THE DALLES, OREGON

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Wednesday's Daily. When cold reflection bids me feel regret for to-day's past, some newer folly I commit, and so forget the last.

The funeral of Bart W. Crook took place this morning. At Walla Walla it rained all night Friday and the following day.

The trial of A. Wilson for assault and battery was heard this afternoon before Justice Schultz.

Wheat in sacks throughout the house country is sprouting and much damage will result.

Prof. Frank Miller will make a balloon ascension and parachute jump Saturday from one of the lots in the burned district.

The Junior League will give their entertainment and pie social Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the M. E. church.

Mr. Simpson arrived from the Yakima and took with him his dead son yesterday, who died on the Regulator Saturday evening.

Farther Bros. shipped 600 mutton from Tule, Wash., this morning, D. P. & A. N. Co. to Portland. They ship as many more tomorrow.

Mr. J. H. Sherer, the great wool grower of Wasco county, is shipping a lot of wool by the D. P. & A. N. Co. which is to be forwarded to Boston.

The close season for Denny pheasants, quail and quail ended on Sunday, and the next month they may grace the table of anyone fortunate enough to buy them.

Mr. We, a subject of the Flowery Kingdom, leaves tonight for the world's exhibition in Chicago four months.

The first Chinaman of The Dalles made the great international exhibition.

The Denver drove into the Saltmarsh stock yards 225 head of fine sheep today, which were raised near Belleville, in Crook county. They will be shipped this evening to the Union Meats company, Portland.

Mr. Herbering recently received a bill for 3 cents a pound more for sheep yarn than he paid a year ago when wool was worth twice as much as today. Being a close observer the merchant was quick to note the discrepancy and has made a "howl" about it. The answer will doubtless bring an explanation and apology.

The reporter of the Walla Walla Statesman has been making a tour for purpose, finds that at least one-third of the usually large crop of wheat in that county is now only fit for chicken feed and the loss in Umatilla county is estimated at over 50 per cent. The rain has ruined many of the largest wheat raisers in their grain still in the stack.

Mr. S. W. Mason, who lives about 12 miles southeast of The Dalles, east of Tule, brought to THE CHRONICLE this morning some very large and handsome potatoes which were raised on irrigation on hill land. Mr. Mason's method of planting is to drop a seed in a hill and he gets a large, heavy vine and superior potatoes. He also has an ear of the red rice pop-corn which is a very handsome and profitable variety.

Thursday's Daily. The sweetly solemn thought comes to me with a pain, that Kingly Paths, as like as not, will come to life again, will be alive and strong, to whom within his hand, to whose reporter comes along, to tell us he is dead.

Two vagrants were given quarters in city jail last night.

Colonel Stange is now engaged at the National bank at Spokane.

Mr. Chas. L. Richmond has taken charge of the Richmond livery stable in the East End.

There is a great deal of wheat being brought into market that is rejected on account of it being too damp.

Young Denny pheasants are acknowledged to surpass in toothsome quality grouse or quail.

The Columbia Wheat Co. yesterday shipped 2,500 sacks of wheat, which had been delivered on the beach.

Farther & Co. shipped 1,200 head of sheep yesterday and today, instead of 1,000, as erroneously stated yesterday.

The Mignonette club will not hold a party Friday evening. The usual party will be given one week from that night.

The county jail was recruited today by the arrival of Thos. Pryor of Cascade county, who was sent up by Judge C. J. for larceny of some of Day Bros. sheep. He was bound over to appear at the grand jury.

News comes from the Palouse country, that in the vicinity of Rosalia, that all the threshers have started up. A very available man is working in the harvest field or threshing machine tracks are still very wet on the top, they are pitching off the top and using it for feed, and in most cases the balance is all right.—Walla Walla Statesman.

A number of race horses left on the Regulator this morning in care of Mr. A. M. Allen, to be present at the winter meeting of the Pacific Coast Blooded Horse association to open shortly in San Francisco. These are Champagne and Cors J., owned by Dave McAtee, Hopper; Rockland Boy, J. P. McInerney; Siretta, J. G. Mack; Joe Woods, Dan. Maloney.

Friday's Daily. I would not have the wretched day come back from Time's great shore—For then, you know, I'd have to pay The bygone bill—since more.

Albert Valentine, the runaway, has been recaptured and placed in the county jail.

There will be services in the Congregational church on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, Rev. C. F. Clapp of Portland officiating.

Mr. Albert Allen brought into the Saltmarsh & Co. stock yards this afternoon the 450 head of beef cattle that were in pasture on 8-Mile, and the owners, Messrs. Rand & Co., will ship them to Omaha.

Mr. J. C. Crandall was re-elected secretary of the Northwest Funeral Directors association. The other officers are: President, E. R. Butterworth, of Seattle; first vice-president, D. B. Vanball, of Dayton, Wash.; second vice-president, C. S. Hoska, of Tacoma; treasurer, F. S. Dunning, Portland; board of directors, R. S. Holman, of Oregon City; Jasper Fuller, of Vancouver, Wash.; John Garnold, J. R. Finley and F. E. Dunning, Portland.

A short but exciting runaway took place this afternoon. Henry Staagman's four horse team, attached to a heavy wagon took fright while standing in front of Prinz & Nitschke's furniture store, and ran down the street one square colliding with August Deckert's light rig at the Red Front grocery. The heavy wagon turned over, wheels up, the spokes of one front wheel being broken completely out. The tongue of Deckert's spring wagon was broken off and one of his horses sustained a flesh injury on a hind leg. Both gentlemen are considerably damaged by the event.

Dr. Doane and Wife Returns.

Dr. O. D. Doane and wife returned this morning from the east, after an absence of nearly six weeks. After leaving The Dalles on Sept. 11th, they went to Milwaukee, to attend the sovereign grand lodge of Odd Fellows, to which the doctor was a delegate. After a very pleasant session they left on the 23d for Chicago, staying until Oct. 11th visiting friends and sight-seeing, when they started homeward. Like all Oregonians who have visited the fair, the doctor deplores the fact that Oregon has no state building, though it is well represented in the various general buildings, where the exhibits excite favorable comment. Especially in the horticultural building the exhibit is excellent. The educational exhibit is equal to the best of any in the state. There is also a very creditable showing in the fisheries building. The state is also well represented in ornithology, the Denny pheasants finding a conspicuous place. The doctor was greatly surprised that in the whole number of days he was at the fair he never saw a drunken man and heard no profane language, and the crowds numbered any day in the hundreds thousands. Very little swindling takes place on the grounds, owing to the large number of guards, as besides the 1,400 Columbian there are great numbers of detectives in citizens clothes, and all tough characters are spotted at once. The doctor and his wife are glad to be at home again, and have a large number of souvenirs to remind them of their visit to the great Columbian exposition.

Repays a Loan.

When in jail at Ellensburg, Cal Hale, falsely accused of the Roslyn bank robbery, wrote to Frank O'Hara, of Pendleton, for a loan of $300 to enable him to defend the case. Cal had no security to offer, but Frank sent the money and received the prisoner's note. The note fell due on the first of this month. Cal Hale, although Detective Sullivan and the rest deemed him a desperado, bank robber and villain, is in reality an honest well-meaning man of work, and when he found that he could not pay the note did all that was possible to insure his friend in need against loss. Yesterday he arrived in Pendleton, says the E. O., from Wasco county and gave a bill of sale to Frank O'Hara for all his horses. Six work horses he brought with him, and the remainder, twelve head of colts, he will winter for Mr. O'Hara at his Wasco county ranch. Cal Hale, "the notorious outlaw," the "king of outlaws," is now worse than bankrupt, all because of the crime laid at his door of which he was proven innocent; that's all. He has no means of redress for the weary months spent in jail and the loss of everything he possessed.

Real Estate.

DANIEL CAMPBELL'S SAD END

A Pathetic Letter From His Stricken Father.

ERRAND CHRONICLE.—It is my painful duty to inform you that my dear son departed this life Monday October 20 at 20 minutes past 12 o'clock.

After we finished our own threshing Mr. Harst, who owned the machine, wanted him to go with him to finish two more jobs and he would be done for this season. I did not want him to go, as we had so much work of our own to do at home. He said he would be home when two more jobs were finished and told me not to work too hard, as he knew I was not very strong, but to go to the blacksmith shop and get the plows sharpened and he would be home with me to put in our fall grain. The evening I expected him home a messenger came and shouted to me that Daniel's right foot accidentally slipped in the cylinder and was cut off about the knee. I told him to saddle my horse as quick as possible and I faintly, but soon recovered, and rode nine miles to our kind friend, Nelson Weberg, as fast as the horse could run. I was afraid they would not think of strapping his leg to keep him from bleeding to death before the doctors arrived. But his leg was strapped and they had sent for two doctors, one from Tygh and Dr. Vanderpool from Dufur. They arrived as soon as they could get here and told me to prepare for the worst, that he might drop off at any time. I told them to use their own judgment and save him if they possibly could. They worked faithfully with him until the next evening when they thought him sufficiently recovered from the shock as to be able to stand the operation. I saw his knee could not be saved and thought it better to cut above in sound flesh as it would heal up sooner. He stood the operation well and I was so full of hope that he would be spared and recover. He complained that his knee was gone. I told him to be thankful and if the Lord spared him we would sell the ranch and get a nice artificial leg for him and go at some light business. He was well educated. We had nothing to fear. He was cheerful and full of hope but said that he was resigned to the will of God. I will give great credit to our Tygh doctor for performing one of the finest surgical operations I ever saw and I thank him and Dr. Vanderpool for their faithful attention to my dear departed son. The evening before he died I saw that there was a change for the worse. I would not lay down and stayed with him all night and until he died. Through the night he was a little delirious and would repeat some verses of hymns and would say "my dear and blessed Saviour." The doctor from Tygh arrived about 11 a. m. and did all he could but was unable to save him. He died Monday the 20 at 20 minutes past 12. The people were all so very kind and so sorry. He was buried at 2 p. m. in Kelly's graveyard. Elder Crane, pastor of the Baptist church, was absent across the mountains. There was the largest turnout to his funeral that was ever known in this part of the country. Deacon Farlow addressed us. His subject was: "If the earthly house of this tabernacle is dissolved we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the Heavens." Daniel always took an active part in prayer meetings and Sunday school and was always ready to perform his part. The church was crowded and there never was such lamentations in that church, young and old in tears. He was clerk of the Baptist church, which was organized here last summer. I acknowledge I fairly worshipped him. He was so kind and good, and I expected to have so much pleasure the balance of my days. I am tiring and breaking down and all alone. My only consolation is that I know my severe loss is his great gain. Deacon Farlow, of Waucoma, in addressing us did justice to the subject and some beautiful and appropriate remarks were made by Brother Kelly.

Very sincerely,
J. C. CAMPBELL.

Freight Wreck.

An east-bound freight pulled into Hood River yesterday afternoon and lacked a few car lengths of clearing the main track. The conductor ordered a brakeman to go back and flag the next freight, which was closely following. While performing the duty another freight in the yards whistled to back up and the brakeman mistaking it for a signal to return, came back without flagging the train in the rear. In a few minutes on came the train behind the curve, and before it could be checked ran into the rear end of the train which had come in a few minutes before. About half a dozen cars were demolished, and one of them had to be burned. The locomotive lost her smoke stack and sustained other damages. Some of the cars were loaded with wheat, a part of it becoming scattered and lost. Conductor Smith's caboose is totally wrecked.

The Union Pacific.

Telegrams. The bill of complaint in equity filed by Peter B. Wyckoff and Edwin F. Atkins against the Union Pacific road is an extended printed document of 71 pages. First, it recounts the holdings of the petitioners and then gives a specific statement in regard to the bonds and stock, debts and interests of each member of the system, and how much stock of each the Union Pacific company holds. The extensive land areas are then mentioned as located in Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, Utah.

It is further stated that the Union Pacific system has a capital stock outstanding of $60,868,500 divided into shares of $100 each; a funded debt of $85,492,185; United States 6 per cent currency bonds, $33,539,512; interest on United States bonds, balance of sinking fund deducted, $17,784,764.48; interest accrued not yet due, $277,799.27; bonds and stock owned by auxiliary companies held by the company as collateral, $7,542,345.98; income accounts, $44,694,203.82, less deficit of United States acquisitions of sinking fund, with accrued interest on United States bonds February 1st, 1880, to date, $5,368,268.63, making $39,325,935.19; grand total, $245,431,041.92.

The system includes 1166 miles of railway; total bonds of $40,206,816; stocks of $57,563,068.01; miscellaneous of $2,322,481.46, or grand total of $100,113,365.49.

IN NEW QUARTERS.

The Electric Light Company Installed Down in Town.

The Electric light company have finished moving their machinery and fixtures in their handsome new building between First and Second streets, which is an ornament to the city. It is of handsome design, commodious and its exterior is covered with corrugated iron. The interior is divided as follows: Office 15x15; shop 38x15; store room 42x15; machinery room 80x32; boiler room 28x40. A brick wall separates the boiler room from the main building.

There are two Edison dynamos, each capable of maintaining 820 16-candle power incandescent lights, and one Thompson-Houston dynamo, with a capacity of fifty 2,000 candle power arc lights. The engine is a Lane & Bodley Corliss, 225 horse power. The new Ames boiler has a capacity of 125 horse power and the old one 100, which can and will be used jointly to furnish steam for the engine. The quality of the lights has been improved since the change was made, although Manager McArthur has not completed the work of arranging the wires, and within a day or two the lights will all shine with great brilliancy.

The last of the machinery was put in place yesterday and the old boiler will be put in at once.

An Apoplectic Seizure.

Mr. Geo. F. Beers was taken with an apoplectic seizure this morning, and serious apprehension is manifested as to his recovery. Mr. Beers was apparently in the best of health and spirits and the suddenness of the blow was especially sad. After breakfast this morning, while buttoning his wife's shoes, which is a domestic custom with him, he seemed to experience a difficulty as if he could not see plainly, which caused Mrs. Beers to question him as to what was the matter. He tried to reply, but no word passed his lips and he has not spoken since. It was at first supposed he was affected with lockjaw, but it later developed that he was stricken with apoplexy. Dr. Logan was summoned, but can give no opinion as to whether he is apt to recover or not. Mr. Beers had a light stroke of apoplexy some years ago. He was a former partner of Mr. S. L. Brooks, the latter disposing of his interest in 1891, since which time Mr. Beers has been at the head of The Dalles Mercantile Company. He is well known all over this section of the state, and all of his acquaintances will be pained to hear of his sudden serious illness.

A Chinaman Kills Another.

The Telegram gives the news of a Chinese murder in Pendleton Tuesday night.

A Chinaman named Coon Sing stabbed another named Charley. Sing is the proprietor of a wash-house on Main street and Charley was one of his employees. Charley asked Sing for some money. Sing refused, and then hot words ensued, scaring the rest of the Chinamen so that they hustled out into the street, while a crowd of white men were attracted just in time to see Charley murdered. After scuffling and swearing for a minute or two, Sing quickly drew a Chinese dagger and plunged it with full force deep into the breast of Charley and through his heart, killing him instantly. Instead of trying to escape, Sing took the matter very calmly and went alone to the sheriff's office and surrendered himself. He claimed that Charley was as much to blame as himself, and would have killed him instead if he had not been the quicker of the two.

Liberty School.

Mr. F. S. Isenberg, an enterprising young man from Hood River, is teaching the Liberty school. The pupils of this school decided the other day to have a school paper. They named it The Liberty School Herald and selected Miss Mary Underwood editor and Miss Ada Bell principal reporter. The teacher, of course, is associate editor.

MARRIED.

At the residence of J. W. Jenkins, at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, October 18th, Mr. A. L. Huff and Miss Ella Ward.

The couple will shortly remove to Bialocks, where the groom resides.

THE FOREST RESERVE.

The Importance of Keeping Intact This Large Body of Timber.

Mr. C. E. Bayard has a map of the recently designated Cascade forest reserve, which has very intricate boundary lines, extending generally southward from the Columbia river including Mt. Hood and taking in Mt. Pitt and a few miles beyond. It has an average width of 20 miles and is 200 miles long. The map has been prepared by the Oregon Alpine club and sent to several members. The idea of reserving a tract of forest must be generally conceded to be wise, as by this action our rainfall is perpetuated, and the streams, whose sources emanate from this region, will maintain their volume far into the heated season, which would otherwise become dry when they were most needed. Writers upon forestry have shown that the wholesale removal and devastation of forests affects climate and waterflow unfavorably. The influence of forests on fogs and clouds may frequently be observed. The fog seems to linger in the woods after it has cleared off elsewhere. Trees, also, act as condensers, as gatherers of dew, frost and ice. Hail storms and all violent air disturbers show a marked disinclination to enter forests, which accounts for our immunity from cyclones. From the above considerations and many more it will be seen that the protection of our forests is of the first importance.

Trials of the Farmers.

A gentleman from Sherman county, who was in the city last evening, informs us that the condition of the unthreshed wheat is anything but hopeful. He says the late spring, followed by early fall rains, was the cause of the late harvest, and the scarcity of harvesting machinery to meet the requirement for the harvesting of the grain, which ripened about the same time, caught the farmers in a straitened condition and the result is that nearly half of their grain is spoiled and not half of the farmers will see themselves out whole, but be left nearly bankrupt, as they depended on their crops to help them out of debt. The best of their wheat only sell at the stations on the railroad at 32 to 34c per bushel. In some instances the farmers have improved and made homes who under the existing law requiring payment January 1st, 1894, will be unable to do so. Congress ought to extend the time for payment another year, as the government can better stand it than the people who have taken the chances of meeting the requirement and lost through storms, etc.

Company G Organized.

A mass meeting was held in the court house last evening for the purpose of organizing a company of the National Guards. Col. Thompson was present as mustering officer and forty-three enlisted. The election of officers resulted in the selection of L. C. Chrisman, captain, Dennis Bonnell first lieutenant, and J. R. McAvoy second lieutenant. The company selected for their title the initial G. Others will enlist and it is expected the company will recruit their numbers up to about 65 men. The term of enlistment is three years. While they may never be called upon to engage in active service the discipline will be invaluable. A knowledge of military tactics should be possessed by every loyal citizen of the land.

Cobweb Party.

A few friends were pleasantly entertained at the home of the Misses Michell last evening, the occasion being a "cobweb" party. A number of prizes were fastened at the ends of as many strings woven in the manner of a cobweb through the different rooms. The guests unwound the strings and captured their booty. Other social features were music and a lunch, and the evening was merrily passed. Those present were: Misses Mary Frazier, Anne and Besse Lang, Elizabeth FitzGerald, Maie Williams, Ursula and Louise Rich, Virginia Marden, Matilda Hollister, Messrs. H. Lonsdale, F. Faulkner, G. Snowden, F. Reid, M. Jamson, E. Williams, S. Campbell, J. Hampshire.

Boy Tramps.

Charles and Frank Williams, aged 12 and 13 years respectively, are the latest occupants of the city jail. The older of the two is minus a leg above the knee. Both are very dirty and ragged and were intercepted by an officer while coming in on a freight train. The boys say they lived about 25 miles this side of Chicago, and about ten days ago left for Portland, where they claim an older brother lives, who is a wiper in the shops. They have lost their parents and have earned a livelihood blacking boots. They are bright little Arabs and seem to need the refining influences of civilization more than anything else. Their case is being considered by Judge Blakeley.

Mr. Harriman's Grain.

Mr. W. J. Harriman of Dry Hollow, one of the leading farmers of the county, brought in today a six-horse load of Walla Walla club wheat and stored it at Moody's warehouse. This wheat is some of the finest that has come into town this season. It turned out several bushels to the acre more than Little Club this year. Mr. Harriman raises the new Archangel oats.

DYSPEPSIA

Is that misery experienced when suddenly made aware that you possess a diabolical arrangement called stomach. No two dyspeptics have the same predominant symptoms, but whatever form dyspepsia takes

The underlying cause is in the LIVER, and one thing is certain no one will remain a dyspeptic who will Start the Liver working and all bodily ailments will disappear.

"For more than three years I suffered with Dyspepsia in its worst form. I tried several doctors, but they afforded no relief. At last I tried Simmons Liver Regulator, which cured me in a short time. It is a good medicine. I would not be without it."—JAMES A. ROANE, Philad'a, Pa.
