The second allegation is that they landed Chinamen from off steamers from British Columbia ports on fraudo-

No sooner had the marshal's clerk got Lotan and Paddock safely cared for, than in walked Deputy Marshal Sibley with C. D. Cardinell, another one of the alleged smuggiers. He was arrested at Union Pacific flas Boycotted the Great his residence at 449 Jackson street, and brought immediately to the marshal's office, where he gave satisfactory security and was released. Cardinell is charged with the same offense as is alleged against Lotan and Paddock and he is one of the "et al." in the indictment against "Lotun et al."

The grand jury during its short session of four active days, returned 21 indictments, all of which were true bills. Some of these were matters of minor importance, and do not concern the more important work which they accomplished. Of the other indictments, eighteen were placed in the hands of the marshal early this morning. It is generally understood that two or three of these indictments are against persons who reside at Astoria, and that there are also indictments in the hands of the marshal upon which service will not be made for some days. The subjects of these latter accusations are out of town, and it is surmised are in northerly and southerly directions from this city. It is also whispered that one man is making tracks as fast as he can for British -Columbia, and another is investigating the different steamer routes and fares to

The first indictment placed in the hands of the marshal on which service was returned, was a joint indictment against William Dunbar and Nathan Blum, for landing Chinamen here who had no ri ht to be landed, and for assisting them to land by furnishing them with fraudulent certificates, according to the allegations. There are ten counts in the indictment for five occasions that ing for each occasion.

The first count alleges that on the 26th day of November, 1892, there was unlawfully brought from British Columbia on the steamship Haytian Republic, a lar e number of Chinese laborers, which Chinamen were unlawfully landed from suid vessel, and that William Dunbar and Nat Blum did unlawfully aid, abet and assist the landing of said Chinese

The second count, referring to these same Chinamen, alleged that the defendants forged and counterfeited certain documents purporting to have been signed by certain citizens in Portland, which are known as Chinese certifi-

The third count alleges that a number of Chinamen were similarly landed here on January 27, and the fourth count alleges the forging and counterfeiting of certificates to effect their purpose.

Chinamen were again unlawfully landed on the 22d day of February, 1862, and frandulent certificates supplied to them, according to the allegations of the fifth and sixth counts.

The 2d day of September is the date of the next alleged Blegal landing of Chinamen, with two counts of a similar purport as above. The allegations of

A CUT IN PARES.

Sr. Paul. July 17 .- The passenger department of the Union Pacific has sent out circulars to its local officers in this city, declaring a boycott against the Great Northern, in so far as a recognition of its tickets is concerned. The Union Pacific requests all competing lines to dishonor the tickets of the Great Northern bearing its name. This action will not apply to points on the Montana Central. The Great Northern pays no particular attention to the effort of its competitors to handleup its business, but will retaliate in a similar manner by refusing to honor any Union Pacific tickets. The Northern Pacific, via its Chicago connection, the Western Central has made a one-fare rate from points in Minnesota and North Dakota on the same principle as excursion rates agreed upon by the Western Passenger Association, except that portions of the tickets west of St. Paul will be honored on any car, including sleepers. This practically gives a round-trip rate to Chicago oi $11.50, against the $13.75 rate agreed upon. The Great Northern met the Northern Pacific in a circular issued
