PART 1.

VOL. III. THE DALLES, OREGON, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1893. NUMBER 47.

FIRST VOTE IS TAKEN

Was on Peffer's Amendment for Free Coinage.

It WAS DEFEATED BY 39 TO 25

Voorhees' Bill was Substituted for the Wilson Bill—Other News Notes.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 27.—Consideration of the repeal bill was resumed and Stewart resumed his argument against it. At 1:30 p. m. he yielded to his colleague, Jones.

At 5:30 Jones asked that he might suspend tomorrow. Voorhees said he did not wish to deny any one the right to speak, and hoped the senator from Nevada would conclude tomorrow, but no one was prepared to go on just at that time, he would ask for a vote on the pending amendment in order that one of these might be gotten out of the way in the meantime. Peffer asked that he might occupy the floor for a short time in explanation of his amendment and was recognized.

Voting on amendments to the silver bill began at 4 p. m. Peffer's amendment to restore the law of 1837 for free coinage of gold and silver lost by a vote of 25 to 39.

At 7:30 M.—Voorhees' bill was substituted for the Wilson bill, ayes, 58, nays, 32. This is a pro-silver vote, and a test. Only a few silver men voted against it.

The vote on Voorhees' substitute for the Wilson bill was with the main purpose that the Voorhees bill should be subject to amendment. Under these circumstances neither is debate cut off nor is the right to offer amendments nullified.

At 5:35 P. M.—Perkins of California offered an amendment which provides for a coinage of the American product, allowing 20 per cent seigniorage, allowing gold coins of less than $10 and silver certificates of less than $5. He was speaking on the amendment. The house was adjourned till Monday.

Voorhees is Hopeful.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Voorhees is hopeful of a speedy conclusion of the debate on the repeal bill. He said this morning that there might be a vote tomorrow on some amendments. The senate is settled down with as much patience as possible to listen to the speeches yet to be finished. Morgan may have a few remarks to make, and Dubois will, on an opportune time presents itself, speak 15 or 20 minutes. Allen, the popular one who broke the record for long speeches, is said to have another in contemplation before the end comes, but he said today, saying he might think necessary to speak a very short time tonight; if he did, his remarks would be short and extemporaneous. The voting on the amendments begins tomorrow. Morgan will speak first, and it is said will touch upon the subject of closure in opposition to establishment of such a rule. The managers of the bill to prod the speaker along, and if the speeches are drawn out the session may be extended the evening a couple of hours so one of the numerous amendments may have been or will be offered may be a good way.

A Vote Will be Taken Soon.

WASHINGTON, D. C., [Special to THE CHRONICLE].—The prospects are favorable for an early vote on the repeal bill. There is nothing to retard it except concluding remarks of several speakers, including Jones, Dubois, Stewart, and others. The repeal men are restless, and some are out of town. Those who have their vote recorded will be here by Monday or Tuesday, the vote will be taken not later than Tuesday.

Praise From France.

PARIS, Oct. 27.—Le Temps comments upon President Cleveland's attitude on the silver question, says by resisting the uttermost, Cleveland will render great service to the business world, at the same time will help modify constitutional equilibrium of the United States by transforming the members of his cabinet into quasi-parliamentary leaders. This is the most important innovation involved in the financial crisis.

Even the Earth is Burning.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 30.—Several fires in St. Louis on which the summer was raised the biggest hay in Iowa are burning away to ashes. Several days ago the land was several feet deep in water and was known as Owl lake.

It was drained by a big ditch and dried up, leaving a very rich soil. A few days ago when a prairie fire swept over it the soil itself took fire, burning like turf. Any number of interesting fossils remains are exposed to view where the fire has burned out.

NEWS NOTES.

The Battle creek disaster numbered twenty-seven victims killed.

The grand jury have recommended that Prendergast be held for murder.

The president has nominated E. F. Uhl, of Michigan, assistant secretary of state.

The house committee on territories has been busy several weeks perfecting a bill for the admission of Utah.

It is generally understood the senate will pass the Chinese exclusion bill while the house is considering the silver bill.

ONE MORE IS ADDED

Carter Harrison, Five Times Mayor of Chicago, Killed by a Crank.

ASSASSINATED AT HIS RESIDENCE

The Murderer Surrenders Himself and Is Now Closely Guarded to Prevent Lynching.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Another crazy crank has done his deadly work, and Carter H. Harrison, a five-times mayor of Chicago and one of the best known men in the west, lies dead at his home, 231 South Ashland Boulevard. Three bullets entered his body, two making wounds sufficient to cause death. The murder was committed by Eugene Patrick Prendergast, a paper-carrier, who had declared Mayor Harrison had promised to make him corporation counsel and had not kept his word. This, he said, was the only reason for committing the crime.

The only person in the house at the time of the shooting, besides Mr. Harrison, was his son, William Preston Harrison, aged 25, and the servants. A little before 8 o'clock the door bell rang, and when Mary Hansen, a domestic, opened the door, she was confronted by a man about 5 feet 5 inches high, smooth shaven and with clean-cut features, lighted up by a pair of dark eyes.

"Is Mr. Harrison in?" asked the man in a quiet, pleasant voice.

"Yes, sir," responded the girl, as she threw open the door to admit his entrance.

"I would like to see him, please," said the man; as he walked toward the back end of the hall.

Mayor Harrison was in the dining-room, which opened into the rear of the hall. Hearing a man ask for him, he stepped into the hall and walked toward Prendergast.

Without saying a word, Prendergast drew a revolver and commenced to fire. He pulled the trigger three times, and every bullet hit its mark. One bullet shattered Harrison's left hand; another passed into the lower right side of the abdomen, making a wound that would have been mortal within a few days, while the third bullet entered the chest slightly above the heart. This wound was the immediate cause of death.

AFTER THE FIRING.

So soon as Prendergast began to fire, Harrison turned and walked rapidly toward the dining-room. He passed through a room into the butler's pantry, where, weakened by the loss of blood, he fell to the floor. Prendergast did not follow up his victim, but replaced his revolver in his pocket with the same deliberation that marked all his actions, and started toward the door. Just as he was passing out, William Preston Harrison came tearing down the stairs and the coachman ran into the rear end of the hall. The cries of Mary Hansen directed the son to where the father lay, but the coachman was after other game. He had a revolver of his own, and as quickly as he realized what had occurred he sent a bullet after the retreating form of the murderer. A second time he fired, but both bullets went wild. Running to the door, the coachman prepared to continue hostilities, but several people entered to learn the cause of the shooting, and by the time the coachman reached the door the murderer had disappeared.

THE MAYOR'S DEATH.

Across Ashland boulevard, directly opposite the Harrison residence, is the home of W. J. Chalmers, a wealthy maker of mining machinery. Chalmers was standing upon the front steps of his residence when the shots were fired. He dashed across the street and met Prendergast at the gate.

"What is it?" said Chalmers. The man walked rapidly away without replying, and Chalmers hastened into the house and reached Harrison almost at the same moment that William Preston Harrison found where his father lay.

"Are you hurt?" asked Chalmers, as he and the son of the dying man strove to raise him.

"I have got my death, Chalmers," responded the mayor. "I'm shot in the heart and a dead man."

A moment later Harrison said with a voice rapidly losing strength:

"Unbutton my vest; there's where the trouble is."

By this time the stricken man was borne to a couch in an adjoining room, and as he spoke Chalmers gently opened his waistcoat. The front of the shirt was soaked in blood, which welled rapidly from the wound.

"It's through the heart," said the mayor again, his voice scarcely above a whisper.

A moment later he sank into unconsciousness, and 20 minutes after receiving the wound Mr. Harrison was dead.

About 25 minutes after the shooting, Sergeant Frank McDonald was standing in the office of the Desplaines-street police station. Every available officer had already hurried out to work on the case and McDonald was preparing to follow. The door was pushed gently open and in walked a small, smooth-shaven, poorly-dressed man carrying a revolver in his hand. He shook like a man with the palsy. His face was white and drawn. Great drops of perspiration chased each other down his face, and his tottering limbs seemed scarcely able to hold him up. Looking McDonald straight in the eyes, he said:

"I did it."

"You did it?" asked McDonald.

"Yes, I did."

"Did what?" said the officer, as he laid one hand on the fellow's shoulder, and with the other took the revolver.

"I shot Mayor Harrison, and that is what I shot him with," was the reply.

"What made you do it?" asked McDonald.

"He said he would make me corporation counsel, and he did not. That is what I shot him for."

Prendergast was trembling so he could scarcely stand, and the officer led him to a chair and asked a few more questions, to which Prendergast would only make the reply he had first given as to the cause of the shooting. He said that after leaving Harrison's house, he had taken a street car and started toward Desplaines-street station with the object of giving himself up, adding:

"The car did not go very fast, or I would have been here sooner."

THREATS OF LYNCHING.

The cell door had scarcely closed behind the murderer when an excited crowd began gathering about the police station. Patrol wagons rattled up to the place, cabs and carriages came by the score, and the occupants crowded and pushed their way into the office. Personal friends of the dead mayor, city officials and the curious crowded against each other in a wild endeavor to learn if the story, which spread like wildfire through the city, was true. An immense throng gathered and the laboring men who had stopped on their way home added their voices to the subdued threats of vengeance, for Mr. Harrison was popular with the masses. The streets were soon filled with blocks, and the officers, as they looked out the station windows upon the surging sea of angry faces, became alarmed for the safety of their prisoner. A hasty conference was held and it was decided to remove Prendergast to the central station in the city hall. The trembling, pale-faced man was led between stalwart officers to the rear door and hurried away in the darkness.

Mr. Chalmers said late last night regarding the shooting:

After we had carried Mr. Harrison to his couch, he said it was useless to do anything for him, and his last words, as nearly as I can remember them, were: 'Give me water—send for Annie—give me water.' Young Harrison said to me: 'I told father long ago something like this would happen. He was too easy in letting people in to see him, cranks and everybody.'"

Miss Annie Howard, fiancée of Mr. Harrison, was in the house at the time the fatal shot was fired. In accordance with the wounded man's request, she was at once summoned and was present when the end came. Miss Howard's grief was pitiable. She was completely overcome, and was taken to the house of Carter Harrison, jr., at Jackson Park, who when the news of his father's death reached him, hastened home.

Mrs. Heaton Owsley, the mayor's daughter, who resides nearly five miles from her father's residence, received the news by telephone and hastened to Ashland boulevard, but her father was dead fully 20 minutes before she arrived.

KILLED FOR A NICKEL

Two Men Fatally Cut By an Ex-Convict.

CAMERON WILL PROBABLY DIE

A Woman Also Badly Slashed—An Unsuccessful Attempt to Wreck an Express Train.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—A cutting affray occurred here last night. James Murry, an ex-convict, and Allan Cameron, a bartender, had a dispute in a saloon about 11 o'clock, over payment for a glass of beer. Murry thereupon attacked Cameron with a knife, stabbing him twice, also rushing upon Juan de Succi, a Portuguese bystander, and cutting him severely. He then ran out, and, colliding with an old woman named Hattie Bird, he cut at her, inflicting a deep wound in the thigh. He was then arrested. The victims were taken to the receiving hospital, where Cameron and Succi were found to be in a critical condition. Cameron will probably die.

Attempt to Wreck a Train.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 30.—An attempt was made last night to wreck No. 6 on the Auburn road, due here at 9:25 p. m. The train, which is an express, was going at a high rate of speed at the time. Charles Breeze, a 30-year-old tramp, discovered a pile of railroad ties on the track at Railroad Mass, who took a lantern and ran down the track just in time to signal the train. No one was found in the locality although a number of tramps have been seen in the vicinity within the past few days. The passengers were greatly terrified, and at first thought an attempt was to be made to rob the train. Many hid their valuables in all sorts of convenient places, one man hiding his money between his head and wig. At the point where the attempt to wreck the train was made is a sharp curve with a steep embankment, and had the train struck the obstruction, the result would have undoubtedly been very serious.

The Murderer of Harrison.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Prendergast, is beyond doubt a lunatic, pure and simple. He had studied and read cranky economic theories until his mind gave way. He imagined that he was a reformer. He had schemes for the betterment of all mankind. He was especially interested in the welfare of Chicago, and imagined that he alone could reform the abuses from which the city is suffering. He was especially bitter in his denunciation of the railroad grade crossings, which are responsible for many deaths every year; and the idea became fixed in his mind that if he were made corporation counsel he could solve the problem of elevating all the railroad tracks within the city limits. Long brooding over this subject created the delusion that the mayor had promised him the office. He insisted upon the fulfillment of the imaginary promise. He haunted the municipal building and denounced the city officials. Finally he determined that the mayor was acting in bad faith. This idea grew upon him and he thought of it day and night. His diseased brain was incapable of entertaining any other idea, at least so it seemed. At last he determined to demand from the mayor himself satisfaction for his imaginary wrongs. He had now reached the homicidal stage. He bought a cheap second-hand revolver and called at the mayor's residence. Mr. Harrison, accustomed to the vagaries of all sorts of cranks, treated his demands lightly. Prendergast killed him. That is the story.

43 TO 32.

The Vote on Repeal—Stocks Take a Temporary Tumble.

[Special to THE CHRONICLE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 31.—The silver repeal bill which passed the senate last night will not be laid before the house until tomorrow. The vote in the senate was as follows: Ayes 43 (20 dem's., 23 rep's.); nays, 32 (18 dem's., 9 rep's., 5 populists.) Stocks in New York and wheat in Chicago have fallen flat in spite of the passage of the repeal bill.

OUTRAGES BY UNION MEN.

A Dangerous Acid Put on the Blow-Pipes of Non-Union Glass-Workers.

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 29.—There has long been bad blood between the union and non-union glass-blowers at Wellsburg, and when the glass works broke away from the union two weeks ago this feud was intensified. Among the non-union men recently employed there was Hugh Gordon of Philadelphia. Yesterday morning the mouth-pieces of all the blow-pipes at the Riverside works were scoured and washed, for fear that some of the union men might have attempted to carry out the threats they have made about using poison. After the dinner hour the men did not repeat the precautionary measures they had taken in the morning. Hugh Gordon was the first man to put his blow-pipe to his mouth. He threw it down and ran to a water tub, his mouth seeming to be full of liquid fire. The water seemed to make the burning worse, and the first swallow carried the burning fluid into the throat and stomach. Doctor after doctor was called. None of them gave any relief until one resorted to heroic measures, and by the use of a dangerous drug neutralized the action of the acid, but two ghastly holes had been eaten through Gordon's lower lip, and all the exposed membranous surfaces are so inflamed and swollen that the lower lip is turned inside out over the chin. The mouth, palate, tonsils and lining of the throat and passage to the stomach are nearly eaten away. Gordon will probably die. The doctors are unable to determine what acid or acids were used in the blowpipe, as the effects are so much more severe than anything they have ever known and the usual antidotes are of no use. Two other non-union workmen were also badly burned, but neither of them are in a dangerous condition. Charles Brady, an ex-union employe at Riverside, was arrested last night, but there was no evidence on which to hold him.
