It is now said the Nietheroy will await the coming of the rebel ships here, and will fight them in these waters. Both sides claim their opponents are driven to the last extremity and must soon give in. People would be relieved by decisive action by either party. Both parties continue to circulate rumors. The government party declare the foreign governments are supporting Mello's cause with money and that he is being furnished money in the interests of monarchy; but that as soon as the United States gets a strong naval torce here that will be stopped, because they must compel a strict observance of the Monroe doctrine; that if this is done the collapse of the rebellion is only a pestion of a short time. On the other hand, the rebels claim they are not seeking to establish a monarchy, but to overthrow the dictatorship of Peixoto, and if the United States extends sympathy to him it will be against the popular movement in Brazil. They argue that they ought to be allowed to fight it out with Peixoto, and that if allowed to do so they will soon restore peace to the

jave Tradition. Los ANGELES, Dec. 26. - A horrible story of wild law and superstition of the Mojave Indians is told by J. T. Sannders, who arrived today from Needles, a town on the Colorada river, on the Atlantic and Pacific railway. He had heard the details just before he boarded the train, and they seem to be corroborated by an account given in a local paper, the "Eye," which he brought with him. The Mojave Indian reservation is located about half a mile from that place, and the aborigines are virtually their own masters, having their own laws and superstitions. It appears from Mr. Saunders' account that on Tnesday last a triple murder was committed under the plea of tradition. One of the prettiest squaws of the tribe, known as "Loneta," was married, according to the savage rites, about a year ago. She was a comely girl only 18 years old, and had picked up some education. Her husband was one of the braves and appeared to be very fond of biasphemy of all that is holy was comher. Sunday last she gave birth to twins, and as a result a grand powwow is called for. According to Mojave tradition, a squaw who has twins is a witch and the consort of evil spirits. The penalty has always been death for the babes and mother. Loneta's husband was so fond of her, however, that Permit me to ask if your sleep is dishe made a strong plea for her and the babies, but it was of no avail. The medicine man held that the custom must be observed, and the two little ones were brought forward and brained have been sold out of all they possess by tion to the population than in any other with a club. Mr. Collins unanimously adopted: had reference to the governor's recent statement before a business men's convention that he was in favor of keeping up the fight for free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1 "until hell freezes over." The governor's reply is as follows:

"Profanity is to be condemned, and doubtless is, as a rule, in bad taste, though there may be cases when it is excusable. The word 'hell' is not necessarily profane. It is not considered allowable in polite society and has been excluded, I am informed, from the modern version of the scriptures, but it hardly comes within the prohibition of the theologue. Christ himself was so outraged by the deeds of the usurers and extortioners of his day-who don't deserve to be mentioned, for iniquity and mon with that class in those days-that even he, the most gentle and meek of all creation, was provoked to say to them, O ye generation of serpents, how can ye escape the damnation of hell?' CHICAGO, Dec. 28.-Editor Stead today threw a bombshell into the Women's Club that is likely to blow him to pieces before the matter is over. All the women's clubs of Chicago united today at a meeting at Auditorium recital hall to consider plans for aiding women and children. The hall was crowded with many of the wealthiest and most prominent ladies in the city. Editor Stead was introduced, and in part here is what he said :

The women were too astonished to speak at this onslaught. They sat, their faces crimson and indignation on every countenance, but Stead went on.
