MOST JUST JUDGE.

Judge Gaynor's decision concerning the Brooklyn street car lines is a just one, and at the same time a remarkable one. It is just because it says that the street car lines must do what their charters provide—that is, operate their lines; or they must do the other thing that their charters provide—forfeir all their franchises.

Judge Gaynor, in a few brief sentences, lays down more law and common sense at the same time than is often yoked together. The railroad companies appeal to the court, and allege that they cannot run their cars, because their employees are demanding exorbitant wages.

The judge tells them that he is not on the bench for the purpose of fixing a rate of wages for any lot of laboring men; that the question of wages is between the companies and the men, and each has a right to do as well as they can, and make the most of the situation.

The city of Brooklyn gave these companies franchises of immense value, in consideration of their performing certain services. In trying to cinch the men they put themselves in a condition where their contract could not be fulfilled, and then worked the law and the militia to assist them in forcing their employees to work for stated wages and to aid them in taking their time without paying for it.

GUATEMALA VS. MEXICO.

The first republic of Central America is seeking to pick a quarrel with Mexico. Guatemala would have as much show in a contest with Mexico as a mouse would have with a cat.

Guatemala has a population not to exceed 1,500,000. The army is supposed to consist of 50,000 men. It would be rather difficult to say how much of an artillery force this republic possesses. Her credit like her sister republics of Central America is at a low ebb tide.

malas gives a total population of 3,104,291. The fighting strength of the Central America republics is about 85,000 men; but these men are poor fighters when brought in opposition to well drilled troops.

We have stated that Mexico's army numbers 40,103 men. This is her army on a peace footing. Her war footing numbers 161,000 men. This, of course, could be largely augmented.

Thus we see that Mexico has an army almost double the size of that of the republics of Central America and more than three times that of Guatemala. Mexico has a population exceeding that of the Central American republics by almost 9,000,000 people. Her population is ten times that of Guatemala.

Guatemala is building somewhat on assistance from Spain. The republic of Guatemala evidently forgets that there is a doctrine in the United States known as the Monroe Doctrine, and we doubt if Spain would like to hit her nose against it.

AN AVAILABLE MAN.

THE CHRONICLE believes that Dolph should be re-elected to the United States senate. It believes that the state will suffer greatly by his defeat. It believes that the opening of the Columbia within the near future will be accomplished or defeated, according as Dolph is elected or beaten.

With the senate almost a tie, Oregon cannot afford, nor can the party nationally, to have this state represented by only one senator. There are plenty of men who can represent this state ably, though they can never hope to be placed in so commanding a position for Oregon's good as Senator Dolph, who is chairman of the river and harbor committee.

HE WEAKENED.

It seems we commended the action of Judge Gaynor, of the United States courts at Brooklyn, too soon. We remarked at the time that the case was remarkable, being the only one of the kind on record. But before the most just judge could persuade himself to issue the maddam his feelings overcame him and he allowed the corporations twenty days to say whether or not they would run the roads.

Mr. Coon is reported as saying that the petition sent him asking for the election of Dolph was signed by democrats and populists principally. A reader of THE CHRONICLE suggests that if that is true then the thing is unanimous, for as the republicans all want Dolph and the other fellows do too, Mr. Coon has the remarkably felicitous opportunity to please not only his political friends, but "his friends the enemy," by voting for the re-election of Senator Dolph.

The free-silver craze, for it is little less than that, is but the old greenback theories hung at half mast. They were for a fiat money pure and simple while the free-silver idea is fifty cents money and fifty cents fiat. As for us, if we are going to take fiat, we prefer to have it all fiat. Senator Dolph may be beaten, but if he is we might as well understand that the solidity of the financial system will not be altered.

Mr. P. F. Morey wastes some of his time, and also that of some compositor, to announce to the public that he is not a candidate for the United States senate. And now Dolph and Fulton and all the balance of the candidates will have a sigh of relief, and the political tension will be removed. No, Mr. P. F. Morey is not a candidate.

TIRED OF EXPERIMENTS.

If the people who are demanding free-silver so loudly would suggest something to benefit silver and force it into larger use, they might with more consistency possess it friends. It is an open question, to put it mildly, whether the coining of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 would give it a more extended use at its present value, and whether it would not, instead of proving an act of friendship for the mettle, condemn it for all time.

Silver is good money now, and while the coining of silver, as proposed, in unlimited quantities, might temporarily benefit the mine owner, it could not be but a short time until the American silver dollar would be on a par, not with our gold, but with Mexico's silver; and they who insisted on free coinage would find themselves in the condition of the man who traded off his hound for two hound pups.

We are like every other citizen of the United States, in that we want a sound financial system, under which every dollar of every kind will be as good as every other dollar of whatever kind. We believe in having lots of money in circulation, and if we could believe that silver could be maintained at its present value if free coinage prevailed, we would join in the cry for it.

We have had one object lesson in the tariff, which we were told, would be changed by our democratic brethren, and that as soon as they got hold of the government machine the country was going to blossom like a Green Bay locust tree. Well, they got control of the machine, and she has bloomed—and a bloomin' fine bloom it is.

As for the scarcity of money, we feel quite certain that there is enough of it—if we could get it.

THE GOLD RAID.

The old saying that "whatever is, is right" does not apply to the present financial system of this country. In time of profound peace, owing to the fact that the government is in the banking business, and is trying honestly to maintain the parity of its money, a debt the proportions of which no man can foretell, is being forced upon it. Its paper money and its silver is presented at the treasury and payment demanded in gold.

Unless the government goes out of the banking business altogether, there seems to be no limit to this plan to create an interest-bearing debt, the principal and interest of which is to be paid in gold. It will work successfully just so long as the government feels that it must put up the bank for the boys to buck at. Saturday the boys raided the treasury and beat the bank, so to speak, to the tune of $7,000,000 and cutting the reserve down to less than $60,000,000.

The question of annexing the Hawaiian islands is open to debate. It is true they are valuable in many ways, being somewhat like silver coin, for part of the value is intrinsic and part fiat. But aside from any and all values they may possess, there are many objections to taking them under our political wing. The native population is bad enough to make American citizens of, but when it comes to taking in 15,000 Chinese and 20,000 Japs along with them, not to mention a whole colony of lepers, it is just as well to hesitate before making that leap.

President Cleveland rushed his message on the financial condition of the country, and it was presented to congress yesterday. He suggests the making of all import duties payable in gold, the cancelling of all national bank notes of less denomination than $10, and the cancelling of all silver certificates larger than $10.

The ladies issued the Salem Statesman today. It is safe to say they made a good paper of it, though we we had not had time to read it. We noticed one thing, and that is that they went back on the senatorial preferences of that paper, and gave the Oregonian and Dolph a slap.

Mr. Wm. C. Cornell, president of the New York State Bankers' Association, has written an article for the February Forum entitled "Should the Government Retire from Banking?" in which he declares that the currency troubles in the United States are due to the government's assumption of the prerogative, rightly belonging to banks, of issuing notes for circulation; and he explains why this function should naturally be left to the banks.

It May Do as Much for You.

TAKE STEPS

In time, if you are a sufferer from that scourge of humanity known as consumption, and you can be cured. There is the evidence of hundreds of living witnesses to the fact that, in all its early stages, consumption is a curable disease. Not every case, but a large percentage of cases, and we believe, fully 90 per cent, are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, even after the disease has progressed so far as to induce repeated bleedings from the lungs, severe lingering cough with copious expectoration (including tubercular matter), great loss of flesh and extreme emaciation and weakness.

Do you doubt that hundreds of such cases reported to us as cured by "Golden Medical Discovery" were genuine cases of that dread and fatal disease? You need not take our word for it. They have, in nearly every instance, been so pronounced by the best and most experienced home physicians, who have no interest whatever in misrepresenting them, and who were often strongly prejudiced and advised against a trial of "Golden Medical Discovery," but who have been forced to confess that it surpasses in curative power over this fatal malady, all other medicines with which they are acquainted. Nasty cod-liver oil and its filthy "emulsions" and mixtures, had been tried in nearly all these cases and had either utterly failed to benefit, or had only seemed to benefit a little for a short time. Extract of malt, whiskey, and various preparations of the hypophosphites had also been faithfully tried in vain.

The photographs of a large number of those cured of consumption, bronchitis, lingering coughs, asthma, chronic nasal catarrh and kindred maladies, have been skillfully reproduced in a book of 160 pages which will be mailed to you, on receipt of address and six cents in stamps. You can then write to those who have been cured and profit by their experience. Address for Book, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

Carlisle.

One of the Famous Historical Towns of the Country. Famous in the First Settlement of the Colonies.

Mr. J. C. Stephens, of Stephens & Beeton, proprietors of Carlisle Carpet House, one of the most prominent firms in the Cumberland Valley, wrote on Oct. 3, 1892: "I was taken sick on the 23rd of last April with nervous prostration, and had the daily attendance of three of our best physicians, one of them visiting me twice each day. The result was that at the end of four months I was an helpless invalid. Had run down from 175 to 130 pounds. Did not get thirty minutes sleep in each twenty-four hours. My condition was simply terrible! About four weeks ago, I began taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, and in five days had gained 35 pounds in weight, can eat and sleep, and in fact, feel as well as I ever did. I felt the good effects of your remedies inside of 48 hours."

Mr. Stephens writes again under date of March 14, 1894. "After my great recovery, as I wrote you before, scores of people stopped at my store, came to see me at my store and wrote me from different parts of this and adjoining States, to all of whom I told the story of the wonderful curative powers of your remedies and an only too glad to herald their praises. The wife of a professor in one of our colleges called to thank me for telling her about your Nervine. She had been a sufferer from insomnia, weakness, etc., for years; she said she had felt the benefits at once. The President of the same college, also thanked me for the benefit he had received from using your Nervine at my suggestion. Tell your friends a pleasure to recommend your remedies. Yours truly, J. C. STEPHENS."

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold on a positive guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. All druggists sell it at $1.50 bottles for $5.00 or it will be sent, prepaid, on receipt of price by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.
