OFFICIAL PAPER OF WASCOCO COUNTY.

WORLD'S FAIR FINANCES.

The floating debt of the world's Columbian exposition is $2,000,000. Its outstanding bonds amount to $4,500,000. Thus the total sum which it must pay to creditors is $6,500,000.

Counting Sundays, there are 127 days of the world's fair season remaining. Accordingly a paid attendance of 102,382 adults daily would wipe out the debts of the exposition company.

This computation has taken no note of the $1,900,000 which the directors have said they would return to the national government if they had it to give at the end of the exposition.

Had the Camperdown been a vessel of a warring nation and her ram been driven against the Victoria in action, all the authorities would doubtless have sprung the conclusion that the collision demonstrated the superiority of this method of naval warfare.

Affairs in Hawaii seem to be in rather a chaotic state, and threats of wholesale murder are as plentiful as birds.

A number of applications were presented to the city council Monday evening for the office of street commissioner.

The total receipts of wool at this port during the past week comprise 15,252 bags and bales domestic and 701 bales foreign, against 25,954 bags and bales domestic, 2,833 bales foreign for the same time last year.

election perhaps hinged on this misstatement the council should be wary hereafter in giving credence to a petition from a single individual unsupported by other evidence.

WEALTH WELL USED.

In all the accounts that have appeared of the late Leland Stanford and all the comments that have been made upon his life there has been one very noticeable feature. There has not been the slightest complaint about the accumulation of a vast personal fortune.

Another fourth of July has come and gone. The old-time manner of celebrating it was observed by most of the citizens of The Dalles at Roseland farm and Hood River.

Many of the banks which have failed are opening up again, with exchequers sufficiently reinforced to meet all demands.

John Berry won the horse-race from Kansas to Chicago. His horse was a thoroughbred, proving that the staying qualities popularly supposed to be superior in the plains broncho, are not borne out by the facts.

MARKET REPORT.

THURSDAY, July 6.—The week just passed being the holiday week has been comparatively quiet in business circles.

The produce market is steady and well stocked. Eggs, butter and poultry remain on former quotations.

The grain market is still depressed. Eastern and foreign markets are even more discouraging than our own.

The wool situation is unchanged, as will be seen by the following from the Boston Advertiser of the 30th ult:

A special report on wools and woollens in the United States has just been sent to the printer by Major Brock, the chief of the Bureau of Statistics of the treasury department.

The number of woolen establishments in the country in 1890 is shown by the census bureau to have been 2,489, with an invested capital of $286,494,481, employing 219,132 hands, paying wages of $76,096,742, and using 372,797,413 lbs. of wool, which cost $38,540,480.

The United States consumes more domestic in proportion to imported wool in domestic manufactures than either of the other leading manufacturing countries.

The total receipts of wool at this port during the past week comprise 15,252 bags and bales domestic and 701 bales foreign, against 25,954 bags and bales domestic, 2,833 bales foreign for the same time last year.

since Jan. 1, 1893, comprise 225,543 bags and bales domestic and 112,182 bales foreign, against 234,291 bags and bales domestic and 168,264 bales of foreign for the same time in 1892.

The sales for the week comprise 997,000 lbs of domestic fleece and pulled, and 484,000 lbs foreign, making the week's transactions foot up 1,481,000 lbs against 1,644,000 lbs for the previous week, and 1,874,000 lbs domestic and 291,000 lbs foreign for the corresponding week last year.

The market continues dull and depressed by the demand yet confined principally to meeting present wants. The woolen mills are getting their back orders for heavy weights attended to, and until the demand for spring goods for next year starts up, there will be but little call for wool.

Some business has been done in new wools to arrive, but it has been mostly at low prices at which dealers have offered the wool and thus are taking their chances of getting out at a profit.

Territory wools meet with some sale, but the pressure is on the part of the holder, as buyers have about their own way on prices.

The demand for Australian wool is depressed by the low price of domestic fleeces, and it is only where the manufacturer is in need of a little to finish up orders for goods that a market can be found.

We quote the selling prices of the market for leading descriptions as follows:

SEABROOKE ON FUN.

The Comedian Talks Pleasantly About His Trade.

He Thinks That Laughter Is Infectious, or Contagious, and Cites a Funny Incident in Support of His Novel Theory.

Did it ever strike you, as it often has me, that the word "fun" is in itself funny? asks Thomas Q. Seabrooke, the comic opera fun maker, in the Chicago Post.

The old dictionaries set down "fun" as "a low word," and its definition as "vulgar merriment," but I think modern merry makers have reformed all that.

Fun embraces the entire range of wit and humor. I believe all perfect humanity enjoys a joke, but as regards that which seems most comical to one another may not be able to see anything humorous in it whatever.

It is a question in my mind whether or not laughter is always caused by merriment. I have known persons who laughed most when they were very angry.

While crossing one of Chicago's crowded thoroughfares during the past week there was a terrific explosion within ten feet of me, and the cover of a man-hole went careening toward the top of a sky-scraper. I ducked my head, dodged, then ran for my life. A pair of white horses attached to a blue cab ran into me, knocked off my hat and I was splattered with mud.

"It's enough to make a horse laugh," is a common expression which we may suppose arose from the usually accepted fact that horses never do laugh.

They cannot be complete in sight who are not humorously prone. A man without a merry thought could hardly have a funny bone.

The American woman is nothing if not sensible, and most of the extreme fashions have to be modified in order to be well received by her.

Mrs. PHOENIX HEARST, widow of Senator Hearst, proposes to establish a home for destitute boys on a farm of four hundred and fifty acres near San Francisco.

Or Mrs. Olney, wife of the attorney general, the reporters have been able to learn little, except that she belongs to a fine old New England family, is exclusive and has two married daughters.

Mrs. SUSANNAH CHADWICK, of Emporium, Pa., is a revolutionary pensioner and receives twenty-five dollars per month. She is seventy-four years of age and the daughter of Lieut. Ellihu Chadwick, who served in the New Jersey militia.
