It is reported that a number of bogus dollars, of 1879 date, are being circulated about town. They are a good imitation of the genuine coin but considerably lacking in weight, and the milling and lettering are said to be stamped a little sharper than is done in Uncle Sam's dollar factories.—Pendleton Tribune.

A Terrific Storm.

The worst wind storm ever experienced in this county struck Condon Monday evening about 3 o'clock. Dangerous heavy black clouds were seen approaching from the southwest about 3 o'clock, and almost in less time than it takes to bat an eye, a fearful tornado struck the town with all the fury of a million demons.

But within five minutes from the time it began the worst of it was over, and then the work of destruction could be seen. Our beautiful new Congregational church was completely wrecked, being tilted over on one side, and can never be used again until it is torn down and rebuilt.

Death of Rev. W. L. MacEwan.

We clip the following notice of the death of Rev. W. L. MacEwan from the Oregonian of this morning. The dispatch announcing his death was received by Mr. W. H. Moody this morning, and as the news of the death spread there were universal expressions of sorrow.

"Rev. W. L. MacEwan, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church, died last evening at his home, 50 Twentieth street, of pneumonia, after an illness of five days. His death was quite unexpected, for, although he was very sick, his physicians at 6 o'clock last evening thought that he was improving. He leaves a widow and three minor children. Deceased was one of the best known Episcopal clergymen in the Northwest. He was a native of Oregon, having been born at Clatsop, 43 years ago. His father, R. S. MacEwan, crossed the plains in 1851, and settled in Clatsop county, where he still resides.

"Rev. Mr. MacEwan was educated in California and the East, after graduating from Bishop Scott Academy. After his ordination, he commenced work in The Dalles, where he remained for eight years, afterward removing to Walla Walla, where he remained for one year. When St. Mark's parish was formed, eight years ago, he was called to take charge of the little chapel, and so successful was he in his pastorate that it is today one of the best known churches in the city.

"No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral, owing to the absence from the city of Bishop Morris, who was a very close friend of the deceased, and who will doubtless desire to look after the matter. Bishop Morris is expected home today."

E. H. Clarke Brings Encouraging News From San Francisco.

When interviewed on the wool situation this morning, E. H. Clarke the efficient representative of the large wool house, Christy & Wise, responded with encouraging statements which will make good reading for sheep owners and for anyone else. Said Mr. Clarke:

"Our last advices from London are that wools are looking up. Some grades in recent sales have advanced one cent per pound. The inquiry for such wools as are raised here mostly, X and XX, is marked and it is almost as good as other grades. I would say that the demand is good, improving, and that the wool business together with other lines of commercial activity, is showing the signs of a marked revival.

"All California," remarked Mr. Clarke, is feeling jubilant over the prospect of having a competing road and the new company is being pushed by capitalists and by public sentiment. In forty days work commences at Stockton, which is to be the present northern terminus. Iron has been bought and contracts are now being put out and all looks encouraging for the new road. It will run at first from Stockton to Bakersfield, where it connects with the Santa Fe system.

"Only a hot nother can now prevent an immense wheat crop from being harvested, and California wine merchants are feeling good over recent big sales and a four cent per gallon advance for California wines."

Mr. Clarke and the boys are here for the summer.—East Oregonian.

Concerning Kissing.

The reason kissing is so pleasant, says an oculatory expert of scientific tendencies, is because the teeth, jaw bones and lips are full of nerves, and when the lips of persons meet an electric current is generated.—Yonkers Gazette.

Yes, and it is so confounded cheap. You don't have to have a dynamo machine, nor a battery in the house nor a call box, nor a button to touch to ring up the central office, and there is no patent on it, and the poorest persons in the world can enjoy the electric current better than the millionaire, and it never gets out of order.

A Slight Accident.

The local was delayed this afternoon for a few moments by an accident just the other side of Mill creek and near the whistling post. Mr. Ganger, an old gentleman, had undertaken to cross the track just ahead of the train, but the horse, instead of following the road, turned up the railroad track towards town. Mr. Ganger tried to pull the stubborn beast to one side, but did not succeed until the engine was upon him. The engineer had put on the air and reversed his engine, but still it struck the cart with considerable force, turning the whole outfit into the ditch.
