There is no medicine so often needed in every home and so admirably adapted to the purposes for which it is intended, as Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Hardly a family has need of it. A toothache or headache may be cured by it. A touch of rhenmatism or neuralgia quieted. The severe pain of a burn or scald promptly relieved and the sore healed in much less time than when medicine has to be sent for. A sprain may be promptly treated before inflamation sets in, which insures a cure in about one-third of the time otherwise required. Cuts and bruises should receive immediate treatment before the parts become swollen, which can only be done come swollen, which can only be done. come swollen, which can only be donwhen Pain Balm is kept at hand. THE NEWFOUNDLAND DOG. He Is the Noblest Species of the Whole Canine Race.

The Newfoundland dog takes his name from the island where he is supposed to have originated. Many, how ever, believe that the Norsemen, who scovered America in the year 1000, introduced this dog in Newfoundland. He is by some classified among the wolf-dogs, while others, on account of his large pendulous ears, say that he should not belong to this family, but that he and the St. Bernards should occupy a place by themselves.

Newfoundland, says Harper's Young People, since his introduction in England, has improved in appearance, and is now larger and heavier. In Newfoundland and Labrador these dogs are used as beasts of burden, and provisions on sledges. Their feet are partially webbed, and therefore they are most excellent water dogs. to the hunter, except as a retriever dog is almost totally black, but the English varieties are usually black and white. As a watch-dog the Newfoundland is only second to the mastiff. He is amiable to children and small dogs. Kept in confinement he often gets cross Bilious Attacks, and all stom- and ill-tempered, and flies at those for
