The Coming Comedy,

"What is this 'deestrick skule,' as they call it-is it a sort of a 'go' on the old-fashioned backwoods style of fifty years ago?" was overheard on the street this morning.

That is just it. It is one of those rolicking comedies that have become popular nowadays by furnishing an equivalent for money to be used for church or charitable purposes. The "Deestrick today. Skule" is designed just to make you laugh, and this is guaranteed, from the time the innocent, gawky, guileless, careless school children (of 40 or 50 years) recite their A B C lesson until the reading of "compositions" and remarks by the school board, who, while they are as ignorant as horse blocks, make a great display of wisdom and was asked how his sheep was coming succeed in showing a denseness that Go, then, and laugh; laugh till the fully a hundred per cent increase.
