The Eastern Star.

Columbia Chapter, No. 33, Order of the Eastern Star, was instituted last evening at the Masonic hall in this city by J. H. Bridgford, worthy grand patron, of Bay City, assisted by Mrs. Margaret E. Kellogg, associate grand matron, of Portland, Mrs. Jennie G. Muckie, worthy matron of Mizpah Chapter at St. Helens. The officers of Columbia Chapter, No. 33, are Mrs. Mary S. Myers, worthy matron; Henry A. Baker, worthy patron; Mrs. Ella H. Garretson, associate matron; Mrs. Eleanor Crossen, secretary; Mrs. Eether N. Harris, treasurer; Miss Nellie M. Burke, conductress; Mrs. Cora D. Miller, associate conductress; Mrs. Martha E. Biggs, chaplain; Miss Edna Erhart, Adah; Mrs. Alice Crossen, Ruth; Mrs. Evelyn Eshelman, Esther; Miss N. McNeal, Martha; Mrs. B. J. Russell, Electa; Mrs. Almira Burget, warden; Miss Salina Phirman, organist; H. Clough, sentinel.

After the instituting ceremonies appropriate remarks were made by the W. G. P. and the other instituting officers, and the proceedings closed with a banquet by the ladies of the new chapter, that was fully appreciated by all, and the town clock struck 1 as the guests departed from the hall. The chapter start under the most favorable auspices, with a membership of 31. Their regular meetings will occur on the second and fourth Thursday evenings of each month.

A Miraculous Escape.

Donata Marencia fired three shots at Tona Fontiana, a bootblack in Portland in the latter's shop Wednesday evening, wounding him twice in the right arm and one bullet penetrating his left breast and lodging under the shoulder blade. Fontiana's wounds are not considered dangerous. Marencia then fired two shots into his own abdomen, and will die. The Oregonian prints the picture of Fontiana, and if it is true or half true to nature, the result of the shooting is inexplicable. Nothing short of a miracle could have prevented at least one of the bullets hitting that nose.

Chinese Warships Sunk.

The locals are somewhat scarce today and for this reason, we make mention of the fact that the substance of this local is not a matter that occurred within the city limits. The Chinese fleet at Wei-Hai-Wei is wiped out its two largest vessels being sunk by the fire from the Japanese warships Wednesday. The Chinese made a gallant fight for it but were out generalled and out classed. It is only a question of a few days until the forts are in possession of the Japs, and then China must make such terms as she can, for Japan will have her at her mercy.

A Secret.

If all the ladies knew the simple secret that a bad complexion is due to a disordered liver, there would be fewer sallow faces and blotchy skins. This important organ must be kept active and healthy to insure a clear and rosy color. Dr. J. A. McLean's Liver & Kidney Balm as a purifier, beats all the creams and lotions in existence and will produce a more permanent effect. Removes bad taste in the mouth, offensive breath, yellow tinge in the skin, wind on the stomach and that dull, bilious feeling which so surely indicates the torpid liver. Price $1.00 per bottle. Snipes-Kinersly Drug Co.

We have made arrangements with the San Francisco Examiner to furnish it in connection with THE CHRONICLE. Having a clubbing rate with the Oregonian and N. Y. Tribune for our republican patrons, we have made this arrangement for the accommodation of the democratic members of THE CHRONICLE family. Both papers, the Weekly Examiner and SEMI-WEEKLY CHRONICLE will be furnished for one year for $2.25, cash in advance.

"Alpine Heights!" exclaimed a passenger on a Northwestern suburban train, looking out of the window and reading the inscription on a huge sign-board erected by a firm of enterprising real estate agents. "I don't see anything that looks like Alpine Heights around here." "You don't?" said the passenger on the seat in front. "What do you call those piles of lumber over there?"—Chicago Tribune.

MAN-EATERS OF THE PACIFIC.

Sharks That Are the Dread of the California Fishermen.

The true man-eater shark as taken on the Pacific coast is known only as a man-eater. The shovel-nosed sharks are sand sharks, too cowardly to attack even a yellow dog. The thirty-four foot shark, captured by some fishermen, of the true man-eater variety (carcharodon carcharias), seemed brave enough and savage enough to attack anything within its reach. This monster's mouth was wide, the teeth long and sharp, with an inward incline. The stomach would hold a full-grown man easily and a good deal besides. The fish became entangled in a net off Point Lama. Two boats attacked the vicious creature and finally succeeded in punching an iron into its vitals. The side of one boat was stove in by a blow forcible enough to knock one fisherman overboard.

These sharks, says the New York Tribune, have been known to attack a small boat, upset it and eat the oarsman. A man-eater over forty-two feet long has been reported below San Diego. The natives are said to live in fear of this awful fish, which already has the record of having eaten six men. It has been shot frequently. The water about it has been discolored with blood. Yet the shark still lives. The tiger shark is as ferocious as the man-eater. Another large shark hereabouts is the basking shark. It is taken measuring fifteen to forty feet in length. The skin of one thirty-two feet long is at Stanford University museum. It was captured last March. This skin alone weighs over fifteen hundred pounds, while the shark's liver produced one hundred and eighty gallons of oil. These sharks, however, are sluggish, lazy and do not bite people. Their gill-rakers are on the whale model. When entangled in a net they frequently suffocate, as the net restricts the gills.

California fishermen do not consider five-foot sharks of much account when from San Diego wharves black sea bass are caught six to eight feet long, weighing three hundred to five hundred pounds. Such fish are common. They are taken on shark hooks and clotheslines. When hooked the fish is allowed to swim about the bay towing a two-inch plank. When he is exhausted the line is hauled in and the fish killed with an ax.

SCIENCE IN COREA.

It Explains Phenomena in a Way Peculiarly Its Own.

Education in Corea is of the Chinese order—the committal of whole books to memory. On all other subjects than knowledge of Chinese, says the Boston Transcript, ignorance is the fashion when it is not a reality. Philosophical speculation is stated to be common, but Corean notions of natural science are indeed very chaotic, if the following story may be accepted: "A well-known merchant of Chemulpo was asked by one of his native employes—a man of some education—whether or not he had ever seen a sparrow which had died a natural death. The person questioned did not remember that he had. He was then asked how the foreign servants accounted for such a phenomenon, for such it was, considering the vast number of sparrows in the world and the huge families they raise every year. The answer to this query being unsatisfactory, the Corean gave his explanation, which was a popular one. He said that dying sparrows betook themselves to the seashore, dived into the mud and became clams 'How else,' he triumphantly added, 'could you account for the number of clams along the coast?'"

Digger—I courted my wife three years before I got her, and it was nearly all wasted time. Digger—Why, isn't she a most excellent woman? "She is, indeed; but I've discovered since that I could have got her in three months if I had had the gumption to ask for her."—New York Press.

Harry—Billy, did you read about that fellow who patented a self-opening umbrella? Billy—Yes; but I'm going to beat him; I'm getting up an umbrella that will drop all to pieces the minute it is stolen.—Smith, Gray & Co's Monthly.

Wanderer—Lady, will you please give me a dose of nerve tonic. Mrs. Home-spun (surprised)—Nerve tonic! What do you want nerve tonic for? Wanderer—Why, I want to brace you for a good square meal, with pie!—Puck.

Telephone girl—I want to look at some black kid gloves. Saleslady—What number, please! Telephone girl (surprised)—Why, how did you know I worked there?—Somerville Journal.
