LOCAL NEWS.

Wednesday's Daily. Collection day Saturday.

Milton Morris, while feeding a threshing machine near Wapinitia yesterday, got his arm caught in the cylinder and torn to pieces.

Harmon Temple, No. 4, will dispense ice cream and cake at 10 cents a dish on Friday afternoon, commencing at 3 o'clock, location given later.

Prairie chickens are said to be more plentiful this season than for years past. Hunters kill from thirty to sixty in a few hours, and then quit because they couldn't carry them home.

A log rolled on John Lenz, who was working at the Oregon Lumber Co.'s mills last week, but he crawled away without any broken bones when his companions took it off him.

Mr. Taffe, the grand duke of Celilo, is preparing to do some fishing as soon as the season opens. If the silver side run keeps up he will add several thousand cases to the salmon crop this fall.

Mr. Victor Moretti, the famous fresco artist, has been engaged by the Sisters to do some ornamental work in the chapel, and will be here next week. This will furnish an opportunity for others to have work done in that line.

Those attending the tournament at Oregon City will leave here Sunday. Engineer Brown has painted and ornamented the old hand engine, and it will be taken to Oregon City and take its place in the parade.

Work on the Clear lake canal is being pushed rapidly. About 150 men and forty teams are at work steadily. The canal will be eighteen feet wide on top, twelve feet on the bottom, and four feet deep, and besides this it will prove of inestimable value to the country tributary to it.

The O. R. & N. made quite a settlement for the death of Mr. Moore of Hood River, who was killed by a pulley falling from a pile driver while repairing a trestle near that place a few weeks ago. Yesterday Mr. D. E. Hall, claim agent for the company, met Mrs. Moore here and paid her $1700 in full settlement of all claims for damages.

Mr. A. Tizer of Oregon City, formerly a druggist in the employ of Blakeley & Houghton of this city, was severely burned about the hands and face by the explosion of about two drachms of ether he was using in filling a prescription. His clothing was set on fire and it was only by great presence of mind that a catastrophe was averted.

The hole knocked in the Regulator struck considerable during the night. The reports today show that the hole was 12 by 4 inches instead of that many feet as reported yesterday. It may be possible the story grew on its way up, the prolific soil and fine climate of Hood River giving it a boost as it passed by. At any rate, the hole was 144 times larger when the news reached here than it was when it left the Locks.

Hood River is in hard lines, and her goodly citizens today are going unshaven and unshorn just because some evil-minded burglar burglarized the barber shop and made a clean-up. He took two dozen razors, five or six pairs of clippers, all the scissors, and in fact everything in the shop except the chairs, mirrors and stove. The shop belonged to Grant Evans.

Robert McDonald, who was working with a threshing crew on Mr. Patterson's place on 8-Mile, was struck on the head by a derrick fork yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock and remained unconscious for about three hours. Dr. Hollister was called and did everything possible for the unfortunate man. Unless the unforeseen happens Mr. McDonald will be all right in a day or two.

Sam Klein and Charley Hall started on a fishing expedition down the Columbia this morning in a small boat. The start was made from the Regulator wharf, and as Sam undertook to place a box of provisions in the boat he stepped on some loose object and slipped, rolling into the water. He turned over as he fell and grabbed the wharf so that he only went in up to his neck, but he held the grub high and dry. As he and his precious load were pulled ashore he remarked that it was "a blamed fine start anyhow."

Floyd Harmon's bear will accompany the boys to Oregon City.

On and after September 1st, 1894, the office hours of the Pacific Express Co. will be from 8 to 12 and from 1 to 6 o'clock. The office will not be opened Sunday.

A dispatch from the Locks at 4 o'clock stated that the Regulator was nearly up to where they could begin pumping the water out of her, and that the pumps would start at 6 o'clock. She will probably make the trip up tomorrow.

Minnie Hill, one of the young ladies taken charge of by the Salvation Army a month or so ago, and by them sent back to her home at Prineville, died at that place a day or so ago. One report is that she committed suicide, going by the morphine route; but this statement is denied.

Governor Penoyer has appointed Frank V. Drake of Portland, judge-advocate-general; Charles H. Hyde of Baker City, chief-of-ordnance, and Mr. Dalrymple of Eugene, commissary-general of the Oregon National Guard. One is a democrat, one a republican and one a populist.

Engineer Brown is repainting and ornamenting the old hand engine, getting it ready for the Oregon City tournament. It is painted red, white and blue, and on the top will be a magnificent cougar. About fifty members of the different companies will go on the trip, leaving here Sunday.

The regular subscription price of the WEEKLY CHRONICLE is $1.50 and the regular price of the WEEKLY OREGONIAN is $1.50. Any one subscribing for THE CHRONICLE and paying for one year in advance can get both THE CHRONICLE and the WEEKLY OREGONIAN for $2.00. All old subscribers paying their subscriptions a year in advance will be entitled to the same offer.

Portland anticipates the coming of the Cudahys, the famous Chicago packers, and the establishing of a large packing house in that city. It would prove of great benefit to the state, being needed more than any other one thing. It would make Portland a market for the cattle and hogs of the state, and would remove from our great state the shame of importing its cured meats and lard.

W. T. Casey informs the Prineville Review that on his ranch at Powell Buttes a waterpout occurred last spring, digging a trench through the side of his field. The trench was so deep that it exposed the bedrock in a number of places. At one of these places a nice cool spring of water flows, where there was no sign of water before the trench was dug. There appears to be veins of water near the surface all through the desert, if one only knew where to dig to strike them.

You can buy a round trip ticket to Portland Sunday for $3.

City council meets tomorrow night. If you have bills against the city present them.

City Recorder Dufur arrived home last night, and this morning sentenced the fiast and only victim to pay a fine of $10.

Mr. Geo. F. Wells, formerly engaged in the sheep business here, died Wednesday in Portland, of consumption.

The county court Wednesday granted a license to operate a ferry between Hood River and White Salmon to J. R. Rankin.

The steamer Regulator will not make her regular trip until Monday, as it will take a day or more to put her in first-class shape again.

The smoke has been denser today than at any time this season. The surrounding hills are out of sight, and the Washington shore of the Columbia looks dim and misty, and far away.

There will be a meeting of the stockholders of The Dalles canning company tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in Mr. Hugh Glenn's office. Important business is to be transacted, and a full attendance is required.

Monday being Labor day, and therefore both a national and state holiday, THE CHRONICLE force will join the vast throng of American laborers in observing it. In consequence there will be no CHRONICLE issued Monday.

The Regulator will leave the Locks this evening and will be here either tonight or early in the morning, bringing all freight now at the Locks. Freight will be received tomorrow to go down Monday when she will resume her regular trips.

Dr. Sanders presented THE CHRONICLE force a fine box of grapes raised on his Roseland farm, three miles from town. The fruit is of fine appearance and delicious flavor, equalling California's choicest product. Wasco is the best fruit county in the state, and but a few years will demonstrate this fact.

Milton Morris, whom we reported as having his arm torn off in a threshing machine at Wapinitia, did not get his arm in the cylinder but in the cogs. The bones were not broken, but the flesh was stripped from the elbow to the shoulder. It may yet be possible the arm will have to be amputated.

The Oregonian speaks of a party returning from Mount St. Helens, and adds that they made the trip on bicycles and camped six days at Trout lake, from which we judge the writer inadvertently named St. Helens when he meant Mt. Adams. There is a fine road to Mt. Adams, but none to St. Helens.

Some person or persons, with a highly developed sense of the humorous and a unique originality, changed a lot of business signs last night. The principle point of the joke was that the owners of the signs were put to some inconvenience in getting their signs back. This delicate witticism is mentioned by Josephus as having originated in Tyre, which is why, perhaps, its perpetration generally gives one that Tyred feeling.

And now comes the statement that Minnie Hill of Prineville is not dead, but only sick. We do not know as to the truth or falsity of this statement, but we do know that more stories get circulated and are told to the innocent unsuspecting reporter, than can be harmonized with a respect for truth. This state of affairs is liable to ruin ones confidence, and if kept up, we shall begin to doubt the truthfulness, even of the Salem Statesman.

For the information of those who are going to Oregon City or Portland on Sunday morning, we have been asked to state that the tickets will be on sale at the Umattilla House on Saturday afternoon between 3 and 8 o'clock, and would suggest that as many as can make it convenient avail themselves of this opportunity, so as to avoid delay and confusion in the morning. Also that the special car ordered will be put on the side track near the hotel. Go on board, get a good seat, and wait patiently until No. 1 comes along and carries you off.

To Locate at Antelope.

Dr. Victor Hawthorne Smith, son of W. K. Smith of Portland, graduate of the University of Virginia and of Bellevue hospital of New York and at present assistant house surgeon at St. Vincent's hospital, Portland, went out to Antelope yesterday. It is quite possible that he may locate there. Besides being well up in his profession, Dr. Smith is a great believer in athletics, being himself a first-class kicker, but only in the foot-ball line. He is a member of the Multnomah foot-ball club. Should he conclude to locate at Antelope, that section will take the lead in sporting matters, with the boss footballer, Shutt, the boss ball club, and the leading foot-ball player. But, more important than all, Antelope will have a first-class physician.

The Firemen's Meeting.

The firemen had a meeting last night to complete arrangements for attending the tournament. In the absence of Chairman Fish, H. J. Maier presided. The committee on transportation reported, and was discharged.

On motion a committee of three, consisting of Judge Liebe, C. C. Cooper and H. Whitmore, was appointed to have charge of the transportation of the engine.

On motion W. H. Lochhead was instructed to have fifty-two badges made, white body with red letters, and the words "Dalles City Fire Department" thereon.

It was decided to start Sunday, going by rail. The fare for the round trip to Portland will be $3, and this to everybody who goes, whether firemen or not.

For a City Union.

THE DALLES, Aug. 28, 1894. Representatives from the Christian Endeavor societies and the Epworth League met this evening in the vestry of the Congregational church, to consider plans for forming a city union of these societies, that more efficient work may be done for our master, Jesus Christ. Alfred Hoering was elected chairman of the meeting and a pleasant though informal talk was engaged in by those present. It was decided to defer the organization for the present and hold a union prayer and consecration service, the thought being to hold this union service one week from next Sunday evening, in one of the churches, and if deemed advisable to call a meeting for organization some time in the week following.

Senator Gates Killed.

Hon. P. B. Gates of Lafayette, was killed by a falling limb, Tuesday, while on a hunting trip twelve miles from Nehalem. The party were all in bed at about midnight when a windstorm came up. Their tent was blown down and almost at the same moment a limb fell, striking Mr. Gates on the head, killing him instantly. He was a member of the state senate from Yamhill county.

Worse and Worse.

C. C. Chrisman got the returns for twenty-five crates of plums this morning with a bill for $10.67 balance of expenses. But it is all right, all things work for the best for those that love the Lord. He has sold two fruit driers this morning and expects to sell eight or ten more as soon as the rest of the shippers get their returns.

Sanders & Sturdevant, Dentists.

Dr. Sanders has associated with himself in his dental practice Dr. Sturdevant, who is a graduate of the dental college of the University of Michigan, and has had six consecutive years in the practice of dentistry, having spent over one year of that time running an office for himself.

To Badger Lake.

While those who were unable to leave town have been enduring the sweltering August heat as best they could, others have been making the most of the cool, rarified atmosphere of the mountains, and from time to time during the entire heated term various parties have been going and coming from the various resorts. We venture to say, however, that no more enjoyable time has been experienced than that of Messrs. D. S. Dufur, Wm. Young, H. H. Riddell and Frank Menefee, who, armed with a complete campequipment and its complement of guns and fishing rods, left a few days since for the high mountains in which 15-Mile creek has its source.

A day spent on the road found them encamped in a snug camp on the headwaters of 15-Mile, a short distance from the place where the body of the outlaw, Hays, was found. A short time was passed at this camp, when they moved a few miles farther into the mountains to Ramsey springs, preparatory to a trip over the range to Badger lake. H. Gibbons and F. Pundt, and later on Frank Klein and Otis Savage came in, all bound for 'the lake. Here also the road ended and the camp outfit had to be packed on the backs of horses.

Sunday afternoon they moved up to the source of 8-Mile. The aurora borealis of that night were seen very clearly from camp, and in the clear atmosphere of the high mountains presented a very beautiful sight. On Monday a tramp of a few miles brought them to the summit of Mt. Gungghewack, at an altitude of nearly 9000 feet, and scrambling up over the deep snow banks that cover its summit they could see the lake, almost at their feet, lying in a very deep, horse-shoe shaped canyon, about 3000 feet below them. The view from this point beggars description and is certainly one of the most magnificent in all the Cascade mountains. After a short time spent in resting and admiring the grand scenery, the steep descent of Gungghewack was commenced. It was tedious work for the pack horses could move but slowly, as a misstep might cause a severe accident; but all went well and the lake was reached about the middle of the afternoon, and a very pretty camp made on its shore. A number of grouse had been shot on the way in and with plenty of lake trout, and the provisions taken in there was no danger of a famine though appetites were enormous. The first night spent at the lake shortly after retiring, the measured tread of some large animal was heard a short distance from their beds. Thoughts of panthers and other fierce animals at once rushed through the heads of those hearing it, and a rush was made in full dress for the rifles. While the best shots in the party were endeavoring to get a shot, one rushed to the fire and threw a pile of dried fir boughs on the coals which at once burst into a fierce blaze and the cougar at once fled without giving opportunity for a shot.

After a couple of days fishing the party retraced their steps up the steep sides of Gungghewack and camped at High prairie and worked their way by easy stages hunting and fishing down to their headquarters at Ramsey, where they secured their team and returned to The Dalles.

A Strange Animal.

From Hon. E. B. Dufur, who has been quietly investigating the circumstances concerning the visit of a panther to the camp of Messrs. Riddell and others at Badger lake, we learn that the matter is really of more importance than the gentlemen named are disposed to admit. They all say that it was a panther, but they have told this story because they do not desire to lose their reputation for truth and veracity. Mr. Dufur tells us that they admit to him quietly that the animal, whatever it was, was much larger than any cougar. When first seen its eyes shone with a deep red gleam like President Cleveland's when the Gorman bill was submitted to him, and that each eye was larger than the full moon in September. When frightened by the big blaze made by Mr. Young, the animal fled along the edge of the lake breaking down trees over a foot in diameter and leaving a path of broken trees over thirty feet wide. The tracks of the animal were nearly round, measuring a trifle over four feet in diameter. The animal sunk a foot into the solid ground at each step. Mr. Dufur thinks it was an Icthyosaurus, but the gentlemen who saw it are of the opinion it was either a pterodactyl or an onomastion. In our opinion it certainly could be identified by a thorough study of the latter. At any rate we fail to see why a fish-lizard should have tackled a fishing party's camp for fish are generally scarcer there than anywhere.

The Branch Asylum.

The case of the "State of Oregon upon relation of A. C. Taylor, respondent, vs. Sylvester Penoyer, Phil Metschau, and George W. McBride, in the capacity as the board of commissioners of public buildings of the state of Oregon, appellants, appeal from Marion county," better known as the injunction suit against the location and erection of the Eastern Oregon branch insane asylum, will be heard by the supreme court on Thursday, September 6th. This case was appealed to the supreme court after the February, 1894, term of the circuit court

This is an important case and the final decision will be awaited with much interest. Borham & Holmes, H. J. Bigger, and James McCain are attorneys for the respondent and A. H. Tanner and J. C. Token of Good Will.

Mr. B. F. Laughlin, until recently president and manager of The Dalles, Portland & Astoria Navigation Company, was yesterday the recipient of a handsome token of the esteem in which he is held by the employes of that company. He was requested to come to the steamer Dalles City, and, reaching there found the ladies' cabin well filled with the employes of the company. Mr. Fred Wilson, the purser, in a neat speech presented him with an elegant watch charm studded with diamonds and bearing on one side a handsomely engraved picture of the steamer Regulator, plying on the middle river. Mr. Laughlin was so entirely taken by surprise that he was unable to respond to Mr. Wilson, but the hearty handshake he gave to each showed how deeply he appreciated the manifestation of good will shown him.—Oregonian.

They Had Them On.

Jim Cottony and Joe Thomas, Indians, were arrested yesterday for stealing a watch. They were kept apart, one being confined in the city jail, and one in the county jail. One of them finally weakened and confessed to taking the watch, and in company with an officer went to where he had it hidden and returned it. At the same time Mr. Honywill had made complaint about some one taking two or three pairs of pants from his store. An examination of the prisoners disclosed the fact that each of them had on two pairs of pants, one of each being new, and these were identified as the garments stolen from Mr. Honywill. They were taken before Justice Davis this morning charged with larceny from a store. We fancy a defense of insanity might be successfully set up, for no sane man would go around with a double outfit of breeches on with the thermometer standing at 97.

Miners Strike.

A report was current in this city Monday that the miners at the Robbins-Eikhorn had gone on a strike for higher wages. Investigation proved the rumor to be correct and that the miners had gone out in a body and refused to return unless their wages were increased from $2.50 to $3.00 per day. The strike was a surprise to Mr. J. H. Robbins, the superintendent, as he had always been of the opinion that the employes of the mine were well satisfied with the wages received, considering the hard times. It is stated that Mr. Robbins has concluded to close down the mine until he can procure a new crew.—Oregon Blade.

More Truth Than Poetry.

During the recent conference at Waupe-ton, Minn., several of the ministers were visiting the Red River Valley university at that place, and were taking in the Latin class. One of them chanced to pick up a copy of Caesar belonging to a certain very popular young lady student, and found the following poem on a fly-leaf of the book:
