LOCAL BREVITIES.

Wednesday's Daily.

See The Dalles Dramatic Club In the great play Nevada, or The Lost Mine, At the opera house, Wednesday night, March 27th, Sure.

And now comes the report that a Spanish war vessel fired upon and sunk the coasting schooner Irene, on the coast of Florida, yesterday.

The Smith Bros. desire to say that the reports that they will give no more Thursday night parties, is without foundation. They will give notice of the fact when they conclude to discontinue them.

The four Indians arrested yesterday had their trial yesterday afternoon and were fined $5 each. Three of them paid up, but the fourth, the oldest of the lot, was unable to dig up and so is still doing penance.

There was a wedding in the county clerk's office yesterday afternoon, Judge Blakeley performing the ceremony. The parties were Jacob M. Lomck and Miss Susie Ethel Clemans, both of Klickitat county, Wash.

Owing to the great waste of water through closets and from carelessness in closing faucets, there is an immense amount of water wasted. On this account the water commissioners are thinking seriously of putting in water meters.

The rainfall at Portland is 14 inches below the average for the season beginning November 1st, 1894. The snow fall on the country drained by the Columbia is less than half that of 1893-4, so that there is not much danger of another June flood.

The remains of ex-Lieutenant Governor Loughton of Washington, who died Sunday, will be taken to San Francisco and cremated. His wife arrived in Tacoma yesterday from San Francisco for the purpose of taking the body to that place.

"Nevada," Walter H. Baker's great play, will be presented by The Dalles Home Dramatic Club at the opera house one week from tonight. The club has some fine talent, and it is certain that Nevada will be put on in a way to add fresh laurels to our company.

The executive council of the Mazamas held a meeting Monday evening. Mt. Adams was unanimously selected as the peak to be ascended this year, and July 10th fixed as the day for the climb. Mt. Adams is much easier of ascent than Mt. Hood, and it is almost as easy of access. The distance from White Salmon to Trout lake is thirty miles, and it is in the neighborhood of ten miles more to the snow line.

Today's Oregonian contains a statement concerning the D. P. & A. N. Co., in which it is asserted that there is an intention on the part of the company of putting boats on the upper river, and opening up a portage under the provision of the Smith bill. We are requested to state that the company has no such intentions; that The Dalles is its eastern terminus, and that while it of course would carry any freight brought to it from the upper river, and be glad to get it too, that it would not under any circumstances extend its line any farther to the east.

"Lord Rooney" drew a very good house last night, and after getting it, managed to amuse it. There is not much to it in the shape of work, it following the modern idea of a farce comedy in that the plot was a slender thread upon which to hang a medley of songs, gags and pantomimic effects. There were some very ridiculous things, and the play would be much better if the false "Lord Rooney" used language that did not border so closely on profanity. There were many mirth-provoking things, and taken all in all the Lord Rooney company can be called a success.

The steamer Dalles City, which met with an accident Monday, did not go down to Portland yesterday as expected, for the reason that the steamer Hattie Bell, which is running in her place, instead of taking five cords of wood to her, took only half a cord, not enough to get up steam on. The accident occurred at Bradford's island. The steamer was moving some lumber, and had a heavy load on her bow, which caused her to touch on a rock in landing. But a small hole was knocked in her hull, and it is expected she will go down to Portland today be repaired and make her regular run tomorrow.

Thursday's Daily

Frost visited Los Angeles, Cal., night before last.

The mountains were white again this morning with the season's latest touches of the beautiful.

W. A. Miller will give another of his popular soirees at Myrtle hall, Saturday night. Dancing commences at 8 o'clock.

Rain, the first for a month, began falling last night and a light but steady drizzle has continued through the greater portion of the day.

Forty shares of stock of the Columbia Packing Co. were sold by the sheriff recently on a judgment against the holder thereof. They brought $4000, and sold dirt cheap too.

The present ownership books are rapidly approaching completion. The tax rolls received quite an addition from this source, and the special school taxes and city taxes arising from that source are now being added to the roll.

Col. C. E. Morgan, who was found guilty of embezzlement some days ago, was yesterday sentenced to the penitentiary for 18 months. The commitment will not be made out for some time, presumably on account of some steps being taken for an appeal.

An account of remarkable frauds that have been practiced on the Bank of England and of the grave crises through which it has passed, along with a description of the bank and of its methods of business, will appear, with numerous pictures, in McClure's Magazine for April.

Rev. A. Horn returned from White Salmon, where he preached to his Norwegian Lutheran brethren. Next Sunday and that following services will be held in the chapel on 9th street at 10:30 a. m. in German, and 7:30 p. m. in the English language. A cordial invitation to all.

Norman, the son of Hon. O. D. Sturges of Goldendale was thrown from a horse near his home yesterday and his right shoulder was badly hurt and arm broken. His face was also badly bruised. His brother fell on the ice last winter, breaking his knee cap, and will be a cripple for life.

The Winans Bros. are making strenuous efforts to have all their fish wheels in running order by the time the season opens, and will probably accomplish their object. The location of a cannery here, will prove of inestimable benefit to the fisherman, and especially if there is a good run of fish. The cannery at Seuferts would be unable to handle one-half the catch that could be and would be made in a good year, and as it has contracts for all the fish it can handle, the new cannery will not interfere with its business.

The rainfall for the six months ending March 1st, is considerably under the average. Mr. S. L. Brooks this morning gave us the following figures: The average precipitation from September 1st to March 1st for the past 20 years, was 16.33 inches. From the first of last September to March 1st it has been 10.43 inches, or a deficiency of 5.90 inches. To put it briefly, the rainfall for the winter has been about two-thirds that of the average winter. The maximum rainfall in 20 years Mr. Brooks gives us from memory at about 22.30 inches, and the minimum, which occurred in 1888-9, was 7.61.

The smallpox episode may be said to be about over. Dr. Hollister, who has attended the cases, reports both patients as well, and recommends that one, the nurse, who had varioloid, be discharged tomorrow. Monahan will probably be kept in the pest house until some time next week, as all danger from contagion from him is not yet over. Dr. Hollister deserves unstinted praise for the faithful and efficient manner in which he has managed these cases and brought them to a successful termination. It is largely due to his judgment and suggestions, that the disease was prevented from spreading, and he can rest assured that his services have been appreciated by the public.

Friday's Daily.

The steamer Dalles City will make her regular run tomorrow.

The Cold Storage Co. will ship two carloads of potatoes to Chicago tomorrow.

The mountains were white again this morning, as a result of last night's sprinkle.

John H. Lawrey has been appointed prosecuting attorney for the sixth judicial district.

Lost, strayed or stolen—A blue-gray cat, with black stripes; name Thomas. Finder will be rewarded by leaving him at this office.

The tax rolls being in the hands of the sheriff, his office presents rather a busy scene, there being a number of persons there all the time, bent on paying their taxes. They become delinquent April 1st.

The sewer running through the alley in the Columbia House block, which has been such a source of annoyance for the past three months, has been put in repair, and is now apparently getting down to its business all right.

The first wool of the season arrived in from Dayville yesterday. The Lord may temper the wind to the shorn lamb, but still it would seem only proper that the owner of the lamb would let its wool alone until the wind was tempered.

sale at their warehouse Seed Wheat, Feed Wheat, Barley, Barley Chop, Oats and Hay. Are sole agents in The Dalles for the now celebrated Goldendale roller mills flour, the best flour in the market, and sold only in ton lots or over. 9-11

Chas. W. Parrish of Canyon City, has been appointed prosecuting attorney for the ninth judicial district. Only a month or so ago, Judge Bellinger revoked Mr. Parrish's commission as U. S. commissioner for sending a man up for examination for selling liquor to Indians.

The gripe has fastened its clutches on quite a number of our citizens. Our new mayor is confined to his room with it. His partner, E. B. Dufur, is sick in bed. John Marden finds his office too far from home. Dr. Siddall is just getting out again, M. T. Nolan ditto and so they could be named by the dozen.

Since writing the above that obstreperous man, Menefee came down town.

We hope our friend Parrott of Goldendale may make a success of his flying machine, but we must confess to being utterly skeptical on the subject. That the problem will be solved sometime is, no doubt, true, but it will be when motive power can be procured without corresponding weight. There are a dozen or more models of airships, any one of which could probably be made to fly, if they had the power to drive them.

Some Queer Bills.

A close examination of all the bills which became laws through the last legislature would probably reveal several little points that were not expected at the time the bills were voted for, and would reveal the absence of still other things that were expected. The peculiar character of a large portion of such legislation and the manner of putting it through will easily account for such disappointments. A charter for the town of Dayton, Yamhill county, went through, carrying a provision allowing women to vote, simply because the bill was a lengthy one and never read, while a short amendment to the McMinnville charter for that purpose only was declared unconstitutional in the house and killed. No telling what endless litigation may be caused by the Dayton proviso. An amendment to the charter of The Dalles carries with it the authority to issue non-taxable bridge bonds for the purpose of spanning the Columbia river at that point, and it is doubtful if the feature would have succeeded in getting through had it been noticed.

Another disappointing bill, when its features are fully understood, will be the insurance taxing bill. Most newspapers and its verbal advocates seemed to think and convey the idea that the new bill would raise a large amount of revenue to go into the general fund of the state and help to lessen the taxes; that it would realize a big sum from the foreign insurance companies, much to the advantage of Oregon generally. Well, it is a good deal of a soap bubble. The change from the old law is very slight, so far as aggregate amount is concerned, and not one dollar of the sums collected will go into the general fund. The provision of the old law remains which places it in the permanent school fund. The total amount collected the past two years from insurance tax was $5,812 71; the new law doubles the rate, hence, should the business keep up, the total amount for the current biennial period would be $11,625.42.—Salem Statesman.

This Beats Salem.

Dave Beveridge, the well known North Powder citizen, was a visitor in La Grande Tuesday evening. Mr. Beveridge recently disposed of, by raffle, what was perhaps the largest specimen of a four-legged hog ever produced in Eastern Oregon. Howard Campbell, the North Powder farmer, gave the hog to Mr. Beveridge when it was a pig, and the animal was just two years old on New Year's day. In the raffle Turner Randall was the winner of this mammoth porker, which weighed exactly 700 pounds, and dressed 656 pounds. The hams weighed 56 pounds apiece.—La Grande Chronicle.

HQDS THIRD REGT. INFANTRY, OREGON NAT'L GUARD, THE DALLES, Or., Mar. 19 '95.

ORDERS, No. 3. I. Companies A, B, D, G, F and I will assemble at their respective armories, fully uniformed, armed and equipped, for quarterly inspection by Colonel Thompson at the dates and times as below stated:

- Company D at Hood River, Oregon, on March 25, 1895, at 7:30 p. m.
- Company G at The Dalles, Oregon, on Tuesday, March 26, 1895, at 8 p. m.
- Company F at Baker City, Oregon, on Wednesday, March 27, 1895, at 8 p. m.
- Company I at Joseph, Oregon, on Saturday, March 30, 1895, at 7:30 p. m.
- Company B at Weston, Oregon, on Tuesday, April 2, 1895, at 6 p. m.
- Company A at Wasco, Oregon, on Wednesday, April 3, 1895, at 7:30 p. m.

II. The Field, Staff, Non-Commissioned Staff and Hospital Corps, will report at the armory of G Company, The Dalles, Oregon, on Tuesday, March 26, 1895, at 8 p. m. except as hereinafter stated:

Major W. S. Bowers will report at the armory of F Company at Baker City, Oregon, on Wednesday, March 27, 1895, at 8 p. m.

Lieut. A. S. Blowers, R. C. of S., and Lieut. F. C. Brosius, Asst. Surgeon, will report at the armory of D Company, at Hood River, Oregon, March 25, 1895, at 7:30 p. m.

III. All state and United States property in the possession of company commanders or other officers, will be presented on the respective dates of inspection, at the respective armories, and complete and regular schedules showing the exact condition of the same, will be prepared for the inspecting officer.

IV. It is a matter of extreme necessity to have every officer and man present at this inspection. The regulations regarding absentees must be strictly complied with, and no excuses for absence will be accepted unless on account of sickness, which excuse must be in writing and accompanied by satisfactory proof of such sickness.

V. Company commanders will be held strictly accountable for the appearance of the men of their respective commands and the condition of their equipments and of all state and United States property in their charge.

VI. Muster rolls, property statements and financial returns will be prepared in duplicate up to and including the date of inspection.

VII. Adolph Dietrich has been appointed regimental hospital steward with rank of sergeant, to rank as such from March 14, 1895. He will be respected and obeyed accordingly. Commissary of Subsistence Sergeant S. A. Byrne has been honorably discharged from the service of the estate.

By order of COL. G. T. THOMPSON, H. H. RIDDELL, Adjutant. Blanck Killed. Thomas Blanck, the desperado who broke out of the jail at Seattle a few days ago, is dead. Since the break officers have been looking for him and those who escaped with him. A dispatch from Seattle gives the following account of his killing: "This afternoon a report came to Kent that Blanck was penned in near Orilla. As soon as the news was heard a large number of men started for the place. Fortune had it that Bob Crow and John

Shepich, who carried Winchester, started up the Northern Pacific railroad track. When they were about a mile north of Kent, they saw a man coming toward them down the track. They had no idea when they saw the man approaching that they were going to meet the desperado, and got within 10 feet of him before the real danger was apparent. The stranger walked along without saying a word, and finally Crow and Shepich called to him: "Throw up your hands, there!"

"Their commands fell on deaf ears, for the man, without further delay, drew a Colt's 38-caliber fire-shot revolver from his pocket and opened fire. Whang! bang! rang out the shots from his revolver, and still the deputies were unharmed. Then the men with the Winchester commenced pumping bullets into their antagonist. It was a regular fusillade, and not until the desperado had emptied his revolver of all its shots, wounded Shepich and been bored through and through was the battle over, and the desperado lay on the track, lifeless. Shepich and Crow had killed the Jesse James of the Pacific Northwest, Thomas Blanck, alias Frank Hamilton."

Blanck's body was brought to this city tonight, and when the train containing it arrived at the station several thousand people were present. It was with great difficulty that the crowd was driven away in order that the body could be placed in the deadwagon and conveyed to an undertaker's. The coroner and several other physicians made an examination of the body and found that it had been riddled with bullets. Three shots in the back, within a radius of four inches, had produced death, but there were four others in the body, two of which were in his right arm, one in his ear, and the other in his neck. Inside of his coat and almost directly over his heart the desperado had several thicknesses of heavy blanket, in order to protect himself from the bullets of his pursuers.

Our Population.

The Oregonian estimates the population of Portland at 97,000, and bases its estimate on the number of school children. It multiplies the number of children of school age by 5, and multiplies the average number attending by 12. By each of these calculations the aggregate amounts to practically the same. That paper also gives statistics from several cities to prove the correctness of the basis, and adds that the estimates for a hundred cities made on this basis give almost the exact number of inhabitants as shown by the census.

If this rule is correct, as it seems to be, then The Dalles has a population of 6000, as by the first calculation there would be 6000 and by the other 6336. While the population of this city has generally been placed at 3500 to 4000, and seldom at the latter figure, we have always contended that the estimate was not large enough. The vote shows this also, for it will easily run to 1000, though generally within the city limits proper, not more than 900 votes are polled. If Portland has 97,000 it is safe to say that we have 6,000, or as a small calculation will show, we are with Portland at a ratio of 16 to 1.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs. J. H. Wood returned to University Park today.

Miss Maud Shulthis of Pendleton is the guest of the Misses Story.

Mr. Douthett will leave for Prineville in the morning. He has spent several days with friends here, and may possibly make this his home in the near future.

Mr. Dan Butler, who has been spending the winter at Dufur is in the city. He will probably go up to Baker City in a few weeks, as he has some good prospects he wants to develop.

Mr. John Byrne, formerly with Maier & Benton, is again in the city, where he expects to enter into business.

Mr. E. Y. Judd of Pendleton, who has been spending the winter in Europe and the Holy Land, arrived here last night.

Mr. Henry Blackman arrived from Heppner yesterday evening, and went on to Portland last night. Mr. W. H. Yarborough, who is connected with the revenue department, accompanied him.

Sweet Charity.

"Nevada; or, The Lost Mine" will be presented at the opera house next Wednesday night by The Dalles Dramatic Club. This play is a good one, and the club has some exceptionally fine talent. That the house will be crowded is a foregone conclusion, and that those who attend will spend a pleasant evening is equally certain. The proceeds will be divided among the charitable societies of the city.

The remains of an Indian's body were found along the track east of Pendleton Saturday evening. The victim was evidently asleep on the railroad track and run over by a freight. A whisky bottle lay by his side, a criterion by which to judge the propensity of the man before his death and the cause for the fatality.

When my little girl was one month old, she had a scab form on her face. It kept spreading until she was completely covered from head to foot. Then she had boils. She had forty on her head at one time, and more on her body. When six months old she did not weigh seven pounds, a pound and a half less than at birth. Then her skin started to dry up and got so bad she could not shut her eyes to sleep, but lay with them half open. About this time, I started using the CUTICURA REMEDY, and in one month she was completely cured. The doctor and drug bills were over one hundred dollars, the CUTICURA bill was not more than few dollars. My child is now strong, healthy, and large as any child of her age (see photo), and it is all owing to CUTICURA. Yours with a Mother's Blessing, Mrs. GEO. H. TUCKER, Jr., 632 Walker St., Milwaukee, Wis.
