BILLIARDS IN A CHURCH.

The Adams Congregational church recently dedicated a congregation house and parsonage containing some radical modern features.

The bowling alley is in the basement, and is always full of merry youths at accessible hours.

The church is not selfish. It has thrown open the doors of its fine congregation house to the whole community, believing that a bettering of social conditions is a step toward purification.

TOUCH NOT.

Music has a range and freedom all its own and practically unlimited, yet there are bounds which even the searchers after harmony should not overstep.

Musical monstrosities, if they must be created, should like Minerva be born full grown, they should not be made from those creations, that are already perfect.

THE HOUSE THAT VANDER-BILT

Mrs. Vanderbilt has secured a divorce from her husband W. K. Vanderbilt. She has property settled upon her that yields an income of $300,000 per year.

The announcement is made that the children of Fred Douglass by his first wife who was a Negress, will contest the will of their father which they claim discriminates against them.

a white man. The higher the civilization the greater is the quarrel over deceased parents property, and this being true proves that Douglass' children are in a high degree, cultured.

Hon. John M. Thurston, United States senator for Nebraska, and general solicitor for the Union Pacific railroads, is the title of the gentleman whom the legislature of Nebraska selected to make laws for the whole people of the United States.

The dispatches speak of the engagement of Mr. Mackay and Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt as "a match between two of the most celebrated American families."

Politics are being made very rapidly these days, and from the way the silver question is being forced to the front, it is bound to be the leading issue in the next presidential campaign.

The legislature of Massachusetts by a vote of 127 to 87, has refused to give woman the ballot. This can hardly be considered a set-back to woman in general.

And now it is reported that a son of Mr. Mackay's is to marry Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt, whose mother and father were divorced a few days ago.

I waive the case, the barren case of those who have no hearts to barter, or to lose. Whose wedded state is but a bargain made in due accordance with the laws of trade.

In selecting the state board of medical examiners, Governor Lord forgot there was such a place as Eastern Oregon. Salem got one member. As Marion county now has the governor and the superintendent of the penitentiary, besides several smaller appointments, it is to be hoped that the governor will cast his eyes on Eastern Oregon in selecting the adjutant-general.

The senate of the state of Washington yesterday defeated the Helm bill for a maximum rate on railroads. It was a good bill, a remarkable bill, a bill the people wanted; but the railroad companies did not want it, and so it was put to sleep by the "people's representatives."

We notice that the Heppner Gazette has gotten into its teens. It is a lusty youngster, growing up with the country, or a little ahead of it, and is doing good work for Morrow county.

It is said that Mr. J. V. L. Pruyn of New York City and Albany is to succeed Ward MacAllister as the boss dictator of the 400. The name is appropriate, as MacAllister was full of prunes, and this one (although he pronounces his name Prine) seems fitted to be his successor.

The president has gone duck-shooting on the inland waters of North Carolina, and most of the congressmen have gone home. The country can take a long breath and feel that her finances are safe, at least, until the president returns.

The expression "The Almighty Dollar" has been, is now being, credited to several persons, and none of them correctly. It was first used by Washington Irving in a sketch entitled "A Creole Village," which was written in 1837.

President Cleveland, according to Private Secretary Thurber, will be chasing ducks and drakes in the swamps of North Carolina for the next ten days.

Pain has no show with Dr. Miles' Pain Pills.

A BIT OF HIS TRADE.

Mr. Erwin, who is said to be a brilliant St. Paul lawyer, and who is engaged in defending a rich young man named Hayward, charged with murdering a young woman, yesterday began his argument to the jury, and in its course said his respects to the newspaper fraternity as follows:

"In the last few years of these modern times every effort has been made to make the jury simply one of the aids of public prosecution. A deep movement has been going on for the past twenty years to destroy this most ancient bulwark of public liberty. Public need, public opinion undigested, the creations of public journalism and the ill-formed judgment of passion have been used to give them greater weight and power.

Had Mr. Erwin studied the art of making an ass of himself all the days of his life, assisted as he was by a generous start from Nature, he could not possibly have arrived at a more perfect stage of development than his language would indicate he has now reached.

Mr. Erwin is employed in the case to have his client acquitted, that is what he is paid for, and that is (as these matters are viewed) his duty. We have no fault to find with Mr. Erwin, or the profession on that score; but when it comes to his assertion that the newspapers of the country deliberately deceive the public, and undertake to try cases out of court, he asserts what he knows to be false.

Dr. Roberts, stated clerk of the Presbyterian general assembly, in an analysis of the returns of the census of 1890, shows that about 63 per cent of the voters of the United States are not identified with any church whatever, and that Protestants and Roman Catholics together, even in their nominal showing, have less than 38 per cent of the voters.

Resolved, That while we bow with humble submission to the will of the most high, we do not the less mourn for our brother, who has been called from his labors to rest.

Resolved, That these resolutions be entered upon the minutes of this lodge and that a copy of the same be sent to the family of our deceased brother.

We received a communication from Sherman county this morning calling attention to the fact that circuit court meets at Moro Monday, and that the suit of the E. O. Land Company against farmers of that neighborhood for rent will be up for trial.

What Would I Do With the Tariff if I Were Czar?

Andrew Carnegie, in the March Forum. A page could be filled with a list of the luxuries of the rich upon which the taxes have been reduced by the new tariff. Here are a few reductions: china reduced 50 per cent, glass-plate and stained glass 40, gold pens 16, clocks 28, hats 72, knit fabrics 72, flannel 68, silk umbrellas 18, brandy and cordials 28, laces, embroideries, etc., 16, woollens and silks 10 to 20, owing to ad valorem instead of specific duties.

How the Mistake Occurred.

We stated Thursday that Judge Bradshaw would go to Heppner Monday to open court. This was a mistake and was caused by his saying he would go to Moro, which the reporter understood "to Morrow," that is the county of that name, the county seat of which is Heppner. Now the fact is that the judge will go to Moro, and not to Morrow. He will not go tomorrow because he does not go until Monday, which instead of being tomorrow will not be, strictly speaking, tomorrow until tomorrow, at which time he will go to Moro instead of to Morrow. That is to say, he will not go to Moro tomorrow, but tomorrow it can be said that he will go tomorrow to Moro, instead of to Morrow. Day after tomorrow he will be in Moro, and then when we can write today, we may be able to make the matter clear, but whether he goes tomorrow or day after tomorrow he will hold court in Moro Monday.

He Is Mistaken.

Grand Master W. W. Brannin, of the A. O. U. W., in conversation with an East Oregonian reporter, after giving some account of his work on his recent visiting trip to the lodges in his jurisdiction, says:

"At Cascade Locks an inspection was made of the works on the locks, which cannot be completed within one year, the time of the expiration of the contract being about that far distant. It is thought that an extension will be granted, at least it will be asked by the contractors. More than 350 workmen are now employed and work progresses day and night at greatest possible speed."

Mr. Brannin is an excellent lecturer, but a poor reporter. His assertion that the locks will not be completed within one year is as great a mistake as the other statement that the contract will expire one year from now. The contract has already expired, and the locks will be completed sufficiently to allow the passage of boats this year.
