A minister who was preaching from the text, "The Lord God is a sun and shield," began with this sublime strain: "My beloved brethren, have you ever considered how much we owe to the king of day, that mighty orb whose rays bring all things into visibility? Were it not for the splendid beams of the sun, we should have to be content with the pale and insufficient light of the moon."

POPPING THE QUESTION.

"It is a strange thing," whispered a whimsical individual one night, after making sure no one else was looking, says the Louisville Courier-Journal, "that a married person always declines to inform an unmarried friend just how the proposal tabeau was arranged. It has been a matter of much speculation to me as to the most popular and common tabeau enacted on such an auspicious occasion. Every time I have asked a married woman how her husband asked her to be his, she has always blushed and given an evasive answer. 'It's been so long I have forgotten,' she sometimes answers, unthinkingly. If she had realized that she had referred to her age she would have expired.
