PIONEER'S RECOLLECTION.

The following was written by D. J. Schnebly, in early days editor of the Oregon Spectator—Oregon's first newspaper—published at Oregon City. Mr. Schnebly, now advanced in years, publishes a weekly paper at Ellensburg, Wash. The first newspaper established in Oregon was the Oregon Spectator in 1845. The place of publication was Oregon City. It was established by the missionaries of Oregon, which embraced all the territory from the British line, the 49 parallel, and was bounded on the east by the Rocky mountains and on the south by the California line. The paper was published for five years, and had in that time four or five editions. Hon. Robert Moore of Linn City purchased the plant with its good will in the fall of 1840. He secured the services of Rev. Wilson Blaine as editor for one year. At the close of Mr. Blaine's year the editor of this paper took charge of the Spectator for Mr. Moore for a year, at the close of which it was purchased by the editor.

In those days the news of the world was received twice a year; it was brought by the way of Horn in sailing vessels. There was no plagiarism, no copying of editorials without proper credit. The paper had to be made up wholly of local happenings and imaginings to the manor born.

In the winter of 1850 a semi-monthly mail was established between San Francisco and Portland. It was a great treat to get a mail every two weeks, instead of twice a year, as formerly. To the editor it was an especial accommodation.

In the fall of 1850 the Western Star was established at Milwaukie, by the enterprising Lot Whitcomb. The paper was published there for nearly a year, the work being done by John Waterman and W. D. Carter. Milwaukie was nearly the size of Portland, which contained 300 inhabitants. Portland was a small place then, but being at the head of ship navigation it grew rapidly; and in the winter of 1850 the Oregonian was established by some enterprising citizens of the village—Stephen Coffin, John Couch, Lonsdale and others. T. J. Dyer was editor. Henry L. Pitcock was not then a citizen of Oregon, but arrived in the early '50s, and soon after became the devil in the office. Thus the great paper of the Northwest had its early beginning. But it enjoyed the improved mail facilities almost, if not quite, from the advent.

The Oregon Statesman was the next in the order of birth at Oregon City, and it was conducted by Ashley Bush for Samuel R. Thurston, the first delegate elected by Oregon to represent the territory at Washington. The paper was purchased by Thurston to aid in securing his re-election as delegate. But unfortunately he died on his return, somewhere between the Isthmus of Panama and San Francisco. He was an indefatigable worker and did Oregon great service at Washington. He was the author of the donation law and had a new mail route established between Oregon and California, and had the first land office established at Oregon City.

The first census in Oregon was taken by Joe Meek, marshal of the territory of Oregon, whose deputy, Daniel O'Neill, did the most of the work. The deputy did good service for the Spectator during his ride over the country. We were indebted to our friend Dan for his Argus-eyed reports. The marshal had a large extent of country to ride over, and the country was sparsely settled in 1851.

In those early days the young men when they went sparring had to carry their blankets with them. The proverbial "spare bed" was not often found in the residence of the dulcinea's home. The beau in going to and from his sweetheart's abode looked very like a traveling man, but as it was the custom of the country it was little thought of, and the sweetheart had no difficulty in divining the visitor's thoughts.

Governor Lord is probably right in the theory on which he bases his appointments, that is that all the talent and brains of the republican party that are not in Multnomah county are concentrated in Marion; but we respectfully suggest that all the republican votes do not come from these counties. The governor wants to brighten up on his geography, and he wants to remember also that as far as Multnomah county is concerned, Governor Lord is dead politically. It was no use for him.

AN APOLOGY.

In commenting upon the report that the government official in charge of the work at the Cascades would recommend that the bulkhead be not removed until the walls of the canal were raised to the height of the flood of 1894, we used language concerning those officers which was entirely out of place, and of which we are heartily ashamed. Whatever may, or may not be reported or done in the premises, we realize the fact that the officers of the United States engineer department are highly educated and conscientious gentlemen. We are also cognizant of the fact that they have life positions, and consequently can have no personal interest in prolonging the work at the locks, since upon its completion they would probably be given some other station that would probably be much more pleasant.

We make this apology to them because we were in the wrong, and it is due both to them, and to ourself.

COMMISSIONS ARE LEGAL.

Attorney-General Idleman has submitted his opinion on the status of the state commissions. He decides that the railroad and other commissioners are legally entitled to hold their offices until the legislature meets again. We are now, and have always been, opposed to the system of commissions, and we have been more outspoken against the railroad commission than any or all the others. At the same time, we had no fault to find with the composition of that commission. It was the commission, and not the members thereof, that we objected to. As the commission is to continue to exist, we congratulate the members thereof on their good fortune. It is not everyone in these degenerate days that can have a sinecure and a special car at hand all the time; but the board of railroad commissioners have both.

The dispatches recently stated that Governor McKinley had said that if the republican party put a free silver plank in its platform that he would not only not accept the nomination for the presidency, but that he would leave his party. It is not at all likely that Governor McKinley said anything of the kind, or that he said anything at all on the subject that he could avoid. Governor McKinley is a politician, and does not take the trouble to express an opinion that will only serve to make him enemies. He is like Reed or Allison, or any other politician, and would take the nomination for president no matter what the platform contained. Mr. McKinley would like to climb into the presidential chair, and he will not be particular as to the kind of stepladder offered him.

The train robbers are playing in hard luck recently, and the business will soon fall into decay if something is not done to put the highwaymen on better footing. The last two hold-ups have been severely fatal. In the one, out of six bold, bad men who held up the train, only three escaped, the others being pumped full of lead and remaining on the ground to await the action of the coroner. In the other there were but two robbers, and one of them was left in the car, the other getting away without any plunder. One-half of the two parties were killed, and this puts the calling among those classed as dangerous. If the record is kept up the business will soon be abandoned.

The Cuban revolution at present in progress may prove to be of immense importance before it is finally terminated. Spain's affairs at home are seriously muddled; so seriously as to interfere with her handling Cuban affairs, as firmly as she should. Cuban revolutions are of such common occurrence as to no longer cause much comment in this country; but with the present one things are different, for the reason that it is quite possible that before many months the United States flag may be floating over the island. It is only a question of time, and it would not prove very startling if the matter should be settled within the next year.

Manitoba is disturbed from center to circumference over the school question. The whole fight is against a law passed by the dominion government, under which the school system of Manitoba was interfered with. The system was copied after ours, being non-sectarian, but under the new law the money would have to be divided and part of it given to the Catholic schools. The feeling runs high, and the Manitobans swear they will rebel rather than submit.

Joaquin Miller comes back from Hawaii with a tale of torture and inquisition. Miller, it must be remembered, is a poet, and consequently is allowed considerable license. His story is good until another is told, but we fancy that it oversteps the bounds of its acknowledged license, and partakes of the characteristics of lousiness. Joaquin was always an aggressive fellow—in rhyme.

The wheat outlook brightens daily. Reports from Argentine are not indicative of a good crop, while the yield in the United States promises to be less than usual. From present indications wheat ought to and will bring 50 cents per bushel this fall, unless the crop conditions elsewhere improve wonderfully.

Since Lexow started his famous examination into municipal affairs in New York, the cold moral wave that has swept over the other cities of this country is phenomenal. It struck Portland awful hard; so hard that it broke and went sluicing back to the wholeness from which it came. It did no good; but then it did but little harm.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our regular correspondent. WASHINGTON, March 29, 1895.

If Mr. Cleveland was hunting for something to do to further offend the silver democrats he certainly found it when he decided that he would not carry out the Wolcott amendment, providing for the appointment of three commissioners by the president to act with those named by congress as representatives of the United States at any international monetary conference in which this government might be invited to participate. First the friends of Mr. Cleveland gave it out that his reason for refusing to appoint the commissioners was that it was specifically stated in the act authorizing their appointment that they were only to take part in a conference called to consider an international ratio and the free coinage of silver, and that no such conference was contemplated by Germany, but later the excuse was amended by saying that Mr. Cleveland had private information to the effect that Germany would not invite the holding of the conference, anyway. It is a fact very well known in Washington that Mr. Cleveland has resented from the first the action of congress in naming two-thirds of the commission, thus putting it out of his power to make a majority of it anti-silver; therefore nobody was much surprised at his refusal to complete it. If he really knew that no conference would be held he would have appointed the commissioners and not have shown his hand. It is contended by some that if a conference is held the six commissioners named by congress can participate regardless of Mr. Cleveland's wishes, as $100,000 was appropriated by congress to pay their expenses, but that is doubtful. If an invitation to take part in a monetary conference is extended to the United States by Germany or any other foreign country it is fair to assume that a commission signed by the president would be the only credentials which would be recognized.

It is the general impression here that Mr. Thurston, the Hawaiian minister, scored at Secretary Gresham's expense when he announced, in advance of any information from his government, his immediate departure for Hawaii. Those who are familiar with the Hawaiian government appear to think it probable that Mr. Thurston and Mr. Hatch, the present Hawaiian minister of foreign affairs, may exchange places. If they do Mr. Thurston would not be human if he did not take advantage of the opportunities that would surely come to him to worry Secretary Gresham. His first step in that direction would most likely be to ask for the recall of Minister Willis.

Ex-Gov. Campbell, of Ohio, who has been classed as a Cleveland man, and who was certainly a Cleveland man at the Chicago convention of '92, seems to have joined hands with the anti's. He was in Washington this week hobnobbing with Senators Gorman, Brice and other anti-Cleveland men, and it is said that these men are laying wires to make Mr. Cleveland's hope of again becoming the candidate of the democrats dissolve into one of ex-Senator Ingalls' "iridescent dreams."

There has probably never before been as many changes announced or foreshadowed in the short space of a single week in the diplomatic corps at Washington. Without counting the retirement of Minister Thurston there are the following changes: The Spanish minister, who has been notified of the appointment of his successor; the German ambassador, who has received the same information; ditto the Argentine minister and the Brazilian minister has been notified of his appointment to the bench of the supreme court of Brazil, which of course means a new Brazilian minister here.

The application of Debs for a writ of habeas corpus was this week argued before the U. S. Supreme court, Attorney General Olney taking the negative and Mr. C. S. Darrow, of Chicago, the affirmative. No decision is expected for at least a month, owing to the number of important cases upon which arguments have been made but no decisions handed down. Somehow the idea seems to be general that the application of Debs will be denied.

Nothing new has this week been made public concerning the various diplomatic muddles, but there has been a communication received from Spain, and it is said in administration circles to have been satisfactory as far as it went, but from what can be learned it did not go very far. The cabinet is said to be divided on the question of making the eagle do a little screaming at England on behalf of Nicaragua and Venezuela and incidentally of the democratic party, and the screaming has not been done, although there is reason enough for it to be done.

Mitchell Notes.

Today as been pleasant and warm, although clouds hung heavy and threatening. Tonight is a little cooler than the day, and still the indications are for a storm. The past week has been very changeable and disagreeable, no two days bearing the same temperature. The range has been from cold to warm, and storms of every conceivable nature. Last Tuesday night the mercury fell four degrees lower than at any time last winter. There has been some rain, and a great deal more is needed. Complaint everywhere is that the ground is too dry for plowing, and many places must be left uncultivated unless there is enough falling weather to wet the ground. But with all the dryness, grass is looking well and there is plenty to support stock.

Sheep are in excellent condition for a time of the year. There has been a sheep buyer in this county, but I have not heard of any offers or any sales. Cattle have been selling at $10 and $12 for yearlings and $14 and $15 for 2-year-olds.

R. E. Miesler is getting lumber on the ground to build a large store in lower town, also a dwelling.

San Brennen is building a small dwelling in lower town.

Married—March 13th, John Seigfort and Miss Lena Campbell. Many happy wishes go to them.

E. E. Allen has gone to John Day, and will bring his two eldest daughters home. They have been at that place going to school this winter.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by all druggists, 75c.

Valuable Papers of the Northwest Territory Destroyed.

REGINA, N. W. T., April 1.—The courthouse building, containing all the records of the northwest Territory, was burned last night with valuable government papers. The judges library cannot be replaced. The loss on the building is $30,000.

A severe rheumatic pain in the left shoulder had troubled Mr. J. H. Loper, a well known druggist of Des Moines, Iowa, for six months. At times the pain was so severe that he could not lift anything. With all he could do he could not get rid of it until he applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm. "I only made three applications of it," he says, "and have since been free from all pain." He now recommends it to persons similarly afflicted. It is for sale by Blakely & Houghton Druggists.

Count Ito's Report.

YOKOHAMA, April 1.—Colonel Ito's official report of the capture of the Pescadore islands says: "Making castle was not taken until two engagements were fought. The Chinese lost three killed and sixty prisoners. The Japanese lost one killed and sixteen wounded."

PROGRESS.

People who get the greatest degree of comfort and real enjoyment out of life are those who make the most out of their opportunities. Quick perception and good judgment, lead such promptly to adopt and make use of those refined and improved products of modern inventive genius which best serve the needs of their physical being. Accordingly, the most intelligent and progressive people are found to employ the most refined and perfect laxative to regulate and tone up the stomach, liver and bowels, when in need of such an agent—hence the great popularity of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. These are made from the purest, most refined and concentrated vegetable extracts, and from forty-two to forty-four are contained in each vial, which is sold at the same price as the cheaper made and more ordinary pills found in the market. In curative virtue, there is no comparison to be made between them and the ordinary pills, as any one may easily learn by sending for a free sample, (four to seven doses) of the Pellets, which will be sent on receipt of name and address on a postal card. ONCE USED THEY ARE ALWAYS IN FAVOR.

The Pellets cure biliousness, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, constiveness, or constipation, sour stomach, loss of appetite, coated tongue, indigestion, or dyspepsia, windy belchings, "heart-burn," pain and distress after eating, and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. Put up in glass vials, therefore always fresh and reliable. One little "Pellet" is a laxative, two are mildly cathartic. As a "dinner pill," to promote digestion, take one each day after dinner. To relieve distress from over-eating, they are unequalled. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules; any child will readily take them. Accept no substitute that may be recommended to be "just as good." It may be better for the doctor, because of giving him a better profit, but he is not the one who needs help. Address for free sample, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Possibilities

For Making a Fortune Lost!

REGAINED. There are many people who spend the last half of their lives weighed down under the burden of disease. With all the doctors and opportunities for travel and pleasure are lost; possibilities for making a fortune in business are thrown away. They stand passively by and see others, without better natural abilities or advantages, carry off the prizes in life, having won them because they tried for them.

Half of success in life, is in daring to try. Are you a little nervous? Nervousness is spreading and is followed by sleeplessness, exhaustion, hysteria, mental depression.

Nervous prostration is followed by nervous debility, nervous debility left alone, soon becomes paresis, (softening of the brain) a complete breaking down of the system.

There are troubles in life, enough to burden us down, that are unavoidable; without disease; especially, when a little care, a little medicine, and you are rid of it.

Albert Denno, 17 Engweg Ave., Rutland, Vt., under date of April 2, 1895, writes: "Dr. Miles' Nervine is a wonderful medicine, my wife has taken it after having had Grippe and it has helped her very much when everything else had failed. It is a great relief. Mrs. Anna Penser, wife of the proprietor of the North Side Brush Works, 633 3rd St., Milwaukee, Wis., writes: "I had been suffering for years from headaches, neuralgia, sleeplessness and a general nervous prostration, unfitting me for social and household duties and at times was completely prostrated with pain. I tried several physicians and many remedies, but received no benefit. I have since used Dr. Miles' Nervine, when I found almost immediate relief and in a brief time have become quite my former self. I have since recommended the Nervine to others who have used it with the same good results."

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold on a positive guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. All druggists sell it in 4 bottles for $6, or it will be sent prepaid on receipt of the money by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.
