SENATOR JONES REASONS.

The most sensational thing in the political line that has hnppened for some time is the action of Senator Jones of Nevada in renouncing his allegiance to the republican party, in whose councils he has held so high a station. His action, he says, is caused by his beliefs concerning silver; beliefs which he claims are not in accord with the policy of the republican party.

Senator Jones is personally wellknown by the writer, and a personal acquaintance and contact with him serves only to give one a higher opinion of his great abilities than can be found from a knowledge of his public life only. He is an indefatigable student, and on the silver question perhaps is the best informed man in the state. That he should have joined the populists, however, is something hard to understand, the Goldendale Sentinel, is in the city, forcibly every year that the world is if viewed only as a matter of political He has purchased the old Sun plant, producing more wheat than is yearly belief, for while the policy of the re- which he is having boxed for shipment, consumed, and some means must be depublican party may be different from and will publish a republican news- vised to dispose of the surplus, or prices his ideas on the silver question, he is in paper in Goldendale, just as soon as the must necessarily decline. ## THE MINNESOTA FIRE.

The terrible fires in Minnesota conthe loss of life will be nearly 1000. The heroic action of Telegraph Operator Dunn, Engineer Root and the whole crew of railroad men on the train at Hinckley, saved the lives of not less than 400. Dunn staid at his post until the building was burning, and telegraphed for a train to come and carry the inhabitants away. He was caught by the flames when only twenty yards from a place of safety and burned with his wife and children.
