

DUFUR NOTES.

"O'Keane" Manages the Local Grist in True Reportorial Style.

EDITOR CHRONICLE:

The Dufur Flouring Mills are running full time on wheat from the Tygh Ridge section.

This city is the home of the celebrated S. B. Medicine Co., who are achieving a world-wide reputation.

C. E. Haight and E. Jacobsen were here a few days ago on life insurance business. They made a fair clean-up.

While this city is quiet, as the common phrase goes, "it neither slumbers nor sleeps." Business is pretty fair and our people feel good over the prospective outlook.

The city school is quite well filled for this season of the year. Prof. Frazer, assisted by Ed. Hinman, are making for us an excellent school, and are giving good satisfaction.

Mr. L. Klinger and family, with several others, will start for the Warm Springs and the mountains for a short season of camp life as soon as the weather gets warm.

Dr. Vanderpool is treating cancer patients at present with good prospects for making permanent cures. The doctor has been very successful so far. He will leave on Friday for Prineville to be absent a few days.

The Heines boys and several others will leave for Idaho in a few days on a sheep-shearing tour. The farmers are nearly through with their spring work, and are delighted with the prospects for the largest grain and fruit yields ever had in this part of the country.

The Dufur school are making preparations for a fine Mayday picnic. Prof. Frazer has it in charge and everybody will be expected to share the pleasures of the proverbial Mayday. The Dufur band will be in attendance and the day will be spent at games, sports, feasting, singing, crowning May queen, etc.

Messrs. T. H. Johnson and Willard L. Vanderpool have bought from old Father Dufur over 200 acres of his farm, lying next to the town, and will have it surveyed and laid out in low lots right away, when it will at once be put on the market. There is a good deal of inquiry for town lots, and to accommodate everyone, this property is added to the city proper.

O'KEANE.

WANAMAKER'S VISIT.

He Visits Some of Our Stores in Search of Relics.

Ex-Postmaster General Wanamaker, accompanied by Mrs. Wanamaker, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. B. Wanamaker, Mrs. Col. Wilson, Miss Mary Wanamaker, Mrs. Eliza Wanamaker, Levi Hamann, Geo. Walder, Rev. Dr. Miller, and Mr. McDonnell, arrived today in the special car Annapolis of the Baltimore and Ohio line, en route to the World's Fair from a Pacific coast trip.

As soon as the train stopped Gen. Wanamaker, attired in a crush hat of wool, (which it is thought he could easily afford, though there is a high duty on wool), a suit of clothes of a dark color, and a heavy sack overcoat (probably Wanamaker & Brown's winter style) stepped off his car and proceeded to "do" the town. He said "hello" to every body he met and seemed especially gracious and jovial to the many who were participants in this one-sided acquaintance.

Arrived at Pease & Mays store he interested himself in the Indian baskets which he thought were made by siwash-ees, and was about to make a large purchase, when Mr. Pease, despite all his good commercial training, spoiled the sale by telling him they were made by the St. Regis Indians in New York state. Not yet discouraged, the postmaster-general next went to Sam Kline's and invested $2 in arrow heads, which he may be assured are genuine, though his experience at the dry goods store may have somewhat dampened his ardor for a large purchase. The train was delayed a few minutes by the transaction, but the obliging conductor, with that good breeding characteristic of all Americans, never showed any perturbation or annoyance.

HOW OTHERS DO.

Spokane Politics, Singing Schools, and Pretty Girls for the Fair.

The republican party of Spokane Falls, Wash., has placed a full ticket in the field for mayor, city officers and councilmen, and being about two hundred in the majority in the city, they hope to elect their ticket next Tuesday. Last year the democrats elected the mayor, and a majority of the council, but the democratic administration has not given general satisfaction, and a change is likely to occur. In more forcible language, less elegant perhaps, the democrats have been "weighed in the balance and found wanting." They have been too extravagant. Their salaries have been out of proportion to the good they have done, and it seems to have been a luxury, that the city is not willing to keep up. The republican party of this city in the past has been controlled by professional politicians, a la Hyena, and these bosses controlled the primaries and the elections, until they ran to party to ruin; and the people had to defeat them at the polls to shake them. In the republican primary elections yesterday the ring bosses were defeated. The clean, honest element of the party carried the primaries and controlled the convention, and have placed a good ticket in the field.

The democrats nominate today. If they place a fair ticket in the field the election will be close.

The ties which have bound political parties together in the past, and which have made nominations equal to elections, are of the past. Party ties are ropes of sand in the hands of the politician who can tie all right, but the ties do not bind the masses to do things which they do not want to do. This is intended to be a free country, and free people depending upon a popular government have no safety when a party can compel them to do a thing that their sense of right abhors; and honest men will hail the day when manipulated party ties do not tie.

I want to see the republican party win. I want to see it returned to power, for it is the friend of this government; but I want to see it purified.

Your correspondent has learned that folly is not confined alone to the country, and to small towns. Spokane has its share of that human frailty.

There are singing schools in this town. They do not use the buck wheat notes, do, ra, me, fa, and they do not call the exercises singing schools. They call them music lessons, and they use the gamut for all there is in it. They have an Italian (dago) teacher with a name as near Piccinini as they can get it; this is the style you know. The art part of it is to see how much brilliant noise one can make without striking a tone. This is called music.

Spokane is going to send one of its girl citizens to Chicago to sing at the world's fair, and it would make you sick to read the Spokane newspapers upon this painful subject. There is so much soft soap in it about the girls being "out of sight," etc. Every girl in town thinks it is herself who is meant. One newspaper wants a committee to choose the sweetest-voiced girl. Another wants the loudest, and a writer in the papers, proposed to send the prettiest girl, regardless of voice, for she could not be heard singing in such a big crowd, but she could be seen. Just think of it. Poor old moss-back Oregon would be ashamed of that kind of talk. Beauty indeed! Beauty can be made of wax. Any girl of good sense, that has musical accomplishments is beautiful enough. Intelligence is beauty. Send a sensible girl and you have sent a beauty.

GRAND REVIEW TODAY

A Joyous Affair and Everybody Well Satisfied.

NEW YORK, April 27.—[Special.]—The imposing review is a monster success as a display of native and foreign armed force in gala day attire. The men-of-war were anchored in two columns in the north river, the foreign ships on the New York side. The president, on board the Dolphin, passed between the columns. Meanwhile, that portion of the river between the American column and New York shore was closed. After the Dolphin had anchored at the head of the line, vessels of all kinds were allowed to circle around the fleet, going up on the New Jersey and down on the New York sides. The passage between the two columns was kept closed until the president had landed from the Dolphin, which terminated the review. The dipping of flags and all the conventional and unconventional forms of salutation were entered into with a vigor and vim indicative of high pressure enthusiasm. The president was accompanied by his cabinet. The Monmouth, following, carried the judges of the supreme court, senators, representatives and governors of states. Flag officers and captains of war vessels were received on board the Dolphin, presented to President Cleveland and lunched pro forma. There was a great deal of other official ceremony.

A Disorderly Celebration. KANSAS CITY, April 26.—The ex-strikers of the Santa Fe mechanical department at Argentine celebrated the return to work last night in a peculiar manner. At the close of the day's work the ex-strikers gathered in a body, drove the non-union men by force from the yard, then went to the boarding cars where the non-union men had been housed and wrecked their interiors, after having driven out the cooks and other employers. Then, hiring a brass band, they paraded the streets, visiting all the saloons, which provided free beer for the crowd. The company will probably take action against the ring-leaders.

Oregonians Who Want Office. WASHINGTON, April 26.—A. S. Bennett of The Dalles, who arrived yesterday, is a possible candidate for United States district attorney. He is pressing the claims of J. L. Story for register of The Dalles land office, and wants Henry Phirman appointed marshal. John W. Ball of Newport applies for collector of customs at Yaquina.

If asked to designate the politician who has fallen furthest and struck hardest during the last twelve months, the Astorian says few men would hesitate to name David B. Hill.

A SAD ACCIDENT.

Martin S. Schroder Killed While Returning from the Picnic.

After the pleasures of the picnic at Cascade Locks yesterday, a gloom was cast over the whole party on the return trip by the accidental death of Martin Schroder. The Regulator had proceeded about five miles on its homeward journey, when the cry was raised "man overboard," and the wheels were at once stopped. In the rear of the boat was seen the body of the boy still floating, and in fact had not sunk at all. There was no struggle and it was evident the boy was stunned. The boat was reversed, and in a very short time was alongside the body, when it was recovered with a boat hook and brought to the dock. Efforts were made to resuscitate the boy, but without avail. The testimony at the coroner's inquest developed the fact that the boy had been jumping in the stairway, and had in some way lost his footing and struck his head in such a way as to produce unconsciousness, falling to the foot of the stairs and thence off the side of the boat. No one is to blame for the casualty, and it proved to be one of those unavoidable calamities which cannot be foreseen or averted.

When Schroder first fell overboard William Scott, a deck hand, without a moment's pause, jumped overboard and tried to reach the boy, and would have done so had not the greater speed of the boat anticipated him. He was drawn in thoroughly chilled by the ice-cold water, and for a time was so weak and benumbed as to require attention himself. He performed a hero's part, however, in risking his life to save a passenger. The D. F. & A. N. Co. showed their appreciation of the brave man's services by tendering him a $50 cash reward.

The boy did not come to his death by drowning, but by some violent knock, of which two bruises on the head give evidence, the one on the temple being said by the doctors as sufficient to cause unconsciousness.

Martin S. Schroder is 11 years old, and is the son of Mrs. M. Schroder, now Mrs. Wedekind. Schroder was killed some years ago in a wreck at the Cascades. Another child of Mrs. Wedekind (Schroder) is still living.

The following is the verdict of the coroner's jury:

CORONER'S VERDICT.

We, the jury impaneled to inquire into the cause of the death of Martin Schroder, who came to his death by drowning in the Columbia river April 26th, 1893, hereby find that the said deceased came to his death by an unavoidable accident, by falling overboard the steamer Regulator, and we further find that the officers and management of the D. F. & A. N. Co. used every effort to rescue the deceased and hereby exonerate said company, both officers and management, from any blame or carelessness connected with the death of deceased.

Signed, E. JACOBSON, S. G. CAMPBELL, H. STONEMAN, E. N. CHANDLER, J. H. BLAKENEY, R. E. SALTMAISER.

The funeral of Martin Schroder will take place tomorrow at 2 o'clock from the house.

MOSIER MUSINGS.

Oh, who would not be trouting go. Among the spring time breezes, And ease not if the fly they'd throw should catch among the trees.

Corn is being planted. The little busy business bee is among the flowers.

Rev. Frank Ireland has just finished planting an acre of strawberries. Trout—food for brain. Wet, tired, mad and hungry—food for thought.

A dance will be given at Jas. Hunter's on May 10th, in honor of Mrs. Hunter's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Dagggett have returned to their ranch from Portland, where they have been spending the winter.

Among Mosier's tribe of Billies we have one worthy of special mention from the fact that he has the only field of alfalfa in the country, which is a remarkably good crop here. We refer to Wm. Watson, who is just as progressive as they make 'em.

Rev. Rigby of Hood River preached here in district 52 Sunday forenoon. In the afternoon he delivered a sermon in district No. 8. A union Sunday school was organized at the latter place, to which all are invited.

Merchant Flaherty & Co. are up to the times. Their store building here will soon be on dress parade. She is being treated to a new spring costume of rich cream trimmed in chocolate. Jas. Woods is doing the artistic work and is proving himself a worthy knight of the brush.

The X. L. ball club have changed the date of their picnic from May 1st to May 30th. This will not hinder the anticipated good time from being had by any means. The new arrangement will also give the school children a chance to attend and give the boys more time to "brace up" for their coming Waterloo.

"The diligent hand maketh rich," etc., etc. A. Root has grubbed four acres of land this spring, which he has planted to prune trees. He also put three acres of old land into trees, making a total of seven acres. We deem this a very creditable showing, and Mosier may well feel proud of citizens like him.

Geo. Salinger and sons have opened up quite a field this spring in addition to their already well improved place. Mr. Salinger has been here six years and has doubtless made the best showing for the time expended of any one in these parts. Broad fields, free from stump or stone, and fine young orchards have crowned his efforts. He is well worthy imitation.

We kick—nothing surprising about this, but our neighbors kick also. The fact of the matter is, there'll be more kicking when this item is read. Its all about the costs in the Powers-Miller case early this spring. Through the ignorance of inefficient officers, costs were piled upon costs, and while they should not have exceeded $15, we have just learned the sum total is not far from $200. We understand these costs will be assessed to the county taxpayers. While the matter might have been a state case if properly handled, the county certainly should not pay for so much blissful ignorance. Therefore, we repeat, we kick. Let all brethren in good standing do likewise.

Rejoice. Five days of fine spring weather all in a row. We begin to feel it in our bones. Book us for a poem if she holds out.

[LATER] Oh spring dear spring, nice spring! Blessings be on you, spring. Oh dear, we're glad its spring. You sprang at last, oh spring. Sun.

Nine Men Killed.

MEMPHIS, Mich., April 26.—A report reached here of the killing of nine men on a Fence river log drive by the breaking of the rollway and jam. The men were employed by Swayer, Goodman & Co. Among the dead are Charles Hamilton, foreman; Fred Ingram and Charles McAllister.

KANSAS CITY, April 26.—A special from Oklahoma says: "Norman, south of this city, was destroyed by a cyclone last night. Some 30 lives were lost. A large amount of property was destroyed."

The Late Minister to Turkey.

Eugene Journal. Hon. D. P. Thompson has treated his political opponents fairly and honorably on all occasions, and has manifested on this occasion a good deal more respect and consideration for their wishes and interests than they manifested for his wishes and the best interests of the state of Oregon when he was the public nominee for governor three years ago. But, as experience is a dear school, the only one in which much practical knowledge has been acquired during the last three years concerning both the gubernatorial nominees of 1890, particularly concerning the one elected, it would not take the people long to reverse that decision now if they had a chance. Their hind sight is better than their foresight.

A Spontaneous Act.

This week a San Francisco gentleman, wishing to enjoy the thrilling sensation produced by catching a sucker with both hands, waded into the river below the Beames residence and caught one. He also caught a large dash of spawn which the fish ejected upon his nice clothing, and it brought forth a corresponding dash of wit.

"What's your opinion of that issue of the day?" inquired a friend, pointing to the slippery deposit.

"It proceeds," he replied, "from internal impulse, without external force, and it is therefore spawn-taneous."—Kiamath Star.

A Break Made.

The first blow was struck yesterday in a general war among the railroads on western passenger rates. It is expected it will be a hot one, as the belligerent forces are in hot blood. The war is expected to extend through to the Pacific, and in that event the world's fair will be in it, or on top.

The warships are preparing to rendezvous at Hampton Roads in anticipation of the great review which is to become historic. All the great powers are to be represented, and there will be the grandest assemblage of warships the world has ever seen.

By a falling wall in Cincinnati, 14 bricklayers and helpers were precipitated from the fourth story to the ground. George Hull was killed, and Frank Winemuth, Edward Winemuth, A. Shumas and Elijah Johnson were fatally injured. Several others were seriously hurt.

HOPE FOR MANITOBA.

A Winnipeg Man Thinks It Will Yet Be the Granary of the World. "If the horse could stand it," said a well-known resident of Winnipeg, Manitoba, to a reporter for the Washington Star, "a man could leave Winnipeg and ride one thousand miles west and north-west over a level prairie before he would be obstructed by the mountains. This gives an idea of the great territory lying west of Winnipeg, which, to the eastern man, seems way out of the world. The soil of this prairie produces the finest spring wheat grown anywhere, and the enormous plain I've just mentioned will in a few years be the great granary of the world. Eastern people have a misty idea of our expansive territory. We are just commencing to grow wheat compared to a decade hence, though our crop two years ago was thirty million bushels. We have but little snow, and in the many years I resided in Manitoba I never saw the tops of the bright prairie grass covered. Cattle fairly roll in fat, and we are becoming a great cattle country. While most of our settlers are from across the water, yet the number from the western states is yearly increasing. There are no settlers killed over disputed claims, as has been an everyday story in the west for years. Our homestead laws require a three years' residence of six months each. Land may be preempted, too. Gold has been discovered in wonderfully rich quartz deposits a few miles east of Winnipeg, and paying mills have just been erected by Minneapolis capitalists. I predict a 'rush' to the Lake of the Woods district next year. Winnipeg has thirty-five thousand inhabitants and is a thriving city. Our winters are cold, but we do not mind them. The atmosphere is dry and the days are clear, murky weather being almost unknown."
