

The Weekly Chronicle.

THE DALLES, OREGON

Clubbing List.

The CHRONICLE, which gives the news twice a week, has made arrangements to club with the following publications, and offers two papers one year for little more than the price of one:

Table with 2 columns: Publication Name, Price. Includes 'The Oregonian' at $2.50 and 'The Weekly Oregonian' at $3.00.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Wednesday's Daily. Sheep shearing is still going on in some portions of the country south of us.

The Dalles baseball club will cross bats with the Dufur club at the latter's grounds next Sunday at 1 o'clock.

The East End hose company will meet tonight in the hose house at 8 o'clock. All members are urgently requested to be present.

A mail from Portland arrived last night some time. Evidently the president's proclamation has given Special Agent Vaile a fright.

The mail arrived last night at 9:30. According to the eternal fitness of things Special Agent Vaile ought to be made to carry it on his back.

Fishing parties are numerous and most of them report good catches. A party went up Mill creek this morning and another on 15-Mile.

This morning after the sentence was pronounced on Maloney and Snelling, prosecuting attorney Jayne dismissed the other indictment against them.

It looks as though the wool would not quit coming in this year, as the corrals are filled with teams every night that have come to town loaded with that product.

The gay roasting ear is in the market, the ends of his silken whiskers indicating he has reached the proper stage of ripeness for literally having his ear chewed.

Winans Bros. went to the Cascades Saturday and had a large lot of cans and tapers brought over the portage and sent here Monday. There were enough to hold something over fifty tons of fish, but will only last the cannery two days.

The Wasco warehouse contains more wool than was ever before in any building in the state. The porches are full, and yesterday the second shed was added to hold the overflow, and still it comes. The baler is making room rapidly, but it cannot keep pace for the steady stream of big sacks that keep pouring in.

At the meeting of the fire board last night Fletcher Faulkner was appointed chief of the department, in place of Jud Fish resigned. The following were appointed to act as judges and clerks at the annual election of chief and assistant chief of the fire department, to be held first Monday in August: Judges, H. Clough, E. Jacobsen, C. J. Stubling; clerks, R. E. Williams, C. L. Phillips.

A passenger train brought the travelers from the Almoda last night, leaving at 9:55 and arriving here at 11 o'clock. The delay caused some uneasiness, but it was occasioned by drifting sand. The register at the Umatilla house shows that the passengers came from eastern points, so there must have been a through train. Every room in the Umatilla was filled, and most of those in the other hotels.

Walter Rowe was brought into court for sentence this morning at 11 o'clock. He had pleaded guilty some time ago to the charge of larceny from a store, and when Judge Bradshaw said two years, there was not a person present but felt that the sentence was just double what they had expected. However, the sentence is a light one compared to what might have been imposed.

The wheat crop still looks well and is beyond all danger. In places the wild lettuce, or whatever the plant is that is raising so much trouble, has crowded the wheat out; but in spite of all pests and circumstances, the crop will be an extraordinarily large one. Sherman county will have not less than 2,000,000 bushels, and Wasco county, while not producing so much, will make a splendid showing.

Thursday's Daily. Elder J. W. Jenkins will preach at Enderby Sunday, July 15th, at 11 a. m. and 4 p. m.

W. S. Geary, piano tuner, will be in The Dalles, July 12th. Leave orders for work at either music store.

All the blacksmith and wagon shops are crowded with work, repairing wagons and harvesting machinery.

The Wasco warehouse, though filled to overflowing, expects to receive from half a million to a million pounds of wool yet this season.

The O. R. & N. is evidently confident of getting its trains through all right, for it gives notice today that it will receive freight for all points east.

A letter from Prineville to Mr. Lord, received last night, contained a telegram to be forwarded to Mrs. Helen Logan at Union announcing the death of her husband, Thomas Logan, at Prineville on the 10th. Mr. Logan was a prominent stockman of Crook county, having resided near Prineville for a number of years.

At the meeting last night John Biaser was nominated for chief of the fire department and Mat Shoren assistant. Election, first Monday in August.

License to wed was issued some time ago to Thomas W. Badder and Mrs. Matilda Johnson. The wedding will take place at Cascade Locks next Sunday.

Beginning tomorrow morning the express company will have a daily service by boat between this place and Portland, having a regular messenger on each boat.

Circuit court adjourned for the term yesterday afternoon. The argument for a certificate of probable cause in the Maloney case was heard in chambers and a stay of execution granted.

The regular subscription price of the WEEKLY CHRONICLE is $1.50 and the regular price of the WEEKLY OREGONIAN is $1.50. Any one subscribing for THE CHRONICLE and paying for one year in advance can get both THE CHRONICLE and the WEEKLY OREGONIAN for $2.00. All old subscribers paying their subscriptions a year in advance will be entitled to same offer.

The time checks for some of those who quit working on the road above here recently, arrived last night and are being cashed today by French & Co. We are told the balance of the checks will arrive tonight. We hope this is correct. The men are uneasy, want their money, and to get to work in the harvest fields. Mr. Seufert hired a number of them yesterday. It is probable the turning over the property to Receiver McNeil and the attendant confusion is what has caused the delay in payment.

The Juvenile Temple picnic came off today at the Academy grounds. About 10 o'clock about forty little folks, mostly girls, marched up Second to Pease & Mays' corner, following a handsome banner, and thence across the street and back to Washington and on up to the grounds. The little ladies looked as sweet and happy as so many fairies, as did the little lads who accompanied them. The fishing pole and bathing pools of Mill creek accounted for the small number of boys in sight.

Friday's Daily. Walter Rowe was taken below this morning by Deputy Sheriff Phirman.

J. F. Kress and thirteen men went to the locks this morning to begin putting the telegraph lines in good condition.

A light east wind prevails today and consequently the mercury is roosting in the upper story of the thermometer.

The ladies of the Congregational church will give a lawn sociable at the grounds next Tuesday evening. A good time is promised.

The time checks for most of the men discharged by the railroad company, have arrived and are being paid off by French & Co.

Mr. Thomas Gilmore came over from Kiekiat this afternoon. He tells us he will have the grade over the mountain finished in a day or so.

A fish-wheel at the Cascades was timed by parties the other day and while they were watching it, it took the salmon in at the rate of thirty-two a minute.

Some of our readers who want to know where the county money goes can get a pretty good idea by reading the item concerning that fact in this issue. Most of the money goes to running the business of the county and is put back in circulation among the people.

The Oregonian gives half a column notice to Mr. Homer C. Davenport, the newspaper illustrator, an Oregon boy who came up from San Francisco recently. His sketches are in great demand both by newspapers and magazines, and fame waits on his footsteps. He is a cousin of Mr. R. G. Davenport, THE CHRONICLE foreman.

It Will Help Business.

The best news that has come over the wires for some time was the special to THE CHRONICLE this morning, saying that Debs had called the strike off. Since the final result was easily foreseen it is better that this be done. The matter had gotten to be between the strikers and the government and could have but one termination. The men here will now be released from any obligations and will no doubt gladly go to work again, as the fight was not originally against the O. R. & N. It will make business much better.

Choked to Death.

Earl the little son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Hill choked to death last night, while eating his supper. The little fellow was only 22 months old and was very delicate, having been sick for the past year. It is supposed that either a bread crumb or a small bit of onion got in his wind-pipe. The funeral will take place this evening in Sunset cemetery. Services at the house at 6 o'clock.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Five Hours in a Well.

Louis Winters, a young man employed on a farm at Rockwood, a place about 10 miles east of Portland, had a narrow escape from drowning in an old well Sunday. Winters was drawing water from the well, when the planking gave way, and he fell into the water, which was about eight feet deep, carrying some of the planks with him. His strenuous exertions, Winters managed to keep his head above the water until he could get a safe hold on the timbers. Then he attempted to climb out, but when half way to the top, again fell to the bottom.

Several such efforts had no better result. He called lustily for help, but no one heard him. He made the best of the situation, and arranging some planks about the well, remained in the frigid water for nearly five hours, when Mr. W. B. Steele, of Gresham, happened along. He noticed that the well had partly caved in, and on investigating, saw Winters in the water, with his head resting on a plank.

The young man was nearly frozen to death, and was unable to give more than a faint response to Mr. Steele's calls. Mr. Steele procured a rope and sent for assistance. A man was let down in the well in a basket, and tied a rope around Winters' body, and he was hoisted up. When taken to his home, Winters was nearly lifeless, but prompt measures revived him. He is still very weak, but will recover.—Oregonian.

Maloney and Snelling Get One Year.

The fact that Judge Bradshaw would render a decision in the matter of the application of Maloney and Snelling for a new trial, filled the court house this morning. After an exhaustive exposition of the laws regarding the effect of newly discovered evidence, Judge Bradshaw denied the motion for a new trial. The prisoners were then asked if they had anything to say why they should not receive sentence. They each replied firmly that they had not. Judge Bennett and Hon. E. B. Dufur each spoke in behalf of the defendants, after which Judge Bradshaw spoke very feelingly of his long acquaintance with Snelling and his family, and the high esteem he held them in, of the fact that he had known Snelling ever since his boyhood; of his acquaintance with Maloney and of these circumstances that rendered his duty a sad and solemn one. In conclusion the judge pronounced sentence of one year each in the penitentiary. Judge Bennett gave notice that he would make application for a "certificate of probable cause," in order to get a stay of proceedings.

Money in Sight.

A cyclone of silence has struck the city. For the past few days there has not been any business doing of any kind. This condition of affairs cannot last long, but with nearly all the railroad employees idle and the farmers busy at home getting ready for harvest it makes it temporarily pretty rocky. As soon as some transportation route is open so that wool can find a market things will get better here. Even at the low prices of wool there is half a million dollars worth of that product in our warehouses, the money for which would come exceedingly handy and would stimulate business.

Can't Get Their Time Checks.

About 120 men who have been working for the Union Pacific are lying idle here, although anxious to get out to work in the harvest fields. They are waiting for their checks most of them having only a paper identifying them. The men have earned their money and should have it, or at least the evidence that they have it coming, for the time checks can be used in buying supplies. There is no reason on earth why the time checks should not be issued, and we certainly have enough trouble in the labor quarrels already existing without having any more stirred up for us.

A Cowardly Attack.

A private telegram last night was to the effect that the strikers at Sacramento had barricaded the railroad track over which U. S. troops were being sent to that city. They then went down the track a couple of hundred yards, and as the train ran by shot the engineer. The train was ditched and the strikers attacked the soldiers as they crawled out of the wreck. Six soldiers were killed, and their comrades rallying opened fire on the strikers with what result is not definitely known, but six or seven of the latter are reported killed.

Real Estate Movements.

The following deeds were filed for record today: United States to William Bennett, sw 1/4 sec. 10, tp 1 n, r 15 e—patent for timber culture. United States to Robert S. Bradley, n 1/2, ne 1/4 and e 1/2, nw 1/4 sec. 13, tp 1 s, r 15 e. Veneclaus Pashek and wife to Max. Vogt and Phillipine Chapman 80 acres in w 1/2 of sw 1/4 sec. 30, tp. 1 n, range 15 e.

County Commissioners' Court, Jury Term, 1894.

The bills for judges and clerks of election were allowed, the large precincts being paid $6 for two days and the smaller precincts $4.50 for one day and a half. Messengers were allowed their bills at ten cents per mile. Other bills were allowed as follows:

Table listing names and amounts for County Commissioners' Court, Jury Term, 1894. Includes names like J. D. Tamm, A. G. Tamm, Emma Phirman, etc., with amounts ranging from $1.00 to $14.00.

Bills allowed witnesses in Sherman county cases are not noted. All bills not otherwise marked were allowed. The bills of the deputy sheriffs for election day were all allowed.

A Long Trip for Specimens.

Mr. A. J. Johnson, says the Oregonian, agent of the department of forestry, who had charge of Oregon's forestry exhibit at Chicago, has returned from a seven weeks' trip in the interest

JOLES, COLLINS & CO.

Back at Their Old Stand,

390-394 SECOND STREET,

Where they will be pleased to see all their old patrons.

of the department through Northern California and Oregon, along the east side of the Cascade Range. His mission was to collect bulbs, plants and specimens of forest trees. He started from the top of the Siskiyou on horseback, and descended into the Shasta valley, and followed up the south side of the Klamath river to the wild and broken section where the Siskiyou, Cascade and Sierra Nevada mountains meet. Thence he struck across to lower Klamath lake, and, cruising through marshes, mountains and lake borders, came to Linkville. From there he proceeded west by Big Klamath lake and marsh and the Indian reservation and over the divide to the Des Chutes river. He followed the stream pretty closely to Farewell Bend, thence to Prineville, Trout creek and Bake Oven to Sherar's Bridge on the Des Chutes, and so on to The Dalles and Portland.

During the trip Mr. Johnson traveled on horseback and in wagons over 500 miles, staying sometimes two or three days in a place. The results of his trip were quite satisfactory, for, although he did not find so many varieties of plants as he expected, he came across some very rare and beautiful specimens which he did not expect to come across. He was much interested in the many water plants found in the marshes about Klamath lakes, and the edible roots used by the Indians, among which are the wocus, wapato, nunnus, camas, etc. Of some of these he made collections. The wocus is a species of water lily, having roots as big as a man's leg. They are cooked and eaten by the Indians. The wapato, belonging to the order of Sagittaria, and the camas a species of wild hyacinth, are familiar to all old residents of Oregon.

Mr. Johnson collected some 200 young pines of the Lodge Pole variety. He collected many specimens of woods of small growth, including several varieties of mahogany. Mr. Johnson was astonished at the number of wild fruits he found in this section—currants, gooseberries, wild cherries and plums, many of them palatable. The only nut trees are the chinquapin and hazel. Mr. Johnson knows where there is a hazel "tree" near the foot of the coast range, which is fifty feet in height and five inches in diameter.

Those Mail Matters.

The mail facilities are not so good as they should be, though somewhat better than they were. The trip from the Locks to The Dalles daily is too much for the little Irms, and the mails coming from the East are too much for the wagons hauling the mail to meet the Irms at Hood River. There are about two tons of matter, principally newspapers, lying in the office here awaiting shipment. Special Agent Vaile says $50 a day is too much for the service, but we are informed that it costs that much now. Will Mr. Vaile just please come down from the cold regions of his high position and tell the department how much he is saving for it, and how much he is discommending this people by doing so.

The Modern Jack Horner.

"Little Jack Horner sat in a corner, Eating a Christmas pie; He put in his thumb and pulled out a plum, And said: 'What a good boy am I!'" But little Jack Horner became a deep mourner when older he grew and a glutton. For his liver, 'Tis stale, was like a dead weight, As he drank wine and ate too much mutton. Poor Jack a time of grief, however was brief, And of joys again he ceased to be fearful. For a boon friend said "Well let's try Pierce's Pellets, And with good livers both are now cheerful."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, absolutely effective in cases of sick headache, constipation, indigestion and all derangements of the stomach and bowels. Satisfaction guaranteed.

$500 reward offered for an incurable case of Cataract by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Remedy. 50 cts.; by druggists. Feed wheat for sale cheap at Wasco Warehouse.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Wednesday

Judge Clifford of Baker City was among the passengers arriving by the Almoda last night.

Misses Christine and Julia Nickelsen, who have been visiting friends at Kingsley for the past two weeks, returned home yesterday.

Capt. H. Nelson and Lieut. Elliot, of the Salvation Army, came up on the Regulator last evening and propose to establish a barracks in the city soon.

Harry Bulger came up from Portland last night, and went out to 8-Mile this morning. He will visit relatives here until work begins again in the Albina shops.

J. E. Weed, superintendent of the bridge work for the U. P., who has been looking after the bridges between here and Bonneville for a week past, went up the road this morning.

Thursday

Mr. D. W. Bailey passed through on his way to Pendleton this morning.

L. C. Darland, Goldendale's genial postmaster, was in the city last night.

Mr. R. B. Wilson, general freight agent of the Northern Pacific, registered at the Umatilla last night.

Mr. Wallace L. Whitmore arrived from Portland last night. He is taking his race horse to Montana.

Mr. C. H. Gilbert of Palo Alto, Calif., accompanied by K. Otaki, both piscatorial sharps, are visiting the fisheries here.

Mr. Claude Cooper has accepted the position of steward on the steamer Almoda, going up to assume his duties last night.

D. Cameron came down from Spokane last night, bringing with him fifteen bridge carpenters. They all went down to Mosier this morning to assist in repairing the O. R. & N. track.

Friday

B. Kelsay of Fossil is in the city. Mr. P. Ahola of Centerville is in the city.

Superintendent Borie is in the city today. H. R. Sibley, deputy U. S. marshal, is in the city.

Geo. P. Sink of Wasco is registered at the Umatilla. Hon. D. W. Pierce came over from Goldendale yesterday and returned this morning.

G. W. Hunt, the railroad builder, and wife, went down on the Regulator this morning. Frank Gordon, who has been below for his health, has returned and is somewhat better.

J. B. Current, the Goldendale merchant, returned from a business trip to Portland last night. Mrs. Alwood of Goldendale and Mrs. Hayden of Fairview were passengers on the Regulator this morning.

Hon. W. R. Danbar of Goldendale, after a trip to Portland, returned last night and left for home this morning. He is one of the regents of the Soldiers' Home at Orting, and went below intending to attend a meeting of the board, but owing to a strike could not make it.

From Sherman County.

Mrs. Olszewicz. The old Love residence at Poplar Grove, was destroyed by fire on the morning of the 6th. Tramps.

A son of Frank Payne came near being killed on the 5th, having been thrown from a horse he was riding near Rutledge, his foot catching in the stirrup. His head was bruised and flesh cut, but he will soon recover. For a time death seemed certain.

W. H. and H. A. Moore of Moro, were at Deschutes on the 5th, and made arrangements for handling wheat on a big scale at that point this season. There is considerable talk of late about the best shipping point on the Columbia, in Sherman county, being at Deschutes. It is certainly a fine location for both shipping and manufacturers, as it has unlimited water power.

THE CHRONICLE prints all the news.
