THE PASSING OF POLITICS.

The New York republican state platform indorses the separating of municipal from national and state politics, taking the very sensible ground that for city government politics are not needed, and that a non-partisan ticket is better calculated to furnish the city with good officers.

As it is, the citizen is bound by party ties and party fealty, and the ward striker being able to count practically the amount of honest votes a candidate or party is to receive, is enabled by combinations to control the party and fill the offices, though in a minority.

The time will come when the ability of the man to fill the office will be the first consideration, and his politics will cut no figure. This will happen at least as far as county officers are concerned, and it is already becoming the rule in the smaller cities.

HOW THEY GOT HERE.

Professor Wiggins has a theory that man first came to the earth from Mars on the tail of a comet. We don't pretend to hoist our humble judgment on the same pole with the learned professor.

THE SPIRIT OF 1776.

Referring to the effort made by the American Protective Tariff League to encourage the purchase of American goods, the Wheeling, W. Va., Intelligencer, September 1st, said:

"The pledge is in harmony with the spirit of 1776, when the patriotic women of the colonies led an assault on the importation of foreign wares, refused to buy them and exhorted everybody to follow their example.

"In this day American labor produces all that is necessary to anybody's comfort. If every American will resolve to buy no foreign merchandise the sting will be taken out of the new tariff measure and the country will have a healthy prosperity in spite of democratic interference."

WHERE THEY ARE AT.

The silver question is easily seen to be the one on which the next national campaign is to be fought. It has forced itself into the different state conventions, and will cut a large figure in re-arranging party lines.

result will be the forcing of either one or the other factions out of the parties and the establishing either of two inimical wings to each party or the creation of a new one.

THE STATE FAIR.

The Oregonian speaking of the state fair says: "There is really a fine exhibit at the state fair. The chief products of the state appear there at their best. Both as to quantity and variety, the collection is large enough for an index of the unequalled resources of Oregon.

The Japs are slated over their wonderful success, and already the cry of on to Peking is being raised. It would not be surprising should they undertake the conquest of China, vast as the undertaking seems.

The Ohio democracy have declared themselves in their platform in favor of electing the United States senators by a direct vote of the people. This is one sensible thing the democrats have done, but this was caused by the desire to censure Senator Brice, who was sitting on the platform (not that of the party) during the discussion.

Governor Penoyer has been invited to California to stump the state. The good governor can do it if any one can. He stomped Oregon, also the democratic party, and still has them up the stump.

M. M. Estee, republican candidate for governor of California, has secured Professor Lee Fairchild to stump the state with him.

Ex-Vice President Levi P. Morton was nominated by the republicans for governor of New York yesterday by almost a unanimous vote on first ballot.

Senator John P. Jones, having left his party and joined the silver party of Nevada (not the populists) the republican state central committee of Nevada has asked him to resign.

The Japs and Chinese have had a big naval battle off the mouth of the Yalu river. Honors were easy, each side sustaining the loss of two or three war vessels.

THE WHEAT OUTLOOK.

The wheat situation gets no better. The crop in the United States is considerably below the average, due to many causes, the principle one of which is the remarkably dry and hot weather of the western states.

LOVE OR SELFISHNESS.

The killing of Mrs. Calvin by Stengele and his subsequent suicide has caused some strange comments by the press. One of our neighbors says that "they who call Stengele a fool have evidently never themselves felt the tender passion."

CONCERNING DEBT.

There is considerable truth in the following from the East Oregonian, and yet there are two sides to the question. It says: "Debt is a canker that rusts the soul of industry. It is the channel through which the slave pays tribute to the master.

Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt continue to air their private affairs. A few days ago they were reported to have settled all their difficulties, and expressed a mutual desire to kiss and make up, but now the sad intelligence is sent out that they have had another row.

enough to go into the party platform, and we suggest to our democratic friends that the old stereotyped plank about "Home rule for Ireland" be amended to read "Home rule for Mrs. Vanderbilt."

The Walla Walla republicans are jubilant over the nominations made at Spokane, for the reason that the other candidates are taken from parts of the state that do not interfere with the candidacy of Levi Ankeny of Walla Walla for the United States senate.
