MURDER AT PULLMAN

A. B. Cooper Shot and Killed by a Burglar.

THE MURDERER MAKES HIS ESCAPE

Four Killed and Two Injured in a Train Wreck—Other News Happenings.

PULLMAN, Wash., Oct. 17.—This morning at 8:15 o'clock the room of A. B. Cooper and W. P. McKean was entered by a burglar. The intruder made a noise which awoke Cooper, who sprang from his bed and stood by the door. The burglar seeing that he was overpowered, drew his revolver and fired with fatal results, the ball entering the breast just above the heart. The murderer escaped through the door and went to a window on the south side of the hotel and threw away the watches and revolver. The stolen property was found shortly after. The hotel doors were locked and every one searched, but no clue was found. The villain did his work well. Cooper was lately from Kansas City and was manager of Blackman Bros. & Co's store in this city. Excitement runs high and it would not be well for the murderer if he is found. Deputy Sheriff Eacho, of Colfax, who was stopping at the hotel was also robbed of his watch and $5 in change, as was also Fred.

The Regular Train Wreck.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 17.—The first section of the New York and Chicago limited express, east-bound on the Fort Wayne road, was wrecked at Wellsville, O., early this morning by running into a freight train standing on the track. A heavy fog prevailed at the time and the engineer of the limited was unable to see it till too late to prevent the collision. As a result two trainmen were killed and four others injured, two of them probably fatally.

A Gloomy Wedding Tour.

TURIN, Oct. 17.—Madam Charbonnet, who went in a balloon on her wedding tour and was thrown out with her husband and his friends in the Italian Alps on October 11, arrived here today. Her husband, a professional aeronaut, is dead. His friend M. Ponto, is recovering slowly from his injuries. Madam Charbonnet says that the balloon struck the glacier at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The car went to pieces and the three occupants were thrown out, but were not badly hurt. They passed the night in the snow and ice among the Cairn-mella peaks, their only shelter being a tent which they made from the remains of the balloon. When the next day broke they began the descent of the mountain. They had gone hardly a mile when Charbonnet disappeared in a crevasse. Ponto and Madam Charbonnet wandered over the glacier during the rest of the day. In the evening Ponto fell and broke his leg. The couple passed a second night in the snow and ice. Then Madam Charbonnet went alone down the mountain to a hut, where she induced two guides to go back after her husband and Ponto. Charbonnet's dead body, with skull and limbs crushed, was found at the bottom of the crevasse. Ponto was unconscious, but revived after he was taken to the hut.

Murder and Suicide.

GREENSWALD, Pomerania, Oct. 17.—A startling tragedy has occurred in the princely family of Blucher de Wahlstatt, descendants of the famous Marshal Blucher. The family is wealthy, with marriage connections in England and the United States. The Countess Blucher became displeased with and dismissed a pretty maid servant with whom the count's gardener was desperately in love. The man pleaded with the count and countess in vain for the reinstatement of his innamorata. Later the count and countess were looking out of a window when the gardener jumped from behind a bush with a rifle and fired, killing the count. He then shot the countess in the neck, and then committed suicide with the same weapon.

Interstate Commerce Decision.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The United States court of appeals has affirmed the decision of the lower court on application of the interstate commerce commission preventing The Texas & Pacific railroad from carrying important merchandise at other than inland rates governing other freight. The decision affects a large number of roads, including the trunk lines between the eastern seaboard and Chicago and other western cities.

The Matabele are Fighters.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Lord Chelmsford, commander-in-chief of the British forces in South Africa during the Zulu war, said last evening that he thought the British forces now in the field against the Matabele warriors would be strong enough to drive them beyond the Zambesi river. The Matabele were fine, powerful fellows, he said, not inferior in physical strength to the Zulus, and fully their equals in the fight. Their efficiency in battle would be checked greatly by their inability to handle well the rifles with which they were armed. In the Zulu war he had noticed that natives recently armed were much inferior, both in attack and defense, to those of the same race who wielded the assegai.

NEWS NOTES.

Gounod, the great French composer is dead.

President Peixoto has convoked the congress elections for October 30th.

The legislature of Bolivia has passed a bill abolishing slavery. It is a mere form, as the peons have been practically free for some time.

A father, son and daughter named Sieraboch of Hampden, O., were found asphyxiated in a hotel at the world's fair. The father blew out the gas.

Three drunken Chocwats, at Caddo, in the Indian territory, opened fire without provocation on two white men named Fisher and Burly, killing them instantly. The officers are after the assassins.

The successor of the ill-fated battleship Victoria as the flagship of the British Mediterranean squadron will be the battleship Ranillas. She will shortly sail for the Mediterranean under command of Captain Simpson.

The Chicago Record's Washington special says: "Carlie informed Bruce this morning that the president had put his foot down, and will send in no more appointments except possibly in a few cases of extreme urgency till after the senate acts on the silver bill."

W. E. Wrisley, who has been separated from his wife for some time past, and who was under indictment for arson, went to the house occupied by Mrs. Wrisley, in Riverside, Cal., and after stabbing her to death went to his room in the Park hotel and blew the top of his head off with a revolver.

The French merchant ship Marseilles foundered at sea and the vessel and cargo are a total loss. All the crew and passengers are thought to be safe. She was caught in the recent gale on the South Atlantic. The Marseilles was on the way from Havre to New York with a valuable cargo of merchandise and wines.

Advices from Melilla say the Moors are strongly intrenched, and are making daring sallies against the Spaniards, whose position is now regarded as serious. Reinforcements which arrived at Melilla are utterly inadequate, and July 15,000 men will be required in order to enable the Spaniards to take the offensive.

Admiral Mello, commander of the insurgent Brazilian fleet, has again bombarded Rio Janeiro. The damage done is said to be great. Many residents who remained in the city during the prior bombardment are now fleeing to interior cities and towns. President Peixoto continues his effort to organize a fleet wherewith to give battle to the enemy.

The Canadian customs authorities, in view of the action of the United States government in reducing the value of silver currency, have indicated their intention of immediately meeting the conditions resulting in the depreciation of silver and of proclaiming a new value for the currency of those countries where depreciation has arisen.

Vest is circulating a call for a caucus of all the democratic senators. It pledges them to abide by the result, if any is reached. The silver men are signing it readily, but the repeal men are holding off. It is doubtful whether Gorman will issue the call unless the desire for it seems pretty general, as it is likely to do more harm than good.

The celebrated white-cap trial at Salem, Ind., is ended. Eliza Dalton, who stood by to see his wife whipped, was given five years in prison; James Dalton, his brother, who held Mrs. Dalton, and John Holsapple, who whipped, each received five years; Belding, who was present but did not interfere, was sentenced to three years; and Barnett, who was present but too drunk to take part, two years.

Great honor was shown the Russians by the French over their arrival in Paris yesterday. Windows, balconies, house tops and even chimneys, along the route which the Russians took were black with sightseers. The Russians appeared and entered carriages, and the great throng set up a mighty shout of "Vive la Russie." Admiral Avellan and the officers accompanying him stood in carriages and replied with shouts of "Vive la France."

A MENACE TO EUROPE

The Visit of the Russians to France.

"VIVE LA REVANCHE" THE SPIRIT

The Irish Home-Rule Bill Will Be Shelved—The Matabeles are Fighters.

PARIS, Oct. 14.—French newspapers publish long comments upon the sympathy expressed by Russians at the death of Marshal MacMahon and seem greatly pleased at it. The czar's message of thanks to President Carnot for courtesies extended to the Russian sailors at Toulon and Paris has also greatly pleased the newspapers of this and other cities of France. It may be said that France and Frenchmen feel more confidence today in the stability of the republic and in the strength of their army and navy than they have for the past 20 years. The visit of the Russians to France has had a decidedly bracing effect upon the French; but it is an open question whether this will not precipitate the long-expected European war. France is now herself again. Hot tempered, ultra sensitive, chivalrous to a very high degree, proud of her armies and navy, strong in her likes and dislikes, quick to resent injury whether real or fancied, France is more dangerous to the peace of Europe than she was a week ago. After all is summed down to the bottom facts, the wild, extravagant enthusiasm shown by French people toward their Russian guests means but one thing, the extreme delight that France feels emanates from the idea that Russia is ready to fight with her, and not satisfaction at the prospects of peace in the future. The fighting enthusiasm displayed at Toulon and at Paris as the enthusiasm of 1870, when "A Berlin" rang from the Mediterranean to the British channel, and from the Atlantic to the Prussian frontier. Those people who went wild yesterday cheering, "Vive la Russie" were in their hearts crying "Vive la Revanche," so that in spite of the czar's warning, in spite of Carnot's orders, a spirit of war is stirring up the enthusiastic millions of France and urging them on to battle in spite of their leaders. Behind all those toasts to the peace and to the prosperity of France was a thinly concealed toast to the brotherhood in arms expected to exist between Russia and France when the war trumpet calls all Europe to arms. Those toasts were toasts of war, not the toasts of peace, and nobody knows this better than the calculating, wakeful minds of Germany, Italy, Austria and England. Some peaceful demonstrations are more dangerous than warlike outbursts. The enthusiasm shown by the French people is a clear-cut demonstration of this. It shows with what wild enthusiasm France at a moment's notice would go to war with Russia by her side. It shows the real feeling at the bottom of French hearts, and the European ship of state will need very careful handling in this cyclonic weather in order to avert a clash and fearful shipwreck.

FORFEITED LANDS.

Important Decision Rendered by the Secretary of the Interior.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—An important decision was rendered today by the secretary of the interior on the appeal of James R. Daniel, involving the right to purchase certain forfeited lands in the La Grande district. He holds that the purchaser is entitled to purchase a technical half section of such land when so surveyed, irrespective of the actual acreage, but if the land lies in different sections the acreage must then approximate 320 acres. The secretary also decided that lands heretofore patented to The Dalles Military Road Company were originally granted the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, and that the patents were without authority. He orders the institution of proceedings looking to their cancellation.

Home Rule is Shelved.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—At Glasgow last night Henry Asquith, secretary of state for home affairs, announced, contrary to the impression made by Gladstone's late speech, that the home-rule bill would not be taken up at the next session of parliament, but the Newcastle programme would be carried out. This means the Irish question is shelved for some time.

THINKS THE END NEAR.

Voorhees Says the Debate Will Close This Week.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Voorhees said today he would make an effort to continue for the present the recess system inaugurated last evening. His plan is to have the senate sit each day from 10 to 6. He is of the opinion this will prove the best plan for turning out work and getting rid of long speeches. He expresses the opinion that the end of the long debate is near, and intimates the present week may close it.

FOUGHT WITH KNIVES.

Fierce Battle Between Poles and Italians.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—One dead man, two dying and 10 others variously cut and carved, lie in the station-house at Whiting, Ind., this morning, the result of a Polish dance held last night. The Poles had taken possession of the town hall for the purpose of holding their merry-making. To the dance came as unbidden guests a gang of Italians. A battle between the two nations broke out, and knives and dirks were the weapons used. The floor ran with blood. John Poshanski, a Pole, was literally scalped alive and will die. Another Pole had his jugular severed. The noise of the fray roused the citizens and attracted the few officers of the town. The riot could not be quelled, and not until 13 were disabled and 20 more received slighter wounds did the war abate. Many were arrested. Over 100 were engaged.

A COMPROMISE.

The Steering Committee Preparing a Bill.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The democrats in the senate are devoting most of their time to an effort to agree among themselves, and are of the opinion they are in a fair way to agree on a bill to be introduced the beginning of next week. So many of them are engaged in this business that very few were in the senate today; but the silver men understanding the situation did not suggest the absence of a quorum. It is a fact that the democratic steering committee has almost agreed on a bill and is now engaged in trying to get the various factions to accept it. The silver democrats accept it rather readily, though not fully satisfied with the limited recognition of silver; but some repeal democrats are still holding out for absolute repeal, and with these the committee is now laboring. The opinion is expressed that if all these cannot be won over enough republicans can be secured to pass the measure. The proposed bill extends the provisions of the present silver purchase law to January 1, 1895, with a reduction of the monthly purchase to 2,500,000 ounces per month, and for the coinage immediately of the seigniorage silver in the treasury. The matter of the bond issue is still open. The most favorably considered proposition contemplates the purchases of silver at the present rate till 90,000,000 ounces are purchased. Vilas is the only member of the committee holding out against a compromise. A consultation will be held with Carlisle this afternoon.

DR. CRAVES, THE POISONER.

A Sensational Story That He is Not Dead.

DENVER, Oct. 19.—The News publishes a sensational story to the effect that Dr. T. Thatcher Craves, the famous poisoner, who was supposed to have committed suicide in jail, is not dead. It is maintained a pine log occupied the coffin instead of his body. The story is given on the authority of Charles N. Chandler, a wealthy citizen of Thompson Centre, Conn., Craves' old home, and where the body is supposed to be buried. Chandler and a fellow townsman, Stephen Morse, are now here. They declare that the coffin was opened at the grave against the protests of the widow and found to contain a pine log, and that the supposed dead doctor is now enjoying freedom in a foreign country. A rumor has been current here some time that the body carried from the county jail was really wax, and that the parties to the deception were some high officials and a secret organization. This rumor is strengthened by the refusal to allow the remains to be viewed except by the most intimate friends, and by the further fact that the widow refused to allow the remains to be embalmed.

A DESPERADO KILLED

Shot by a Deputy United States Marshal.

A LEADER IN COAL CREEK TROUBLE

Singular Fatal Accident During a Surgical Operation—Other News Happenings.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 19.—Bud Lindsay, one of the most notorious desperadoes in this section, was shot and mortally wounded near Jacksboro yesterday afternoon by J. N. McGhee, a deputy United States marshal. Lindsay was one of the leaders in the Coal Creek mining troubles, and it was he who captured General Anderson, commander of the state troops, and held him prisoner until released by General Carnes' command. He was for several years a deputy United States marshal and a terror to moonshiners. He has killed three men, and was mixed up in numerous battles in the border counties of Kentucky and Tennessee. He was killed in a personal difficulty brought on by himself.

Singular Fatal Accident.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 19.—Patrick Kanaley of Jordan died at St. Joseph's hospital, this city, last evening in a peculiar manner. He was undergoing amputation of the left leg above the ankle, when an attendant was instructed to clear out his throat, which had filled with mucus and was interfering with his breathing. The sponge used got loose from its fastenings and Kanaley drew it down into his throat with the next inspiration. Tracheotomy was performed and the sponge was finally recovered, but the man was dead.

DECREASE IN CONSUMPTION.

A Remedy That is Working Wonders With the Disease.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17.—The county medical societies' petition to the board of health to isolate consumptives has increased their fears, occasioned by startling headlines in a local paper declaring the disease infectious. The state legislature of Michigan recently indorsed this view, as did the medical congress in Washington, and deaths from consumption having decreased everywhere recently, Dr. Fleck, with a few others, ascribe this to isolation. The majority of medical experts, however, credit it to the free broadcast distribution through physicians of test outfits of the Amick treatment, by which authentic cures are reported daily in the medical and secular press.

Was it Chance or Retribution?

BALTIMORE, Oct. 19.—In testifying in her own behalf at the southwestern police station Monday, Mrs. Adeline Wilder called God to smite her if she had not sworn to the truth. The words had scarcely left her mouth when she fell to the floor unconscious. Twelve hours afterward she was revived, but is now a raving maniac. Mrs. Wilder had been arrested for assault. At the trial even her husband corroborated the prosecuting witness, a young woman whom Mrs. Wilder was charged with striking with a teapot. Mr. Wilder says his wife never to his knowledge had a fainting fit before.

Homesteaders Can Not Get Fees Back.

The following letter has been received by Capt. Lewis in response to an inquiry from that gentleman, whose purport may be easily gathered from the answer:

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,

GENERAL LAND OFFICE,

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 14, 1893.

REGISTER AND RECEIVER, THE DALLES, OR.

GENTLEMEN:—Referring to your letter of 2d inst., transmitting application of ——— for repayment of fees and commissions paid on Homestead entry No. ———, you are advised that said entry was canceled upon relinquishment October 2nd, 1893.

The records of this office show no conflict; nor was the entry erroneously allowed, but it appears that the relinquishment was a voluntary act on the part of the entryman.

The law governing the return of fees and commissions does not provide for repayment in cases where parties voluntarily relinquish or abandon their entries.

The application is accordingly denied.

Yours Respectfully,

S. W. LAMOREUX, Commissioner.
