Justice Dewey then charged the jury, He defined the different degrees of murder, and stated the presumption of innocence was increased by defendant's character. There must be a real and operative motive.

The judge further charged the jury to weigh the evidence to see whether the defendant's permanent state of mind showed a motive for the crime. Every material allegation in the indictment must be proved beyond a reasonable doubt; that is, to a moral certainty, He compared the direct and circumstantial evidence. He said the tailure to prove an essential fact would be fatal, but the fallure to prove a helpful fact might not be. Lizzie's statements about the note were discussed at length He said they must be satisfied they were false. Every fact proved must be reasonably consistent with guilt. The government did not show that anybody else had an opportunity to commit the crime, but must prove the defendant committed it. The jury must reason as to the effect of the defendant's conduct and statements. They were not to was done by another party, but that her. The justice concluded his charge to the jury at 3:10.

The jury has acquitted Lizzie Borden of murder.

heads of Patrick H. Winston, United States attorney; Thomas R. Brown, United States marshal; Andrew Wasson, United States collector of Port Townsend; C. J. Mulkey, United States special agent, and six special Inspectors of customs in the Paget Sound district all in the state of Washington, have fallen into the official hopper, as the result of reports made to Secretary Carlisie by Special Agents Wood and Lewis. These reports are numerous and circumstantial as to detail, and tell the story of one of the most extensive and success ful conspiracies ever formed to snunggle Chinese and opium into the United States across the far northwest boundary. There has been bardly a day for the past two mentle that reports or telegrams have not been received at the department from Agents Wood and Lewis, and on these reports the officials of the treasury department have been summarily dismissed. The last batch of dismissals of customs inspectors was made on Saturday, but Secretary Carlisle thinks the end of justice may be defeated by making public their names. These officials, it is charged by the reports received, have been doing a wholesale business for several years in connection with private parties in Victoria, B. C., in smuggling in Chinese by means of fraudulent certificates and in permitting opium smuggling, either by connivance or otherwise.

The new men appointed in place of those removed were James M. Saunders, collector at Port Townsend; James C. Drake, United States marshal; W. H. Brinker, United States attorney. Other removals are yet to come in the due course of time and the matter will wind up in the courts.
