LOCAL BRIEFINGS.

Get up and rock the cradle, "Look it yourself," said John, "one half of it's yours," said Mary. "The other half is yours," said John. "The rest of this little story," it would be right to tell; but Mary got up and rocked her half, while John left the other half y'all. —Chicago Dispatch.

Wednesday's Daily.

The Myrtle Club had its regular dance last night.

The county court held a special session yesterday.

The Woodmen gave a pleasant party at Fraternity hall last night.

The local in this issue ought to be extra good, most of it being "imported."

County Commissioners Blowers and Darnelle were here yesterday attending a special meeting of the county court.

W. M. P. West of Denmark took the oath of allegiance yesterday and is now a full fledged American citizen.

Judge Bradshaw this morning overruled the demurrer in the case of the State against Martin. This will bring the matter up for trial in February.

Quite a number of teachers are in the city and more are coming. Two are up from the Locks and several from Hood River. The meeting tomorrow will show nearly every teacher in the county present.

The day has been clear and beautiful, a trifle colder than yesterday, but yet way above the freezing point. There is mud enough in sight to last through whole lots of such weather, however, and enough also to make one think that Webfoot itself was here.

Deputy Sheriff Barnes this week arrested one D. R. Davies, who resides in the Siskiyou and has been indicted for the crime of polygamy, and lodged him in the county jail. Davies is accused of living with one wife while having another in the Willamette valley. Mr. Barnes found over a foot of snow where made the arrest.—Jacksonville Times.

The jury in the case of the State against Hunes Kelley were charged at length by Judge Stephens last night at 9:30, and up to 1 o'clock this morning had not agreed. As soon as this case is settled, probably tomorrow, the trial of X. N. Steves, the lawyer charged with having hired Kelley to murder Sayre, will be begun.

Concerning the recent collision at Squally Hook there are two stories which will not agree with one another, the dispute being as to time only. According to the story of the crew on 22 that train was two minutes late, while according to the boys on 23, 22 was a minute or two ahead of time. We printed the story as we heard it first, and of course do not pretend to say which crew is correct.

Thursday's Daily.

The deal for the branch asylum site at Union was completed at Salem yesterday. The state pays $25,000 for the property.

The jury in the Kelley case at Portland brought in a verdict yesterday morning finding him guilty of murder in the second degree.

Mr. M. Moran came in from Centerville today, bringing 45 hogs, which he sold to the Columbia Packing Co. He crossed the summit of the mountains between here and Centerville yesterday, and says the road was in horrible condition for driving hogs, there being several inches of snow and slush.

Judge Bradshaw today signed the "certificate of probable cause" in Savage's case, and fixed his bonds at $3,500. Savage will now probably be allowed to remain here until the supreme court passes upon his case. As Savage is also required to give $5,000 bonds in the United States court, on the charge of robbing the mail, the total bond required before he can get out is $8,500.

Friday's Daily.

Huntington & Wilson are moving their offices into the old land office over the express office.

Do you want a winter suit, or overcoat? If so, call on John Pashek and see his new and elegant goods.

Stabling & Williams have at their sample rooms, corner Second and Court streets, a fine lot of claret, port and sundandel wine, which they will sell to the trade or at retail at lowest possible prices.

Stabling & Williams have received a fine assortment of imported liquors during the week, consisting of brandies, whiskies and wines, which they will offer over their bar, and the best wines, liquors and cigars kept at their sample rooms, corner Court and Second streets.

Much complaint is made concerning the action of a large number of boys who filled the back end of the opera house last night. Their noise and talking were very annoying. Parents should not allow their children to attend public meetings of this kind without either being with them or having some one else look after them.

Miss Augusta Schiller, a bright, pretty and captivating soubrette, with a voice both beautiful in quality and cultivation, has introduced successfully into the Anderson's bran new farce, "Jolly Old Chums," which will be presented here Dec. 15, some very superior music, not heard outside comic operas now-a-days without burlesque frills. This speaks volumes for Miss Schiller.

The regular subscription price of the WEEKLY CHRONICLE is $1.50 and the regular price of the WEEKLY OREGONIAN is $1.50. Any one subscribing for THE CHRONICLE and paying for one year in advance can get both THE CHRONICLE and the WEEKLY OREGONIAN for $2.00. All old subscribers paying their subscriptions a year in advance will be entitled to the same offer.

They Met Last Night.

The Teachers' Institute held its first meeting last evening in the courthouse, and the interest taken by the public was well attested by the crowd that filled the courtroom to overflowing. The exercises were fine. The music by the double quartet, consisting of Professor Stratton and pupils from the high school, was perhaps the best thing of the kind ever heard in The Dalles. Besides Professor Stratton, those composing the double quartet were Myrtle Michell, Georgia Sampson, May Sechler, Daisy Alloway, Glen Allen, Chester Starr and Curtis Egbert. The duet by Myrtle Michell and Glen Allen was also very good. Mr. Allen has an exceptionally good tenor voice, and can rest assured that it was heard with a great deal of pleasure by the large audience on his first appearance. The recitations were all good, that of Miss Catharine Martin exceptionally so. The discussion of the "Adoption of Oregon Text Books" did not take as wide a range as the subject would permit.

Teachers' Institute.

Thursday.

The institute met in the Court street schoolhouse at 9:30 this morning, and was opened by some spirited singing, led by Prof. Stratton, Miss Irene Callison being at the organ. The enrollment of teachers showed a large attendance. The woful condition of roads leading to town from the southern part of the county prevented several teachers from being present.

The program as printed was fully carried out. The papers read by the teachers were of a very high order, showing much careful thought in their preparation. President Chapman, of the State University, came in soon after the opening exercises, and by his ready criticisms contributed no little to the interest. Mr. Williams, agent for Maynard & Merrill, was present during the morning session, and gave a very instructive account of his experience in managing bad boys.

J. M. Carroll is secretary and Miss Irene Callison holds the undesirable position of critic.

President Chapman will lecture to-night in the opera house on "The College and the World."

The attendance of citizens is encouragingly large. The roll-call showed the following teachers in attendance: Mattilda G Hollister, Lena E Snell, Louise Rintoul, Maggie Flinn, Emma Vogt, J F McArthur, Nan Cooper, Catharine Martin, Elsie Ball, Francis Rowe, Salina Phirman, O B Connelly, Minnie Michell, Ida Omeg, Mabel Riddell, M N Stratton, Grace Hill, Daisie Alloway, May Elton, John Gavin, Katie E Cooper, Lara Welch, Ella Cooper, Melissa Hill, Tena Rintoul, The Dalles; Hattie Strinweys, R A Galley, P P Underwood, Boyd; Cassie M Cheese, 5-Mile; Nellie Hudson, L B Thomas, Dufur; Dollie Mosier, J M Carroll, Mosier; Annie Sears, Irene Callison, Josie Hansberry, Bess Isenberg, F N Isenberg, C L Gilbert, Grace Graham, Hood River; Ida I. Everhart, Millie E Parkins, Cascade Locks; Rilla MacCulloch, Boyd.

An Oregon Boy Abroad.

The following from the Hillsboro Independent will prove interesting reading:

"Some years ago the sheriff of this county had a prisoner little older than a boy in his teens, charged with burglariously entering the Farmington creamery. He was arrested on an indictment, and confined at the jail here at Hillsboro, but his mind failing, he was strapped to a board and transferred to the insane asylum at Salem. After a time he recovered and was returned to the custody of the sheriff. But in a short time his health again broke down, and he was released—the officers expecting to be able to pick him up when wanted, but he disappeared, and all Sheriff Ford had when he took the office was a bench warrant. The boy was known here by the name of Oscar Schellberg, but the world now knows him as Lieutenant Schellberg, of the Japan navy. How the thing came about is best told by the lieutenant himself in a letter received by Sheriff Ford this week:

"CHERLEBO, Corea, Oct. 31, 1894.
"Mr. H. P. Ford: I suppose that you will be surprised to receive a letter from me, but I thought I would let you know I am no more the half-witted boy, as once I had the misfortune to be. After leaving Oregon, I served two years in the United States navy, and was discharged by request. I now hold the rank of lieutenant in the Japan navy. Before this war is over I hope that good fortune will favor me and allow me to rise in rank. Yours truly,
O. SCHELLBERG."

A Rat's Act.

A dispatch dated at Baltimore tells this interesting story of a rat: A rat extinguished every incandescent electric light in a large number of buildings in the central part of the city on Thanksgiving night, set fire to the switchboard in the British Electric Light Works on Monument street, near Constitution; mashed up the switchboard, destroyed the insulation and ruined a lot of wire, causing a damage that will cost many dollars to repair. The rat entered behind the switchboard and started towards the machinery in front. Just as he got under the switchboard there was a bright flash of light, and then the catastrophe was accomplished.

The rat had been standing with his hind feet on one brass terminal and put his front feet on another. Instantly 2,700 volts of electricity passed through his body, a voltage able to produce 1,000 horse power. He was wet, and his hair was completely burned off, his body becoming rigid, as if suddenly frozen in the act of stepping across from one brass piece to the other.

The Jolly Old Chums.

"Jolly Old Chums" will be seen at the opera house the night of Dec. 15. This comedy is full of fun, music and dances, as there are plums in a plum pudding, which means, of course, that there is no limit to the good things "in it." The "Jolly Old Chums" is said to make one laugh in spite of one's self. It is impossible to watch the two young bright comedians, J. J. Krett and Budd Ross and not forget all the troubles one has to contend with in daily life. It seems to be the mission of the interpreters of this very funny farce, to make one forget that there is such a thing as melancholia. The songs are said to be exceedingly bright and catchy, comedians full of wit, medleys that are brand new, presented by a host of pretty girls. The Loring sisters (Bonita and Myrtle) are with this company and have met with wonderful success.

Their specialty is entirely original and unique and is called the umbrella dance. The Loring sisters being its first exponents on the stage, and they are certain to have imitators. Towards the close of the second act, they come tripping in, their faces and bodies hidden by a gaudy parasol, backward and forward they dance in unison, with only their yellow buskined, black hoed limbs in view of the audience. A change in the music, and the umbrellas gracefully drop behind them, and then with their faces smiling at the delighted audience they repeat the steps. The Loring girls are St. Louisians, born and reared there, and have been seen at the different places of amusement in this specialty during the past season. Reserved seats at Blakeley & Houghton.

Teachers' Institute.

Owing to some lack of preparation, and the absence of two of those on the program, it was not carried out as printed for the afternoon. However, Miss Sears gave the most interesting talk in lieu of her promised paper on "Busy Work in Primary Classes." Prof. Gorbam and Frazier being absent, Prof. Gavin promptly came forward and gave one of his admirable talks on "The Use of the Globe." There was little or no discussion during the afternoon session. The presence of a number of pushing agents of rival publishing houses adds life and interest to the institute.

EVENING EXERCISES.

The overcrowded condition of the opera house long before the beginning of the exercises, showed the urgent need of a larger hall for such gatherings. The singing was very good; recitation by Bessie French extra good; but the doll drill was just good, gooder, goodest! The address by Professor Chapman, of the State University, was most earnest, able, and a scholarly plea for higher education. Perhaps the most noteworthy point in the address was the emphasis given to the necessity of acquiring the ability to express one's self correctly, forcibly and fluently in the English language.

THIS MORNING'S SESSION.
The teachers were rather slow in assembling. Several new faces were to be seen, among them being Prof. A. Frazier and Miss Edith Peabody, of the Dufur school. After some excellent singing and roll call, the critic made her report. While some mistakes were noted, the warm commendation of the many excellencies of yesterday's work must have been a balm for all wounds made by the criticisms.

The discussion of the "County Course of Study in Ungraded Schools" showed that the teachers of the county are alive to the necessity of some system of grading schools, whereby uniformity and definite results shall be secured. The greatest difficulty found in trying to use the present course has been on account of opposition on the part of parents.

The appearance of Supt. McElroy on the platform was greeted by looks of quiet satisfaction on the part of acquaintances.

The remarkable stillness of the room was a just tribute to the worth of Miss Nan Cooper's paper on "A Quiet School—How Secured."

The same may be said of the finely composed essay on "Silent Force in School Government," by Miss Everhart. Lack of time cut short any discussion of these very important subjects. The suggestions of the essayists were however so thorough and appropriate that further discussion seemed unnecessary.

The time was too limited for a profitable discussion of map drawing, yet the talk and blackboard illustration of Prof. Aas Stogedill were interesting and instructive, and elicited some valuable comments.

R. A. Galley read a well composed eulogy on the value of mathematical study.

There was one almost inexcusable mistake in yesterday's report, wherein it was stated Miss Callison was organist. This was wrong as Miss Hollister presided at the organ.

A Hard Trip.

On Sunday Mr. T. P. Madill, who lives 50 miles from Albany, on the North Santiam, with the assistance of two neighbors, came into the city on a hand-car, for the purpose of procuring a burial casket for his father-in-law, Mr. Geo. W. Whitman, who had died the day before, and returned with it, making the trip in sixteen hours. Anyone who has helped to "pump" a handcar up the grades of the Oregon Pacific on the North Santiam will appreciate the labor connected with the act.—Albany Herald.

L. O. O. F. at the Cascades.

Leavens' hall at Cascade Locks was filled to the doors on Tuesday evening, the 11th, the attraction being a musical, literary and dramatic entertainment, given by Cascade Lodge, No. 114, L. O. O. F. Following is the programme:

Piano solo, Mrs. Archer; vocal solo, Herbert L. Brown; reading, Mr. Perkins; ucarina solo, L. Carmini; instrumental duet, Messrs. Fields and Fiechtchaur; succeeded by the laughable farce, "Chums," cast as follows: "Mr. Breed," H. L. Tarbet; "Harry Breed," Percy Burns; "Tom Burnham," Herbert L. Brown; "Mrs. Breed," Miss Aldrich; "Flora Strong," Miss Bunker, of The Dalles. Special scenery was constructed for the occasion and the costumes, "make-up" and acting of the company was very creditable, largely due to the stage management of Mr. Brown, who is well known in Portland theatrical circles. The general verdict is that the entire performance was the best ever given at Cascade Locks.

S. P. SMITH, of TOWNSEND, Pa., whose constitution was completely broken down, is cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He writes:
"For eight years, I was, most of the time, a great sufferer from constipation, kidney trouble, and indigestion, so that my constitution seemed to be completely broken down. I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and took nearly seven bottles, with such excellent results that my stomach, bowels, and kidneys are in perfect condition, and, in all their functions, as regular as clock-work. At the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, my weight was only 129 pounds; I now can brag of 159 pounds, and was never in so good health. If you could see me before and after using, you would want me for a traveling advertisement. I believe this preparation of Sarsaparilla to be the best in the market to-day."

The success that has attended the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment in the relief of pain and in curing diseases which seemed beyond the reach of medicine, has been truly remarkable. Hundreds supposed to be
