

OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

A Wide Range of Studies--The Teachers and Their Location.

The public schools are full to overflowing this year, and application has been made for more school room for the accommodation of the large number desiring admission.

The management of the schools has been very efficient, both the directors and the teachers co-operating heartily to the desired end.

Each grade represents one year's work, and when practicable is divided into two classes. Certificates are given at the completion of the full course.

We give the list of teachers at present employed in the four buildings: John Gavin, principal; Miss Minnie Mitchell, assistant principal, Court street school, 8th and 7th A;

The Wallowa Valley.

A private letter received from a Dalles lady who is visiting in Wallowa valley gives this interesting extract from a description of a ride through that beautiful country.

"We arrived at LaGrande about noon and were afraid the Elgin train had gone at the regular time, but it had waited, so we rode across the valley through big farms and orchards on a rough road and in a rattling car.

"The trial of G. W. Manville, for the murder of J. S. McCabe a few months ago, has resulted in a verdict of murder in the second degree.

Irving-Terry.

The special train carrying the members of the Irving-Terry troupe arrived at one o'clock today. The train was made up of four passenger coaches and two baggage cars, in charge of Conductor Coman and Engineer Curtis.

At the Locks.

Mr. Geo. F. Morgan, who was in town yesterday, says that there is a force, all told, of 400 men working at the locks. A large share of these are working in the canal laying the rock walls, and above this point, a force is engaged in removing the solid rock and clearing out the way preparatory for the hanging of the immense gates.

press drills are now in operation, and work is being furthered with great dispatch.

Got the Wrong Man.

Officer Quinton, of the Third-street squad, saw a man acting in a most peculiar manner this morning near Morrison street. The fellow was dancing a sort of weird jig, and gesticulating in a violent manner.

THE PLAYFUL LIGHTNING.

Two East Portlanders Have an Unpleasant Experience. Charles E. Fields, the East Portland real estate man, and Dan Jackson, the popular liverman of the other side of the river, had an experience, a day or two ago, which neither of them is anxious to have repeated.

They were coming from Albany by team, and were in the hills south of Salem Tuesday afternoon during the heavy rain storm. The conversation had turned on storms in the East. Jackson had been telling about a man and a horse being struck by lightning and instantly killed, somewhere in Pennsylvania several years ago.

The stroke had evidently fallen in close proximity to them, and, while blinded by the lightning, neither man nor horse were severely shocked. Both men admit they were just a little frightened at their narrow escape, and they had driven a mile and a half before either spoke a word after the narrow escape.

Among the exhibits at the Roseburg fair was a silk display from Coos county, which showed everything from the egg of the worm to the finished silk product.

Salem now has an ordinance that effectually shuts out all peddlers. Those who have been in the habit of soliciting orders for shirts and clothing will now be compelled to pay a license of $5 a day.

John Brown, who used to be a resident of Perrydale, drew the body of a man out of the water last Sunday at Oswego; the man was drowned in a canal about twelve feet wide while he was trying to rescue a little girl from a watery grave.

We have just learned of two farmers in Oregon who were on a trade. One had alfalfa hay and the other wool which they had agreed to trade ton for ton even. When it came to the test, the man with the hay backed down.

The trial of G. W. Manville, for the murder of J. S. McCabe a few months ago, has resulted in a verdict of murder in the second degree.

Chief Peo, a Umatilla reservation brave, is the happy possessor of a private distillery, says the Milton Eagle, and can supply himself with "fire-water" without taking the trouble of hunting up a white man who is willing to shoulder the responsibility of bartering whiskey to Indians.

There has no doubt been more lives of children saved from death in crop or whooping cough by the use of onions than by any other known remedy, our mothers used to make poultices of them, or a syrup, which was always effectual in breaking up a cough or cold.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been duly appointed by the Honorable County Court of the state of Oregon for Wasco Co., guardian of the person and estate of Edward Evans, insane.

WHY NOT?

A Plan Suggested to Have a Fruit Company of Our Own.

The experience of our fruit growers with the Earl Fruit company this year was far from satisfactory. They realized less for their products than without their aid.

If a fruit growers' association is such a beneficial organization why would it not be a good plan to have one of our own, and save these foreign profits for ourselves? A building could easily be found on First street at almost a nominal rent, which would answer all the purposes of a cold storage warehouse, besides supplying an office room and packing rooms.

THE CHRONICLE will be pleased to hear from our fruit growers on this important subject and will give space to any one who would like to see such an organization.

Chas. D. Kellogg.

The audience sat silent and spell-bound for a moment and broke into a perfect storm of applause, the same thing happened at every appearance, and were it not for the fact that he warbles as with little effort and as much genuine delight as the birds themselves he must have been thoroughly fatigued by his exertions in satisfying the demands of his audience.
