Table with 2 columns: Publication Name, Price. Includes Chronicle and N. Y. Tribune, Chronicle and Weekly Oregonian, etc.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Wednesday's Daily.

It is snowing at Baker City today. City Marshal Blakeney has taken up a red cow and advertises her for sale on the 17th. Rev. Father Bronsgeest, trains permitting, will hold services at the Cascade Locks next Sunday at the usual hours.

Thursday's Daily.

The Carlisle currency bill was knocked out yesterday by a vote 124 for and 129 against. This is a decided victory for the silver men. The snow is in excellent condition for snow-balling today, as many a person who has "got it" in the back of the neck, or had his hat knocked off, can testify.

Friday's Daily.

The thermometer marked 31 this morning, running up to 37 during the day. There is a letter advertised today for the Wasco Sun Publishing Co. Who wants it? Justice Davis assisted by Charles Stubling and Constable Urquhart made up a jury list last week, for the year 1895.

Two large seals have been sunning themselves on the ice in the river near the Umatilla House, all day. The supposition is that they crawled up on one of the pieces of floating ice, and as the latter struck the head of the jam and was soon surrounded by other pieces, they were unable to get back into the water.

On Dec. 20th the Pullman palace sleeping cars, at present being operated on the Portland-Spokane line, the O. R. & N., will be withdrawn, and the palace buffet sleepers of the Great Northern Railway line will be substituted. This line will be made up of three twelve-section (no drawing room) sleepers—"Montana," "Dearborn" and "Butte."

It is almost certain that the Pacific Insurance Union will go to pieces in the very near future. When it does there is going to be a wild scramble for business and a reckless slashing of rates. The commissioners have been doing a lot of preliminary work and examining of accounts, but have completed but little business. They have matters in shape however, that when they commence to grind tomorrow there will be a large grist, quickly handled.

Wancoma Lodge, K. of P., of Hood River has installed the following officers: L. N. Blowers, C. C.; J. A. Soesbe, V. C.; W. H. Bishop, P.; G. T. Prather, K. R. and S.; J. B. Hunt, M. W.; C. D. Smith, M. of F.; C. L. Gilbert, M. of E.; G. S. Evans, M. at A.; R. Husbands, I. G.; Scott Peterson, O. G.

Yesterday the big boiler used at the pumping station at Cascade Locks, exploded with terrific force. At the time there were quite a number of men, probably sixty, in the immediate vicinity of the boiler, and though fifteen of these were thrown to the ground, no one was injured.

Five hundred dollars expenses for bringing a prisoner from Harney county to Portland in order to try him for selling a pint of whiskey to an Indian, seems like a high price for the punishment of the offense; but that is what the last case cost the government. The prisoner will lie in jail until June, and the total cost of trying him will be about $1,000, which is a big price for a pint of whiskey.

The sleighing last night was very good, there having been travel enough to get the snow pretty well packed. This being the case, it was taken advantage of by a large number, and the jingle of bells and toot of horns were heard until a late hour. Among other turnouts were three or four four-horse rigs, and all loaded. The parties in the big wagon beds seemed to be having the most fun—at least they made the most noise.

A Jacksonville correspondent says: The contract for the survey of the Rogue River Valley railroad from Medford to Eagle Point was let to W. E. Coul, and the survey was begun Wednesday. Mr. Harvey Man, the president of the company, has been in Jacksonville the past week making arrangements for the preliminary survey. The line between Jacksonville and Medford has been successfully operated the past four years, and the extension will carry the line through a fine body of fruit and grain lands up to the timber belt on the eastern side of the valley.

The workman and the Woodmen will give a grand masquerade ball on Washington's birthday. Full particulars will be given later. Senator Smith arrived here from Sherman county last night, and left on this afternoon's passenger. He will stop at Hood River until tomorrow afternoon and then go to Portland.

Six carloads of provisions, clothing, etc., have been sent from La Grande to the Nebraska sufferers, the contributions being made by citizens of Elgin, Island City, Alicel and the country adjacent, as well as by those of La Grande. We have experienced a good many snow storms but the present, slush that pervades the sidewalks is the slippiest, sloppiest nastiest conglomeration we ever tackled. It is the only lot of snow that we ever heard of that was greased when it fell.

The city recorder is just having a picnic these days. The snow is so deep, and so sloppy that even if a fellow does get too much in chin he stays where he got it and doesn't make business for the police courts. The newspapers miss the old John Doe worse than anybody. Although the morning broke dark and gloomy with a gentle, cold, drizzling rain, the sun soon managed to drive away the clouds and the day has been exceptionally fine. The snow does not seem to disappear as rapidly as the weather would indicate it should, but it has settled at least half, there being not over fifteen or at most eighteen inches.

Yesterday afternoon Drs. Eshelman and Logan removed a tumor, composed of a net work of blood vessels called "Naevus," from the head of the ten months old child of D. L. Bolton. The operation is one not without considerable danger, owing to excessive hemorrhage. In this case the operation is a success and today the child is doing well.

About the best reputation any young man can get is that of paying his debts, living within his means, whatever they are. There is always an opening for such young men, men who will do their duty as quickly and well on a small salary as on a big one. They are the ones who "get there" in the long run.

The Arlington National.

At a regular meeting of the stockholders of the Arlington National bank, held in Arlington, on Jan. 8, 1895, the following directors were elected for the ensuing year: D. M. French of The Dalles, W. W. Steiwer of Fossil, George Conser of Heppner, and L. C. Edwards and A. C. Hawson of Arlington. After adjournment of the stockholders' meeting and the newly elected directors had duly qualified, a directors' meeting was held, at which D. M. French was elected president, W. W. Steiwer vice-president, F. T. Hurlburt cashier and John W. Lundy assistant cashier.

With these directors and officers the success and permanency of the bank is assured beyond question. The directors and officers are all men of known integrity, and we bespeak for the Arlington National a year of unsurpassed prosperity.—Record.

Sleighing Party.

Last night at 7:30, a big sleigh drawn by four horses, and under the guidance of genial Tom Ward, proceeded to gather up a cargo of ladies and gentlemen bound for a visit to Mr. Wm. Floyd's place, and to have a general good time and a dance. The following made up the party: Mr. and Mrs. Hobson, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Baily, Miss Allie White, Misses Mattie and Mame Cushing, Miss Lay, Miss Minnie Lay, Miss Cheese and Messrs. Porter, Fisher, Weigle, Fritz and H. A. York.

The roads were in excellent shape and the ride was thoroughly enjoyed. Arriving at their destination a warm welcome greeted them and the time was spent in games, dancing and paying proper attention to an elegant supper. The party arrived home about 2 o'clock this morning.

Death of Richard Grazier.

Richard Grazier died at the residence of the Hendricks Bros. near Dufur some time last night. He was apparently in the best of health, worked all day yesterday, ate a hearty supper, read until 9 o'clock, at which time he retired, and upon his not getting up this morning, those who went to call him getting no answer, went into his room and found him dead in his bed. Death came to him evidently so swiftly that he made no struggle. He was about 32 years of age, and was held in high esteem by all who knew him. His mother lives at Tygh and three brothers reside in the Willamette valley.

FIRE AT LONG CREEK. $30,000 Worth of Property Goes Up in Smoke.

The Gazette office has received word from Long Creek of a fire which occurred there last Friday in which at least $30,000 worth of property was converted to ashes. The fire originated in the Masonic hall, about 2:30 in the afternoon, the result of a defective flue. When discovered the fire had gained such headway that it was impossible for the well-organized bucket brigade to subdue it, the interior of the box enclosing the terra cotta flue being on fire from the bottom to the top of the structure. Owing to the immense size of the building, the attention of the people was given to saving the contents of all adjoining structures, as it was evident that one block at least would be consumed, and possibly the whole town. The general merchandise store and warehouse of W. M. Radio, the saloon building and ice house of Keeney Bros., and the stable of F. W. Silvertooth were soon also wrapped in flames. The printing office of the Long Creek Eagle, owned by the Patterson Pub. Co., was about thirty feet distant from the mammoth general merchandise establishment of W. M. Radio, and while it caught on fire several times, through the heroic efforts of the citizens of the little inland city it was saved, though the building was badly wrecked. The presses and all material and stock were removed from the building and sustained serious damage. The losses were about as follows: W. M. Radio, general merchandise store and warehouse, $15,000; insurance, $10,000. Long Creek Building Association, Masonic and public hall, $4,500; insurance, $3,000. Keeney Bros., saloon building and ice house, $3,000; no insurance. The Patterson Pub. Co., damage to printing office and outfit $500; fully insured. C. W. Conger, damage to general merchandise store and stock, $500; fully insured. C. H. Lee, damage to livery stable and city hall, $200; no insurance. Mrs. Ella Hughes, damage to Monumental hotel, $200; insured. While the fire wiped out a portion of the town uninjured by the cyclone of last June, it was fortunate that it happened where it did, as most of the property was insured. However, such an experience has been the fate of many a wooden town, and Long Creek should now supply themselves with hook and ladder outfit and several Babcock chemical fire extinguishers.—Heppner Gazette.

A Murder at Cornelius.

A fatal shooting affair occurred at Cornelius this afternoon, in which Joseph Penning, a farmer living a mile north of town, was shot by J. J. Reitter, a German laborer, 30 years of age. The trouble arose over the ownership of some land, and also because of Penning's objection to the murderer marrying his daughter. Reitter went to Penning's house where he first took a shot at the girl he professed to love, but fortunately missing her. He then fired at his victim, striking him in the left breast, immediately above the heart. Penning's death is believed to be merely a question of a few hours. The murderer is now in jail, and will have an examination before Justice J. J. Knight, at Hillsboro, on the 19 inst.

Twenty-Five Cents to the Pan.

A rancher living on Sutton creek a few miles southeast of Baker City, brought a dozen chickens to town the other day and disposed of them to Mr. Walter Fernald, of the First National Bank, reports the Democrat. In dressing one of them gold particles were found in the craw. A few days after the rancher came to town again and Mr. Fernald informed him of the find and suggested that the rancher had better do a little prospecting for diggings in the vicinity of his home. The rancher on his return home began a search for gold in a gulch near by and has been rewarded by a prospect of twenty-five cents to the pan. With the coming season Mr. Rancher proposes to turn his attention to placer mining. Telephone Your Orders For Cord Wood. We have a four-horse team delivering to customers without any extra charge, plenty of strictly dry wood in stock. Jos. T. PETERS & Co.

Most Wise Judge.

The following account of a trial the decision in which ought to be an example for the real courts, is given by the Portland Sun: "An exciting and interesting meeting of the moot court of the law school was held last evening in Judge Hurley's courtroom. As a preliminary officers for the ensuing term were elected, as follows: D. A. Grout, president; F. S. Grant, secretary; W. Q. Buffington, treasurer, and I. J. Sweet, sergeant-at-arms. Judge John L. McGinn, in an exhaustive opinion, decided that the young man arrested for dropping a nickel to which a string was tied, in the slot of a cigar machine, and then withdrawing the money, after the receipt of the cigar, was not guilty of larceny as charged, as the owner of the nickel-in-the-slot machine had intended to part with the title to the cigar as long as a person complied with the direction to drop the required nickel. A jury trial which, for its bickerings, personalities and irrelevant innuendoes would do justice to a first-class murder trial then followed. Contrary to custom Mr. J. B. Mullay was excused because he knew absolutely nothing and Mr. S. B. Riggan was accepted for the reason of his defiant affirmation that he was a professional juror. Mr. Knowell was excused because he had no property but was living in hopes. At a late hour the case was going with a State-vs-Steeves-like slowness and the embryo lawyers were arguing at great length a point about as relevant to the issue as is a hawk to a handsaw.
