far as his range means of raising hay and other feed would allow. It is all different now. The great meat companies import their live meats from the plains, receiving them here in car loads and train loads. The meat markets are all under necessity to patronize them, as they cannot successfully compete by purchasing and slaughtering their own meats, so that the home producer of now has no market for an extra steer or a few hogs or sheep, as he formerly had. If he offers to sell to the companies they will pay no more than they can get the same animals for at a distance, which is about one-half the price that live stock brought here two years ago. Several farmers living twenty or thirty miles away have lately told a Chronicle reporter that they would have to reduce their droves of stock to their own necessities, as it did not pay them to raise a fine, fat steer to sell for about twenty dollars, which is about all they can get now. There is no decrease in the retail price of meats, for the consumer pays just as much now as ever. Altogether it is doubtful if the great butchering companies have helped the country very much. Monopolies seldom do. Populist People's Plans. Mrs. Lease has reformed and comes out for Harrison.—Vidette. At present rates the third party will be ready for burial in the south before November.—Pittsburg Dispatch. Georgia people and Florida people staid out side the people's party. That's the trouble with it; the people are not in it!—Boston Transcript. Another blow to the people's party is the international monetary conference which meets in Brussels Nov. 22, as it will open the way to the settlement of the silver problem.—Pittsburg Dispatch. The disappearance of the Farmers' alliance candidates in Florida and Georgia is suggestive of what may happen in the western states when the votes are counted, and where the alliance is most dangerous to the republicans. If the alliance goes out of sight in that section Harrison's re-election is sure.—Boston Record. Oh, this ringing in the ears! Oh, this humming in the head! Hawking, blowing, snuffing, gashing, Watring eyes and throat-rashing, Health impaired and comfort fled, Till I would that I were dead! What folly to suffer so with catarrhal troubles, when the worst cases of chronic catarrh in the head are relieved and cured by the mild, cleansing and healing properties of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It purifies the foul breath, by removing the cause of offence, heals the sore and inflamed passages, and perfects a lasting cure. NOTICE To Settlers Under the 3rd Sec. Act, September 29, 1890. Department of the Interior, General Land Office, Washington, D.C., September 30, 1892. Register and Receiver, The Dalles Oregon.—Sirs: Referring to office instructions of February 3, 1891, issued under the forfeiture act of Sept. 29, 1890, and of March 5, 1891, issued under the act of February 18, 1891, which so amended the act of 1890, as to cause the time, within which claimants thereunder were required to properly present their claims, to run from the date of the promulgation of the instructions for the restoration by this office, I have now to advise you that Congress, by act approved June 25, 1892, amended section 3 of the act of September 29, 1890, so as to extend the time, within which persons actually residing upon the lands claimed by them might present their claims, to three years from the passage of said act of 1890. This latter amendment relates only to claimants under section three, of the act of 1890, who actually reside upon the forfeited lands, and the Secretary of the Interior, on September 16, 1892, decided that as to such claimants the time was extended to September 29, 1893, the act of February 18, 1891, in so far as it related to them, having been repealed by the act of June 25, 1892, by implication. The instructions of March 5, 1891, (supra) will govern you in the cases of all other claimants under said act. Very Respectfully, (Signed) W. M. STONE, Acting Commissioner. County Treasurer's Notice. All county warrants registered prior to March 13, 1893, will be paid if presented at my office, corner Third and Washington streets. Interest ceases on and after this date. The Dalles, July 16, 1892. WILLIAM MICHELL, Treasurer Wasco County, Or.

FAIRVIEW LETTER. FAIRVIEW, Wasco Co., Oct. 22.—As all settlements of Wasco county are invited to representation in THE CHRONICLE, perhaps a few lines from this might in the future bear some good results. This location is commonly known as Dutch Flat. It is situated from seven to fourteen miles southwest of The Dalles, and has an elevation of from 1,500 to 1,800 feet above The Dalles, or 1,660 to 1,960 feet above tide water, with an area of 15,000 acres susceptible to cultivation producing grain of all kinds of the best quality. Timothy, red clover and alfalfa do well and vegetables of all description, and for corn I do not think it can be beat in the state, yellow and white dent, King Phillip and all kinds of sweet or sugar corn, and fruit of every kind. I venture to say, without fear of contradiction, that I have seen the largest German and Hungarian prunes here this season that I have ever seen in the state, and their appearance and flavor were nothing short of delicious. The samples which I send you with this are fair average samples of our blue Pearmain and Gravenstein apples, grown by my neighbors Messrs. Jones and Nelson. I think that the moderation of the summer climate during the fruit season has a great deal to do with giving them the fine flavor. As for grapes this region cannot be beaten. The population of this settlement is, all told, sixty-one souls, but we have quite a settlement one and a half to four miles west with about the same population, both well provided for a school, and would say to those looking for a home, you can do no better than to come up here and locate, as there are a number of good places yet to be taken up. Wood and water are more convenient than in any locality in Wasco county, and we get a greater amount of rain fall than any other part of the country. There was sufficient rain here two or three weeks ago to start the plough, and in fact some have already sown and their grain is up and growing. We are so located that all the showers which meet and scatter in the mountains south and west of us always send a portion to us. Lumber for building is plentiful. Five to eight miles to a good saw mill, and if we ever get an open river there will not be a acre of vacant land in this region long, being so close to the market, the soil of such fine quality and the temperature of the climate so delightful and healthy. This section in the near future will send to the markets the finest fruits in Wasco county, as it has already done in the line of hay and wheat. Mr. W. G. Obst told me this morning that his wheat weighed at the Diamond mills the highest per bushel of any wheat that had arrived at the mill, and it must have been good, as he got the top price of the market, sixty-four cents, and it also gained one per cent. in weight over the average. R. F. WICKHAM. A Cure for Cholera. There is no use of any one suffering with the cholera when Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy can be procured. It will give relief in a few minutes and cure in a short time. I have tried it and know.—W. H. Clinton, Helmetta, N. J. The epidemic at Helmetta was at first believed to be cholera, but subsequent investigation proved it to be a violent form of dysentery, almost as dangerous as cholera. This remedy was used there with great success. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton. Here is a Pointer. Up at Cayuse the U. S. Engineers will see a pile of wheat 600 feet long, 70 feet wide and 20 feet high, awaiting shipment, which will make a page or two in contradiction of the burned up Inland Empire. After this year the railways cannot haul the wheat to tide water. Six trains a day, through The Dalles now cannot reduce the piles at the stations along the U. P. R. This is only one pointer amongst thousands similar.
