BARGAINS IN INDIA.

Merchants Sometimes Come Down with a Jump in Their Prices. Indian travel is full of surprise, pleasant and otherwise. A gentleman, wishing to purchase some of the beautiful Cashmere shawls which are made not far from Delhi, went to one of the largest establishments in the city.

"Absurd! Let us go!" said the gentleman, having in mind the German's advice, and he started for the door. "Don't go," said the merchant; "make me an offer."

We have made arrangements with the San Francisco Examiner to furnish it in connection with THE CHRONICLE. Having a clubbing rate with the Oregonian and N. Y. Tribune for our republican patrons, we have made this arrangement for the accommodation of the democratic members of THE CHRONICLE family.

Do you want THE CHRONICLE and San Francisco Examiner for a year? If so send us $2.25 and you can have them, 156 papers for $2.25 or less than a cent and a half a piece.

The regular subscription price of THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE is $1.50 and the regular price of THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN is $1.50. Any one subscribing for THE CHRONICLE and paying for one year in advance can get both THE CHRONICLE and THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN for $2.00.

"I see," said Mr. Wickwire, "that the newspaper liar is at it again. This time he has a story of a hen adopting a lot of kittens."

Mrs. Houser—I suppose you'll be surprised to hear that Mrs. Tunglash's mind is completely gone? Houser—Not a bit. I've heard her give Tunglash a piece of it so often I've wondered at it lasting as long as it has.

Miss Lakeside—Oh, I wish I didn't love Jack! Mrs. Van Pullman—Why? I thought you were going to marry him!

This is the hunting season, when men handle their guns with the muzzle pointed toward themselves, and the accident columns in the newspapers are long and lamentable.—Buffalo Express.

FRENCH & CO., BANKERS.

RUB THE OTHER EYE.

Good Advice of an Engineer Regarding the Removal of Cinders.

Nine persons out of every ten with a cinder or any foreign substance in the eye will instantly begin to rub the eye with one hand while hunting for their handkerchief with the other. They may and sometimes do remove the offending cinder, but more frequently they rub until the eye becomes inflamed, blind a handkerchief around the head, and go to bed. This is all wrong.

"A few years since I was riding on the engine of a fast express. The engineer threw open the front window, and I caught a cinder that gave me the most excruciating pain. I began to rub the eye with both hands. 'Let your eye alone and rub the other eye' (this from the engineer). I thought he was chaffing me, and worked the harder. 'I know you doctors think you know it all, but if you will let that eye alone and rub the other one,' persisted the engineer. I began to rub the other eye; soon I felt the cinder down near the inner canthus, and made ready to take it out. 'Let it alone and keep at the well eye,' shouted the doctor pro tem. I did so for a minute longer, and looking in a small glass he gave me found the offender on my cheek. Since then I have tried it many times, and have advised many others, and have never known it to fail in one instance, unless it was as sharp as a piece of steel or something that cut into the ball and required an operation to remove it."

SAWING WOOD.

The Old Man Was Somewhat Pestered on Human Nature.

"Mornin', boys," said Old Jack, who believed in judicious flattery, and whose doings are reported in Harper's Young People. As he spoke he laid down his saw. "Feelin' well, I hope? Yes? Good. Nothin' like feelin' well to make a feller feel good. You don't look powerful strong though, Tommy; you're thin."

"What's that? You're wiry, be ye? I don't believe that. You couldn't saw one o' them sticks through. You kin? Ho! Seein' believin'!"

THE CONSCIENCE FUND.

Founded Early in This Century, It Now Amounts to About $270,000.

The "Conscience Fund" has figured in the statements of the treasury department for over eighty years, says F. L. Crisman in Lippincott's. It was opened by the register of the treasury department in 1811 and appears in the general fund of the government under the head of miscellaneous receipts. Like other assets of the treasury it can be used for any purpose that congress may deem proper. Its origin was due to the fact that away back in the beginning of the present century some unknown person began to feel the sharp thrusts of conscience. In some way he had defaulted the government, and could find relief only by returning the money to the treasury. This was the beginning of the account showing the receipts of moneys by the government from unknown persons. Since then the fund has been accumulating in large and small sums, until at the present time it aggregates nearly $270,000.

DANGERS IN THE MINES.

Small Pay for Men Who Are Likely at Any Time to Be Suffocated.

Great and mystically dreadful is the earth from a mine's depth, says McClure's Magazine. Man is in the implacable grasp of nature. It has only to tighten slightly and he is crushed like a bug. His loudest shriek of agony would be as potent as his final moan to bring help from that fair land that lies, like heaven, over his head. There is an insidious silent enemy in the gas. If the huge fanwheel on the top of the earth should stop for a brief period there is certain death, and a panic more terrible than any occurring where the sun has shown snags down under the tons of rock. If a man may escape the gas, the floods, the "squeeze" of falling rock, the cars shooting through little tunnels, the precarious elevators, the hundred perils, there usually comes to him an attack of "miner's asthma" that slowly racks and shakes him into the grave. Meanwhile, he gets three dollars a day and his laborer one dollar.

Guarded by soldiers.

The Bank of Germany, like most other German public buildings, has a military guard to protect it. In a very strongly-fortified military fortress at Spangau is kept the great war treasure of the imperial government, part of the French indemnity, amounting to several million pounds.

A Racking Cough

Cured by Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Mrs. P. D. HALL, 217 Genessee St., Lockport, N. Y., says: "Over thirty years ago, I remember hearing my father describe the wonderful curative effects of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. During a recent attack of La Grippe, which assumed the form of a catarh, soreness of the lungs, accompanied by an aggravating cough, I used various remedies and prescriptions. While some of these medicines partially alleviated the coughing during the day, none of them afforded me any relief from that spasmodic action of the lungs which would seize me the moment I attempted to lie down at night. After ten or twelve such nights, I was and had about decided to sit up all night in my easy chair, and procure what sleep I could in that way. It then occurred to me that I had a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I took a spoonful of this preparation in a little water, and was able to lie down without coughing. In a few moments, I fell asleep, and awoke in the morning greatly refreshed and feeling much better. I took a teaspoonful of the Pectoral every night for a week, after gradually decreasing the dose, and in two weeks my cough was cured."
